Soviet Offers U.S. Air Base, Paris Hears

Proposal Declared Part of Program Looking to Recognition.

Naval Men Say Siberian Site Would Be Big Aid in Far East.

Paris, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Soviet authorities have intimated to the United States their willingness to permit America to establish an air base on Soviety territory in the Far East, the United Press learned on reliable authority today.

The air base offer was understood to be part of Moscow's willingness to cooperate with Washington if the United States recognizes the Soviety regime.

Devious Channels Used.

The United Press learned the suggestion was put forward through such devious channels that its denial would be a simple matter difficult to disprove. The offer, however, was reliably stated to have included possible locations for the air base, either on the Siberian mainland or on one of the Soviet islands off their maritime province in the Pacific north of Japan.

So far as could be learned here, neither the Department of State nor any other branch of the Government at Washington has responded to this "private" Moscow suggestion, although experts here seemed convinced that United States naval authorities would be interested in such a proposal.

Japanese Objection Seen.

Naval men pointed out that an aerial base in Siberia would substantially strengthen the power of the United States on that side of the Pacific and reinforce the United States fleet in Far Eastern waters.

Objections by Japan, it was admitted, might cause such a project to be delayed indefinitely.

Steamer, Schooner Crash Off Bay State

Crew of Fishing Craft Refuses to Leave; Destroyer on Way.

Boston, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—The steamer Horda was in collision tonight in a dense fog with a schooner believed to be the Shirley M. Clattenburg, a Gloucester fisherman, 150 miles east of Chatham.

Wireless messages picked up from the Horda, which was bound from Port Alfred, Ont., to Philadelphia, reported the schooner's name as the Girly M. Battenburg, but available shipping records list no such vessel.

Last reports from the Horda, which said she was standing by, were that the schooner was leaking badly but that her crew of ten refused to leave. The destroyer Wainwright was dispatched to the aid of the schooner and was expected to reach the vessel early tomorrow morning.

Trial in Kansas City Killings Is Postponed

Kansas City, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—The preliminary hearing of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farmer, of Joplin, Mo., on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Union Station Plaza killings here, was continued until September 1 at the request of the Federal Government.

A first-degree murder charge also has been placed against Farmer and his wife. Others held in connection with the case are Mrs. Frank Nash, widow of the convict slain with four officers; Louis Stacci, arrested recently in Chicago, and Harvey Bailey, under arrest in Texas.

Treasure Ship's Safe Attached at Norfolk

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—A rusty safe, salvaged from the treasure ship Merida after lying at the bottom of the sea for 22 years, was attached today at the customs house here.

The safe is believed to contain the crown jewels, valued at $1,000,000, of the fallen Mexican emperor Maxmillian. After being reclaimed, the safe was brought here three weeks ago aboard the salvage tug Salvor. The action was instituted by Capt. John Hall and Klass Everts, who lost out in their race with Capt. H. L. Bowdoin, of the Salvor, to get the treasure.

Weather Unfavorable For Lindbergh Flight

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, awaiting improved conditions for his proposed flight here from Angmagsalik, Greenland, was informed today that the weather in this vicinity continued unfavorable.

There was fog and constant rain through the day.

Dr. Frederick Starr Dies in Tokyo Hospital

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Bronchial pneumonia today caused the death of Dr. Frederick Starr, American anthropologist, of Seattle, Wash., at St. Luke's Hospital here. He was 74 years old.

Nazi Spies Hit

Vienna Newspaper Charges German Legation Aids Conspiracy.

Vienna, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—The semiofficial Reichspost declared today in a special edition, which carried the headline "Conspiracy Against Austria," that the German Legation in Vienna has been assisting in illegal activities on the part of Austrian Nazis.

The legation, the paper said, has been forwarding the mail of Austrian Nazis to Nazi quarters in Berlin by means of an "illegal legation courier service."

The paper also published what it declared was correspondence between German Nazi headquarters and the followers of the movement in Austria. These letters were said to have been confiscated in recent raids on secret Nazi quarters in Vienna.

Banks' Robber Held With 10 In Slaying of 5

Bailey, Noted Thug, Also Linked to Kidnaping of Oil Magnate.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Eleven persons—headed by the notorious Harvey J. Bailey—were held tonight in the Federal Government's investigation of two major crimes of the year, the "machine gun massacre" of five men at the Kansas City Union Station and the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man.

Department of Justice agents moved swiftly about Paradise, Tex., Denver and St. Paul, to strike a major blow at racketeering.

"Well, it looks just too bad for me, doesn't it?" commented Bailey, trapped as he slept on a cot before dawn Saturday at a farm near Paradise, where officers said Urschel was held by his abductors.

Bank Robber Seized.

Bailey, 48-year-old bank robber, and fugitive from the Kansas Penitentiary, sought as the leader of the men who killed Frank Nash, convict, and four officers on the Kansas City Plaza, June 17, was one of six persons arrested at the farm.

Federal operatives said they found on his person marked money which was paid for the ransom of Urschel.

Albert L. Bates, 39, former convict arrested in Denver, was identified by Department of Justice agents as George Bates, a suspect in the Urschel kidnaping.

Four men were held in St. Paul on orders of Werner Hanni, chief of the United States Bureau of Investigation, who said they would be charged with conspiracy in the Urschel abduction. Hanni said the four were linked with the passing of part of the money paid for release of the wealthy oil operator.

Heads of Firms Held.

Those held were Sam J. Kronick, head of a barber supply concern; Charles Wolk, transfer company official; William Nelson, truck driver, all of Minneapolis, and Sam Kozberg, official of a St. Paul drug concern.

Fingerprints of the millionaire Oklahoman were found on a bed, a bench and on a water glass in a house on the farm, in which officials said Urschel was held prisoner until ransomed by his family.

Fast, Clever Work Saves Man in Sea

San Francisco, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—How the fast liner Monterey stopped in midocean to rescue one of her crew who fell overboard and resumed its run from Honolulu to Los Angeles with a delay of only 22 minutes was told here today by ship's officers.

Louis "Ski" Gos is the man. Working as seaman outside the rails on the boat's deck, he fell 75 feet to the water, when a line gave way. Keeping his head, he swam safely away from the suction which might have pulled him into the propellers, stripped off his clothes and kept afloat until picked up.

Gos, 27, was born and reared in Baltimore. He has a lame back and a lump behind one ear to remind him of his experience.

$75,000,000 U. S. Bills Oversubscribed 4 Times

(United Press.)

The Treasury Department's offer of $75,000,000 in 91-day Treasury bills dated August 16 has been oversubscribed nearly four times and accepted bids are at an average price of 99.933, making an average rate of .26 per cent per annum on a bank discount basis, Acting Secretary of Treasury Acheson announced last night.

Total applications for the bills amounted to $281,341,000, of which $75,100,000 was accepted.

Philadelphia Welcomes Post on Good Will Tour

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Cheers, ticker tape and official greetings from the mayor constituted Wiley Post's welcome today in Philadelphia, first halting place of his transcontinental flight of good will.

The Oklahoman set his famous ship, Winnie Mae, down at Camden (N. J.) Central Airport during the forenoon, spent several hours in a round of welcome at Philadelphia, and then left for Altoona, where he scheduled an overnight stop.

NRA, Relief Unity Sought By Roosevelt

President Moves to Draw U. S. Agencies Into Closer Relation.

Reports Persist Dynamic Administrator Is to Be Replaced.

President Roosevelt yesterday moved to draw into closer relation the workings of the independent but none the less related Federal recovery agencies.

The President is convinced that success of his recovery and relief program must depend on coordination of every available Federal and State agency. So far as Federal agencies are concerned he intends they shall dovetail in the interest of efficiency.

President Roosevelt is expected to devote his attention between now and his next departure from the National Capital primarily to the recovery and relief problem. He conferred at the White House yesterday with Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and with Harry L. Hopkins, relief head.

Johnson Tells of Work.

Johnson gave a first-hand report of accomplishments and difficulties of the recovery administration and Hopkins outlined prospective relief demands and plans for meeting the situation.

Connection between recovery administration results and the prospective demands on the relief agency was obvious, despite statements designed to indicate glowing success of the recovery program.

Millions of persons who have been idle have been or will be returned to employment by fall, Johnson told the President. Hours of work have been reduced in many industries and the minimum wage has been raised. The recovery administration is speeding its work without regard to the hours of work required, and vast progress has been made.

The administration is bending every effort to bring industries under wings of the Blue Eagle. The time element is of great importance. One of the greatest problems is to boost wages to supply purchasing power to meet rapidly increasing purchasing power.

Boom Prices Foreseen.

Despite collapse of stock and some commodity exchange prices there seems to be no doubt the country is headed toward boom prices, it was declared. The effort now is to boost purchasing power and active buying to a point sufficient to sustain the incipient boom. These are some of the things Gen. Johnson is supposed to have pointed to in outlining the situation to President Roosevelt.

Specific situations were said to have been taken up with the Chief

Sleeping Illness Takes Six Lives

37 Have Strange Malady in St. Louis; U. S. Aids to Check Spread.

St. Louis, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—The spread of a strange type of "sleeping sickness," which has taken six lives since it began July 23, tonight challenged the resources of city, State and Federal health officials.

Physicians have pronounced 37 patients at the isolation hospital as suffering from the disease, which they say is encephilitis of the epidemic type.

The disease first made its appearance in St. Louis County, particularly in the suburbs, and first cases originated in widely separated districts. The mode of transmission is unknown and physicians are inclined to doubt that it is contagious, as in only one case have they found two patients in a family.

The first symptoms were headaches, drowsiness and stiffness of the neck. As the malady progressed the patients went into a coma.

With the death of two more patients, State, Federal and St. Louis epidemiologists met late today to confer on methods in an effort to block the spread of the disease.

Prichtina Assassinated; Once Albanian Premier

Salonica, Greece, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Hassan Prichtina, former premier of Albania, was assassinated in the street here today.

His assailant, Hussein Tselio, an Albanian, fired seven shots. Vengeance was given as the reason. The man said a brother and friends, all Albanians, had been killed at Prichtina's instructions when in power.

Blasts Hamper Firemen Fighting $1,000 Blaze

Fire swept three tents at the National City Fair grounds, at Anacostia and Benning roads, last night, destroying bedding, supplies and equipment valued at $1,000.

Exploding gasoline and oil hampered efforts of firemen to extinguish the blaze. One hundred gallons of oil and 100 gallons of gasoline were destroyed.

'I'd Fire Johnson,' Says New Zealand Cabinet Chieftain

Prime Minister G. W. Forbes, of New Zealand, would have to fire Gen. Hugh S. Johnson if the Recovery Administrator were in Mr. Forbes' country.

In Washington last night on his way home with his advisers from the London Economic Conference, Mr. Forbes commented on Gen. Johnson's recent public affirmation of loyalty to the Democratic party thus:

"In my country, a man is first a New Zealander. Any reference to party affiliation on the part of a public official in the position of Gen. Johnson would compel his resignation. I should have to get rid of him. The people wouldn't stand for it."

Of college professors, Mr. Forbes said:

"We might call them together and ask them to advise us," he said, "but we keep them out of politics."

Ogburn Holds NRA Will Fail; Gives Up Job

Declares Consumers' Plight Forgotten; Rips Into Administration.

Charges that the National Recovery Administration is heading the Nation toward another depression "because it fails to adequately protect the consumers' interests" were made last night by Prof. William G. Ogburn in an exclusive interview with The Washington Post.

Ogburn, who resigned earlier in the day from the NRA consumers' advisory board, asserted the NRA is fostering practices which must transfer control of the economic system to the industries and pave the way for monopolies and price fixing by them, which will gouge consumers.

He also accused the NRA of establishing a gag rule against publicity, which would aid the public.

"Under the present set-up," he declared, "the only check on price-fixing and related practices is the economic crises which are certain to result unless the people are given a veto power over industry.

Cites Steel Code.

The proposed steel code and its provisions for price maintenance, he explained, is an example of what may be expected to follow. But he doubted if Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, would approve the price features, and asserted that if he did the Supreme Court would hold the code illegal.

"The industrialists are protected in the NRA because they are organized, and their organization gives weight and power to the NRA industrial advisory board headed by Gerard Swope, chairman of the General Electric Co.," he said. "Labor is protected because its organization gives power to the NRA labor advisory board headed by Leo Wollman.

"But the consumers' advisory board, which is supposed to protect the interests of the largest group of all—27,000,000 of the great American public—has no power because the public is not organized."

Declares Public Confused.

The consumers' board, he asserted, does not function because "it lacks the power of supporting organization to get things done" and because many of its members "have no idea of what it is all about."

"The board has had only one meeting since its organization," he said. "Lately, only five members have been in town. The job of directing the safeguarding of consumers' interests was delegated to me by the board and I tried to protect them. However, I had no power of organization behind me to achieve real results.

"To get results the board must have the ear of the people. It must have a voice in policies. Yet I had neither of these.

"During the first three weeks, censorship rules prevented me from

Mustardless Hot Dogs Hook 99 Weakfish

Ocean City, N. J., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Having a desire to continue fishing but finding their bait exhausted, vacationers on a week-end cruise decided to try hot dogs on their hooks, it was learned today.

The frankfurters netted 99 weakfish and 15 croakers in two hours without the use of mustard. The fishing party was headed by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Flohr, jr., of Philadelphia.

Spaniards Promised Protection in Cuba

Madrid, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Fernando de los Dios, minister of foreign affairs, said today he had received assurances from Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, Provisional President of Cuba, that Spanish merchants there would be protected.

Protests had been lodged by the Spanish Ambassador in Cuba concerning the damaging of Spanish property by mobs.

President's Son Visits Alhambra in Spain

Granada, Spain, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., son of the American President, today visited the Alhambra and other historic places here. He will leave for Seville tomorrow in continuation of his European vacation.

U. S. Recalls One Warship As Cuba Checks Disorders; New York Consulate Raided

Raiders Assault Envoy; Mud Is Splattered on Machado's Bust.

Shooting Threat By Youths Denied

Attache Refuses to File Criminal Charges Against Attackers.

New York, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—Half a hundred members of the ABC—secret Cuban revolutionary society—raided the Cuban consulate, near Battery Park, today, assaulted Acting Consul General Mario Del Pino, and carried off a mud-splattered bust of Gerardo Machado.

Senor Del Pino, who was struck in the jaw by one of the invaders, would not enter a complaint to the police and the group of young anti-Machado Cubans carted the bust in a truck to "Spanish Harlem" for a celebration.

A small group of youths—whose leader was Enrique D. Paez, member of the ABC— came to the consulate first, sought permission to remove the Machado bust. This was refused by Senor Del Pino, who said he would have to ask permission from Provisional President De Cespedes.

Return Fifty Strong.

The group left, but returned a few hours later, about 50 strong, and forced their way past police into the consulate.

The police report of the incident said the acting consul general was threatened with shooting unless he turned over the bust. This, Senor Del Pino denied later.

The consulate had, after the first visit, handed the Machado bust over to the superintendent of the building for safe-keeping. Informed of this, the raiders fumed around, one of them smashing Senor Del Pino in the jaw with his fist. Then they stalked downstairs, demanded the bust of the building superintendent, who gave it to them after a telephone conversation with the consulate.

Laugh at Revolutionists.

A large crowd had gathered outside the consulate building and laughed as the young revolutionists, cheering and singing, carried out the bust, set it on the sidewalk and splattered it with mud and soft fruit.

Then it was loaded onto the truck, in which were two framed portraits of the former Cuban president.

'Alfalfa Bill' Backs Tax in Vote Today

Oklahomans at Polls for Fourth Time; Cigarette Levy One Issue.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—For the fourth time during the administration of Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, Oklahomans will vote tomorrow on tax measures—this time on the question of whether the 3-cent per package cigarette tax and a bill to place control of county assessments in the State board of equalization—should be repealed.

The two measures are favored by the administration and Gov. Murray has taken the stump to urge their retention.

Opponents of the two measures and administration forces apparently are united in support of the third measure to be voted upon—a constitutional amendment to reduce the maximum ad valorem tax rate from 43.5 mills to 27

Three times Murray's income tax proposals have been defeated at the polls.

Tortured Couple Found Murdered

Scottsville, Ky., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Mr. and Mrs. James Donnell, aged couple who were tortured and robbed of $3,000 several months ago, were found murdered today in their home 15 miles from here.

The couple last was seen by friends yesterday. Due to the remoteness of the section, details could not be learned at once.

Last year, after the couple had been tied with piano wire and tortured until they revealed $3,000 hidden in a flour barrel, officers arrested three men in Terre Haute, Ind., who later were convicted and are now serving penitentiary terms. Officers recovered about $2,100 of the money.

Violation of NRA Laid To 20 Firms in Denver

Denver, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Names of 20 firms charged with violating the recovery code were sent today to Washington by Thomas J. Morrissey, United States district attorney.

Morrissey said the firms failed to reduce hours or raise wages, or both, after signing the recovery code.

Mob Sacks Cuban Newspaper Office

Mob sacks offices of Herald of Cuba in Havana shortly after news of Machado's "leave of absence." The rioters considered the newspaper a government organ, when it actually ceased to represent government opinion months ago.

Kansas Official Faces Charge In Bond Fraud

Governor Orders Prosecution of Treasurer in $1,000,000 Swindle.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Alf M. Lawson late today ordered the prosecution of Tom B. Boyd, State treasurer, as the result of prolonged investigations conducted by State and Federal officials into the $1,000,000 Kansas bond forgery scandal.

Boyd's "immediate resignation" was asked.

The State treasurer could not be reached for comment.

Lester Goodell, Shawnee County attorney, was directed to institute the prosecution.

Goodell said he would proceed under a statute relating to the handling of State funds, the exact charge to be made public later.

Boyd's office has been policed by National Guardsmen since the publication of a newspaper interview last week which quoted the treasurer as saying he had permitted Ronald Finney, Topeka and Emporia bond broker, already under arrest in connection with the case, to remove bonds valued at $150,000 from the treasury vaults. The bonds were taken to Chicago for disposition, the story quoted Boyd as saying.

Boyd said he had deposited $150,000 of State funds in the Eureka Bank at Finney's request, and Finney deposited a like amount of bonds with the State to secure the deposit. Finney then borrowed the money from the bank. He was permitted to remove the bonds, Boyd said, after he declared he wanted to close up the transaction, promising to pay his note after selling the bonds in Chicago, thus returning the State deposit.

Subsequently checks drawn on the bank for the money were turned down and the bonds were not returned to the treasury.

Let Colleges Make Wine, Arkansas Senate Asked

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—A proposal to put State agricultural colleges in the wine business was placed before the State Senate in a bill today.

The measure would authorize agricultural colleges to establish wineries which would not be subject to any tax.

It also would permit college boards of control to contract with the Federal Government for financing self-liquidating projects. Presumably putting wineries in this class.

Puerto Rican Governor Legalizes Cock-Fighting

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Robert H. Gore today signed a bill making cock-fighting legal in Puerto Rico.

He signed with a quill pen made from the tail feathers of "Justicia," a fighting cock, belonging to Senator Rafael Martinez Nabal, the author of the bill. The governor promised in his inaugural address to sign such legislation.

Barber Talks Himself Right Into a $3 Fine

Chicago, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Barber John Antrim was next in Judge Graber's court today, and when he got out of the chair it had cost him $3.

Paul Ransom, Dixon, Ill., farmer, told the judge he went into Antrim's shop and asked for a 25-cent haircut. So fast did the barber work and talk, Ransom said, that Ransom ended up owing him $3.75. Ransom gave him $3—all he had—but an argument landed the pair in court.

The judge ordered the barber to return Ransom's $3.

Three Convicts Escape; Caught

Massachusetts Riot of 100 Quelled by Gas; Pair Beaten.

Boston, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—A hundred convicts serving terms for felonies rioted at the House of Correction on Deer Island, in Boston Harbor, today and three alleged ringleaders escaped but later were captured.

Guards hurling tea gas bombs suppressed the riot. A fourth prisoner who attempted to flee the island was caught before he could reach the narrow belt of water separating it from the mainland.

Those who made their way to the mainland before being captured were James J. O'Hara, alias Badger; John Kowalais and John F. McDonough. O'Hara, who apparently had made good his getaway after his companions were caught, was found hiding under a house in Winthrop several hours later and surrendered without a struggle. Kowalais and McDonough were severely beaten in a fight with a policeman and a guard who cornered them.

Officials said the trouble was instigated by a group of 100 convicts, all serving terms for felonies, who had been transferred to the island institution from the Concord Reformatory.

Roumania Declares Interest Moratorium

Bucharest, Roumania, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—The government today announced an official transfer moratorium on payment of all interest on debts, effective August 15.

The moratorium affects government and autonomous funds and public commercial monopolies. These will henceforth deposit the sums due in lei with the National Bank and thereby consider themselves freed of the obligations until the creditor countries make it possible, through easing of commercial relations, to obtain foreign currency with which to effect the transfer.

Kathryn Carver Wins Divorce From Menjou

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Testifying that her husband, Adolphe Menjou, screen sophisticate, would fly into fits of rage against her, Kathryn Carver, film actress, was awarded a divorce from him today. Menjou denied the charges, but permitted the case to go by default.

The Menjous were married in Paris May, 16, 1928, and separated last May 16, their fifth wedding anniversary.

Republic's New Cabinet Sworn In Office; Peace Sought.

Machado Estates Sacked by Rebels

U. S. Envoy Is Cheered; Former Official Flees Island.

Havana, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Strong measures to curb lawlessness were taken today by the Cuban government as a new cabinet was sworn in and Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, the provisional president, pleaded for a return to normal conditions.

The United States Navy destroyer Claxton, one of the two naval craft ordered to Havana by President Roosevelt Sunday for the protection of American life and property, sailed tonight for the naval base, at Guantanamo. The destroyer Taylor remained in the harbor.

Raoul Bertot, American consul, at Manzanillo, advised by telephone that the American destroyer Hamilton, which has been ordered to that port, had not yet arrived. He said he expected the ship tomorrow morning.

Two of the country estates of Gerardo Machado, who fled into exile when his regime collapsed, were sacked and burned.

To combat the looting, arson and bloodshed which followed the overthrow of the Machado government, a military edict was issued banning manifestations and parades. The carrying of arms was prohibited and troops were ordered to fire on those violating public order.

Pleads for Unity.

A plea of De Cespedes to unite that "no one may doubt, in the future, our democratic capacity for self government" was contained in an inaugural address delivered shortly after he swore in a cabinet which virtually ignored all the old political parties.

Members of the ABC Secret Society, long opposed to the Machado rule, were recognized in the new cabinet and were granted portfolios along with the Nationalists, reflecting resentment against the Liberal party, to which Machado was attached, as well as the Popular and Conservative parties.

New Cabinet.

The post of secretary of state in the new cabinet was taken by the provisional president himself. The other members, with their party affiliations and portfolios, are:

Josquim Martinez Saenz (ABC)—Treasury.
Carlos Saladrigas (ABC)—Justice.
Castillo Pokorny (Nationalist)—War.
Frederico Laredo Bru (Nationalist)—Interior.
Dr. Jose Manuel Presno (none)—Sanitation.
Nacasio Silverio (OCRR)—Communications.
Eduardo J. Chibas (ABC)—Public Works.
Rafael Santos Jimenez (Nationalist)—Agriculture.
Guillermo Belt (ABC)—Public Instruction.
Stanislao Cartaya (Nationalist)—Havana district.
Raul de Cardenas (Nationalist)—President's secretary.

Gen. Julio Sanguily became the new chief of staff of the Cuban army and it was under his authority that repressive measures were issued.

De Cespedes, in his innaugural address, delivered to the acclaim of thousands gathered in the rear of the presidential palace, urged that resentment and excesses "yield to mutual respect and the most fraternal sentiments." He said he counted on the "efficacious collaberation of all the public powers and national institutions."

Sumner Welles, United States Ambassador, paid a formal visit to the new president and his cabinet after the opening ceremonies. He was accompanied by Lieut. Col. Thomas N. Gimperling, military attache, and the commanding officers of the two destroyers.

The thousands who had gathered to hear the president's address cheered the ambassador as he arrived and renewed the demonstration as he departed.

Supporters of Machado, who escaped to Nassau, the Bahamas, followed his lead by fleeing for their lives in every direction. Alberto Herrera, Machado's war secretary and professional president for a few hours Saturday before De Cespedes took office, fled with his wife and sons and their families on the United Fruit steamship Ouirigua, bound for Jamaica.

Strike Ends.

Today generally marked the end of the country-wide strike, which for two weeks had paralyzed commerce and threatened to bring famine in many sections. Reports from Santiago said the strike continued there with only a few business houses open. Some downtown stores were resuming business here and public employes, street car and railroad workers, taxi-drivers and factory workers went back to their jobs.

A delegation from the committee which organized the strike called on De Cespedes and was told the new government would concede the workers' requests.

Sixty omnibuses of the Cuba Co., now bankrupt, were burned by employes, who demanded return of their $25 bonds.

Police started a search for 27 cars, 13 of them armored machines, which they said were the property of "Machado gangsters."

Hunt "Parristas."

Members of Machado's secret political police, the dreaded "porristas," were reported roaming the city in such cars. Many of their number had been killed by the angry mobs which hunted them down over the week-end. The police said occupants of the cars were disguised as soldiers, sailors and police and carried banners of the revolutionary ABC Society.

Gen. Hererra and his party were smuggled aboard the Jamaica-bound ship early in the morning. They left the Hotel Nacional, which had been converted into a virtual fortress, in an armored car. Streets to the dock were heavily guarded.

Plans Tribute to U. S.

Havana, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Nation-wide manifestations in tribute to President Roosevelt and U. S. Ambassador Sumner Welles for aid in settling the Cuban political strife will be proposed by Carlos Betancourt, a member of the powerful ABC political group, he announced tonight.

The demonstrations all over the island would be "in thankfulness for their granting liberty to the people of Cuba for the second time," he said.

Business Aid Pledged.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Cuban Chamber of Commerce in the United States, which represents several hundred American business firms and financial institutions, today offered the new president of Cuba its active support in the economic reconstruction of Cuba, and in establishing better trade relations between the two republics.

Carlos G. Garcia, president of the chamber, expressed the desire of the organization to aid in this work in a cablegram sent to Cuba's provisional president.

Ferrara Leaves Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Dr. Orestes Ferrara, former Cuban secretary of state under the Machado regime, late today checked out of a local hotel without revealing his destination.

It was rumored that he may proceed to Washington.

A more definite but unconfirmed report was that he intended to go from here to New York and possibly to Europe later.

International Farm Aid Appointed by Roosevelt

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday commissioned Dr. Henry C. Taylor, of Wisconsin, as American member of the permanent committee of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

Dr. Taylor formerly was chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in the Department of Agriculture. He will leave Washington before September 1 to take up his new duties.

U. S. Ruling Helps Chicago Finances

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—Mayor Edward J. Kelly today received a ruling from J. F. T. O'Connor, United States Comptroller of Currency, that he said likely would lead Chicago out of its muddled financial situation and permit speedy payment of school teachers and employes' back salaries.

O'Connor, the mayor said, wrote him that national banks now may purchase city and State tax anticipation warrants without limit. Previously national banks were permitted to invest only 15 per cent of capital and 25 per cent of their surplus in such warrants.

Mayor Kelly said with the restriction removed the city was confident that it could dispose of its warrants.

Bracelet Reported Stolen.

A diamond bracelet valued at $150 was stolen yesterday from the apartment of Douglas Gibson at 3100 Connecticut avenue, it was reported to police.

Fancy Stitches in Boy's Heart Save Life

Stabbed in the heart by a hoodlum who attempted to rob him recently, Elihu Garmisa, 16-year-old Chicago youth, is shown convalescing with Nurse Inga Osmundson at his side. He owes his life to Dr. J. D. Koucky, noted surgeon, who closed the wound with five stitches.

Machado, Exile In Nassau, Says He Is Contented

Stands Upon His Record, Although Some Was Bad, Perhaps.

Nassau, N. P., Aug. 14 (AP).—Declaring he is "no longer a factor in Cuba's destiny," former President Gerardo Machado, who fled into exile when his army revolted, settled down here today, "happy and contented."

The deposed chief executive, who came to Nassau in an airplane yesterday, believes "anything I might say would tend only to further complicate matters."

"I stand by my record," Machado said. "Most of it was good. Some was bad, perhaps. But I gave the people of Cuba many things they needed.

Won't Interfere.

"I am willing to await developments and shall not try to interfere. Cuba would never, under my rule, and I do not believe under any other administration, repudiate its financial obligations.

"I hope the new order is successful in bringing Cuba back to its senses, for I love my country dearly. I realize the futility of my trying to do anything."

Family "On Way North."

Key West, Fla., Aug. 14 (AP).—Senora Gerado Machado, wife of the exiled Cuban President, left here tonight aboard an ordinary railroad day coach, there being no other accommodations available until she and members of the family reach Miami.

The party arrived this morning aboard the Machado yacht, the Gen. Juan B. Zayas, and planned to "go North" by train. As a precautionary measure a detachment of National Guardsmen was ordered out to protect the party, which was accompanied by an escort provided by the present Cuban government.

Besides Mrs. Machado were Emilio Obregon and his wife, a daughter of the Machados; Dr. Ramon Grau and Mrs. Grau, also a daughter of the Machados; Rafael Sanchez y Aballi and wife, five Machado grandchildren and a retinue of servants.

The party was granted courtesy of the customs on order of Ambassador Sumner Welles, and they were assured safe conduct to any destination they desired.

They had no difficulty leaving Cuba, it was learned.

Their destination was not known here.

Naval Escort Provided.

A naval escort of one officer and six enlisted men to protect Senora Gerardo Machado, wife of the former Cuban President, during her stay in the United States was ordered yesterday by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations.

Democrats Name Committee's Aids

Charles R. Fenwick, of East Falls Church Precinct, was elected chairman yesterday by the newly appointed Arlington County Democratic committee. He defeated William L. Bragg, of the Second Precinct, Clarendon, chairman of the committee for the past ten years. Other officers elected are:

Robert Anderson, Second Precinct, Clarendon, vice chairman; Mrs. Clara Nevin, First Precinct, Clarendon, treasurer; Boardman Munson, Arlington Precinct, assistant treasurer, and Albert M. Jones, Virginia Highlands Precinct, secretary.

Filling of three vacancies on the committee was postponed until September over the objection of Thomas Meacham, of Lyon Park, who demanded the vacancies be filled before election of officers.

National Radiator Aid, On Business Here, Dies

John H. Waters, president of the National Radiator Corporation and of the U. S. National Bank of Johnstown, Pa., who collapsed Friday during a conference at the Treasury Department, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital. He was 74 years old.

Mr. Waters' death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage, according to hospital officials. His body was taken to Johnstown for burial.

India's Scout Leader Married at Jamboree

Gobollo, Hungary, Aug. 14 (AP).—Boy Scouts attending the fourth international jamboree today turned from their usual activity to crowd around the Gobollo Church, where the leader of the British Indian contingent, Allan Campbell, married Mary Hutchinson, who came from Scotland by airplane.

Scotch bagpipes were played. Turbaned Hindus added to the picturesque scene.

Code Pondered By Nurserymen Of Virginia

President of Association Urges Membership Drive by Group.

The Virginia Nurserymen's Association yesterday opened its second annual convention, which continues through today, at Arlington Hall. President Owen G. Wood, of Bristol, presided. Thirty-five delegates attended.

President Wood urged closer cooperation among the nurserymen.

"We have as members of this association less than one half the nurserymen of the State, and if we want to go forward each member must go out and urge others to join our fight," Wood said.

L. M. Jones, of Norfolk, member of the executive committee, reported the recent convention in Chicago of the American Association of Nurserymen. He said the code adopted there must be adopted by Virginia nurserymen.

President Wood appointed the following committee to study the code: Fred Shoesmith, of Richmond; L. M. Jones, of Norfolk; W. R. Winn, of Norfolk; E. M. Quillen, of Waynesboro, and Kent W. Hood, of Richmond.

Today's session will convene at 9 a. m. Speakers will be A. B. Hastings, United States Forestry Service; E. M. Quillen, and Dr. Lee A. Strong. After committee reports officers will be elected.

Missouri Drys Lose in Court

Fail to Halt Repeal Vote Saturday on Claim It Is Referendum.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 14 (AP).—Missouri prohibitionists lost in the State Supreme Court today in their fight to halt Saturday's election on repeal of the eighteenth amendment and tonight their attorney, Gus O. Nations, announced he would carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

The Missouri Supreme Court unanimously held that the Weeks bill setting up the machinery for the State-wide election and the ratification convention August 29 is not subject to the referendum provisions of the State constitution. Had the supreme court ruled the referendum provisions applied, the election would have been automatically postponed until the Weeks bill had been submitted to the voters in the general election in 1934.

Antiprohibition leaders continued tonight to predict an overwhelming majority for repeal. Prohibitionists refused to make forecasts.

The ruling was in a mandamus suit brought by P. A. Tate, superintendent of the Antisaloon League of Missouri, who sought to compel Judge Mike G. Sevier, of the Cole County (Jefferson City) Circuit Court, to compel Dwight H. Brown, secretary of State, to accept referendum petitions which Tate unsuccessfully sought to file.

Mrs. Nelle G. Burger, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U., said the "only thing left for Missouri drys to do is to fight it out at the polls Saturday."

Farley Spurs Missouri Vote

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Chairman James A. Farley, of the Democratic National committee, today telegraphed Rubey M. Hulen, chairman of the Democratic State committee of Missouri, requesting him to exert every effort to bring that State into the repeal column by a large majority August 19.

Missouri will be the twenty-second State to vote for delegates to a convention which will act upon ratification of repeal.

Ogburn Holds NRA Will Fail; Gives Up Job

Declares Consumers' Plight Forgotten; Rips Into Administration.

giving information to the press. Everything had to be approved and come from the recovery administrator's office. Afterward I was permitted to give out facts, but not allowed to speak to the press regarding policies."

Holds Johnson Blameless.

The trouble does not come from insincerity on the part of Gen. Johnson, he said, but from the fact that "the social and economic order is changing and the NRA people do not realize it."

Praising Gen. Johnson as "master of super-showmanship," he said the administrator was "so busy selling the NRA idea to the public" that he had not had time to properly investigate the dangers ahead. The same held true of the "smart young executives" with whom the NRA chief is surrounded, he said.

"Under the old economic order," the professor added, "the consumers were protected against price gouging because competition among industries had the tendency of forcing prices down. Under the program sponsored by the NRA, these same industries are being invited to organize and lay the groundwork for cartels which can define practices and fix prices at whatever figure they think the people can be forced to pay.

The way is being paved for them to do legally that which in the past would have brought them in conflict with the Federal Trade Commission and the antitrust laws.

"The Trade Commission should have jurisdiction in the NRA.

Colleagues Share View.

"If we are going to have a new economic order in which the by-word is cooperation instead of competition, then the only way to prevent price gouging is for the people—or the Government which represents the people—to be represented in the cartels and have the power to regulate and veto questionable practices."

Some other members of the consumers' advisory board have shown sympathy with his views, he said. He has heard reports that some of them are intending to resign, too.

Ogburn, brought here from the University of Chicago faculty, is regarded as one of the country's leading economists and sociologists.

He resigned, he said, "so he would be free to speak his mind."

He left his resignation in Gen. Johnson's office in the morning, passed the better part of the day seeking a conference with the administrator to explain some suggestions he had for making the consumers' board more effective, then left, apparently never to return, when calls to the White House and other business made it impossible for the general to see him.

Later at a press conference Gen. Johnson indicated he had no intention of adopting any of the suggestions and would let the consumers' board operate in the manner it has in the past under direction of Mrs. Charles C. Rumsey, a wealthy society woman.

Sought Ogburn's Removal.

Mrs. Rumsey had sought Prof. Ogburn's removal, but was balked when Ogburn, tall, lean and gray, returned from a visit to Chicago and caused Gen. Johnson to countermand orders transferring him to the Statistical Bureau.

But when Ogburn presented his resignation and sought to advise him Gen. Johnson ceased to bother.

"If a man wants to resign, God bless him. That's his privilege," Johnson was quoted.

Army Men to Quit Campaign for NRA

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—Asserting the United States Army can not be in a punitive position toward the American public, Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, today announced he and members of his military staff will relinquish their NRA activities on August 31.

"We shall leave to trade associations the business of seeing that codes of fair competition are justly administered," he said. "We shall try to perfect an organization that will endure throughout the operation of the National Industrial Recovery Act."

It was explained that Gen. Malone, who heads the Baltimore campaign, and his staff have not been acting in an administrative capacity in the NRA campaign as army officers but as residents of Baltimore. He returned today after accompanying President Roosevelt on an inspection trip of civilian conservation corps camps in Virginia.

Two Deaths Laid To California Heat

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (AP).—Southern California continued in the grip of a hot weather siege today.

Wallace Kelley, of Long Beach, succumbed today to the severe heat at the El Dorado mine near Twenty-nine Palms, where he was visiting. T. B. Fortune, 16, died of sunstroke yesterday in the Ortega Mountains. His father, R. L. Fortune, of Ventura, informed of the death, shot himself and was not expected to live.

Maximum temperatures in the Imperial Valley ranged from 112 to 119 degrees, the latter being 1 degree above the previous heat record for that region.

Yesterday's heat, which drove 750,000 persons to Southern California beaches, mounted to 113 degrees at San Francisco, 103 at Eagle Rock, and as high as 100 degrees in other localities. Los Angeles' 96 was the hottest since August 18, 1932.

Missing Boy

LUCIUS HERFORD, 15, of 1228 M street northwest, has been missing since August 9. His father, L. R. Herford, has appealed for police aid in locating him. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and was wearing white striped trousers, a white shirt and brown sweater. His father thought the lad may have gone to Virginia.

U. S. Job Tests Being Given to 2,000 Workers

Quiz of Immigration Aids Ordered; Position Lists to Be Revised.

Uncle Sam has entered the depression job market in the role of selective bidder for the best that is put on the block.

Competitive examinations are being announced every day or so now down at the Civil Service Commission, which has decided to make capital out of hard times by taking its pick of the Nation's jobless to bolster the Government's own employe standards.

Yesterday the Labor Department branched out on its own, summoning the first of some 2,000 technical field employes of the new Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization before special examining boards in eleven cities.

"Nonpolitical" Method.

The department hit on this "nonpolitical" method of entrenching the new bureau with the best men available. It was not the Civil Service Commission's idea, but the commission cooperated, submitting suggestions and appointing representatives on the special examining boards.

As Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Daniel W. MacCormack put it, the move is designed to strengthen the bureau's present Civil Service requirements, and at the same time provide a selective method of determining which of the field staff, threatened with curtailment, is best fitted to remain.

The Civil Service Commission's broader program is aimed at revivifying its job registers, many of them several years old. These will be brought up to the minute through a series of examinations in practically every field, at a time when even a Government job is alluring to talented persons in every walk of life.

Funds From Budget Bureau.

The commission is going forward with this program with new funds tendered by the Budget Bureau regardless of the fact that Civil Service jobs are now at a premium, and there are already more than 3,000 ousted workers on the commission's reemployment rolls.

Under White House mandate, the reemployment list still must be given preference. Wherever employes are needed with qualifications not found in the reemployment pool, the new employment registers will be called into use.

Florida Canal Cash Asked of President

Sponsors Say $50,000,000 Project Would Be Self-Liquidating.

Construction of the Atlantic Ocean-Gulf of Mexico Canal with public works funds was asked of President Roosevelt yesterday by the Coastal Coordination Commission.

The canal would enable shipping to avoid the long trip around the Florida Peninsula. It would connect the St. Mary's River on the Atlantic with St. George's Sound on the Gulf. The project would be self-liquidating through tolls levied on shipping, its sponsors said.

The cost of the canal would be about $50,000,000. It would be 231 miles long and have a depth of 12 feet. The President has taken no action toward providing construction funds from public works money.

Mrs. Rebecca Cox Expires at Home

Rites to Be Held Today for Mother of Detective C. P. and R. J. Cox, Jr.

Mrs. Rebecca M. Cox, 72, of 4413 Third street northwest, mother of Detective Lieut. C. P. Cox and Detective Sergt. R. J. Cox, jr., died yesterday at her home after a long illness.

Mrs. Cox is also survived by her husband, R. J. Cox, sr. She was one of the oldest living graduates of St. Mary's College in Alexandria.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m., today from the Sardo funeral home, 412 H street northeast. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery

Pact Arranged On Payments to Wheat Farmer

Part of Benefits Is to Be Withheld; Cotton Men Also Affected.

(Associated Press.)

A compromise plan under which part of the benefit payments to cotton and wheat farmers who are indebted to the Government would be withheld in the distribution of rewards for curtailing production was worked out yesterday by a special committee.

The group, consisting of Secretary Wallace, Henry Morgenthau, jr., governor of the Farm Credit Administration, and Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction Corporation, will submit their recommendations today to President Roosevelt's Cabinet advisory board.

Details were not disclosed, but it was learned that a proposal of Department of Agriculture officials to distribute the benefits without offset amounts due the Government was abandoned. The same fate was encountered by proposals that the full amount of sums owed by farmers be withheld.

Instead, the plan contemplates that farmers who are able to pay off a part of the sums due the Government will have amounts deducted from their payments.

Meanwhile it was made known that intensive efforts are being made to induce the Farm Adjustment Administration to stabilize prices of wheat, cotton, and other farm products by fixing minimum prices for the fall marketing season.

Panhandling Drops With Birth of NRA

Arrest Average of Five to Six Daily Cut to Under Four.

Maybe it is only a coincidence, but panhandling has fallen off in Washington since the birth of NRA. Whether the decline is due to general economic recovery, increasing resistance by pedestrians who are approached, the renovizing campaign or anything else is conjectural.

At any rate, the Metropolitan Police Department made only 46 arrests for vagrancy between August 1 and last Sunday. Alms soliciting is only one of the offenses coming under the head of vagrancy, hence the number of panhandlers who ran afoul the law was under 46, an average of less than 4 a day. The daily average in past months has fluctuated between 5 and 6.

Capital Will Get Fast Air Service

Time to Southwest Will Be Cut by Planes Between Chicago and Dallas.

Faster air service for Washingtonians to the West and Southwest begins today with the installation of 3-mile-a-minute transport planes on the United Airline route between Chicago and Dallas.

Airline schedules, so often described in terms of meals, show that a passenger leaving Washington at 5:15 p. m. on Pennsylvania Airlines, after an early supper, can fly by way of Cleveland, where he will board the new fast planes, and thence through Chicago to Dallas in time for breakfast.

Or the traveler, flying through the night, may breakfast at Kansas City, Oklahoma City or Fort Worth Another connection at Dallas enables the passenger to eat dinner in Houston or Galveston, allowing for a loss of only half a business day between the Capital and the border.

Farley to Sell First NRA Stamp to Johnson

With considerable fanfare, the new NRA stamp will make its bow at the city postoffice today.

The first stamp of the new issue will be sold to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson by Postmaster General Farley with pomp and ceremony.

The program doesn't say who will be the first to lick one of the new seals.

SPECIAL NOTICES

THE FIFTY-NINTH SEMIANNUAL DIVIDEND of two and one-half per cent (2½%) has been declared on the preferred stock of the Washington Railway & Electric Company, payable December 1, 1933. Family Nags, Boy, 7 Feet, Joins C.C.C.

Virginian's Head Rests on One Cot, Feet on Another as He Sleeps.

(Associated Press.)

James H. Scott, a 19-year-old boy who is 7 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 275 pounds, grew tired of his big brothers and sisters picking on him, so he left home and joined the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Capt. W. E. Corkill, commanding the conservation camp at Marion, N. C., in a report yesterday to Robert Fechner, director of conservation work, claimed Scott was the largest forest worker in any camp in the country.

The director's attention was called to him when an application came for a pair of 17½ triple "E" shoes, trousers 44 by 44 and an 8½ sized hat.

Corkill reported in response to Fechner's questions that Scott required two cots for sleeping, one from the waist up and one from the waist down.

His home is in North Carolina near Mouth of Wilson, Va.

Police Rush to Quell 'Row' But Find Stork

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (AP).—The desk sergeant barked at two of his huskiest patrolmen.

"Scram to 5342 Second avenue and don't stop to pick daisies. There's a disturbance there."

They scrammed. Presently the sergeant's telephone rang.

"Send us a police surgeon," chorused the patrolmen.

The disturbance was not the usual kind. It was a 10½ pound boy born to Mrs. Edna Hanson.

Silver Spring Guard Lieutenant Promoted

Promotion of First Lieut. Lewis V. Kreh, of the Service Company, First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, of Silver Spring, Md., to the rank of captain was announced yesterday by Capt. Ward W. Caddington, commanding the Service Company.

Capt. Kreh will be detached from the Service Company and attached to the staff of the First Infantry as regimental supply officer. His appointment as supply officer was announced while the regiment was in camp at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., two weeks ago.

Connally Praises New Deal Results

U. S. Is Pulling Up Road to Prosperity Again, Says Senator.

(Associated Press.)

Returned confidence and improving business were included last night by Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas, among what he termed accomplishments of "five months of the new deal."

In a speech praising President Roosevelt for carrying out what he said was a carefully planned campaign, the Texan summarized results of "five vivid moving months—months of life and action."

"Confidence has returned," he said. "A billion dollars annually in Government expenses have been saved. The National credit has been preserved. The farm bill has worked and is still working to lift farm prices. The dollar is cheaper and prices are higher. Employment is increasing. Business is improving."

Flogging Urged For Criminals To End Rackets

Full U. S. Police Powers Among Suggestions to Senate Group.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Everything from public flogging for criminals to martial law was seriously urged upon the Senate subcommittee on racketeering today at its first open regional meeting.

Police and prison experts gave their views to Senator Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the committee, and virtually all of them were agreed that drastic criminal reforms were necessary to stamp out rackets.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes, of Sing Sing Prison, wanted not only immediate martial law, but virtual elimination of State lines, with full police powers conferred upon the Federal Government.

Former Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, of New York City, advocated "20 lashes, with 20 years," for hardened criminals. District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, of Manhattan Borough, New York, urged that prosecutors be given the power of subpena and the right to question witnesses under oath in private.

Senator Copeland laid emphasis throughout the hearing on an American "Scotland Yard."

Some suggestions given to the committee were:

A central coordinating crime bureau, administered by the Federal Government.

Federal control of firearms and universal fingerprinting.

Exile to island prisons for criminals and more public assistance for the police.

Registration of everybody in the United States.

NRA and Relief Unity Demanded

Executive, including the coal, oil and steel industries. These have been difficult problems for the recovery administration, which has been called on to solve issues the most experienced and acute persons in the industries themselves have not been able to agree on.

The visit of the dynamic, colorful recovery administrator to the White House, however, did not set at rest rumors that his official head was on the block.

Enemies Observed.

Gen. Johnson, who was greeted by the people from St. Louis Sunday, not with polite applause but with shouting and cheers and shrill whistling, is said to have made some powerful enemies. Those giants of finance, industry and business, who have occupied unquestioned pedestals for years, have not taken kindly to the blunt, idiomatic and forceful recovery administrator who has told them privately they would play ball or else——

Neither has Gen. Johnson curried the favor of supposedly politically powerful persons in the administration, it is understood. A story is going around that one powerful group of employers, that did not want to accept the recovery administrator's ideas, besought and got a member of the Cabinet and one of the President's secretaries to call Gen. Johnson and suggest he be "reasonable" in his dealings with the group.

Gen. Johnson held his ground, it is reported, and refused to accept the proposed code of those employers. He offered a temporary compromise which they are expected to accept. But even the compromise was a bitter pill, according to the story.

Astute political observers scout the idea that K. M. Simpson, who was named by Gen. Johnson as a deputy administrator, will be named as his successor. Simpson has had charge of proposed codes and negotiations involving some of the most recalcitrant financial and industrial interests.

Eight more industries were brought under wings of the Blue Eagle, recovery insignia, by Gen. Johnson yesterday. These modified temporary codes mean that industries are not willing to subscribe to provisions of the President's general blanket, volunteer wage and hour code, but want this or that modification of the minimum wage and hour requirements prescribed by the President as the absolute minimum for decent living and propulsion of the recovery machine.

10,000,000 Now Affected.

Those brought in yesterday include office equipment, sheet rubber and related sundries manufacturing, sausage casing, cigar, office equipment, cotton compress and warehouse, yeast, telephone manufacturing and retailer confectioner' industries.

It has been estimated that 10,000,000 persons are affected by the permanent and temporary codes accepted by the recovery administration. That estimate is based on the assumption that everybody in every industry will obey the spirit as well as the letter of the agreement.

Not more than one-fifth of the employers of the country have come under wings of the recovery eagle, however, according to estimates made by recovery administration statisticians. It is admitted that many of those who have signed pledges are not carrying out their promises.

Gen. Johnson is to tackle today controverted questions involving some of the most important industries. The importance of these industries is enhanced because of the Nation-wide influence of their dictators, which extends far beyond their direct control of some few or large number of thousands of employes.

Representatives of the steel industry will confer with administration officials today. Simpson believed a satisfactory code would be worked out before Labor Day. Gen. Johnson, after Gov. Pinchot had made another visit to Washington, said his coal mediation board would be able to handle the Pennsylvania bituminous strike. Agreement on a timber, lumber-producing code seemed to have been reached and depends on official approval.

Taxicab Trade Board Looms, Due to Eagle

18 Units Represented at Meeting; Agents of Diamond Absent.

Imbued with Blue Eagle fever, Washington's taxicab business showed the first sign in two years of becoming organized last night at a meeting of drivers and owners in the District Building.

Despite the fact that the largest cab company in the city, the Diamond, was not represented, the 18 organizations that were represented agreed to meet again Thursday night with the view of organizing a taxicab board of trade. Representatives of the Diamond Company had been invited to attend, T. W. Fowler, who organized the meeting, said.

It took the sign of the Blue Eagle to put those present into action. The cabmen, after an hour's discussion, were getting nowhere until Miss Etta L. Taggart, lieutenant colonel of the NRA army here, and J. G. Yaden, head of the canvassing unit, told the drivers and operators to enroll under the Blue Eagle and get organized, with a code of their own.

Rate Increase Asked.

Reasonable increase in rates and change of zones are the main objectives of the taxicab men. Twenty-five cents was tentatively set as a first zone rate.

Albert W. Jacobson, attorney for the City Cab Co., announced that his company could not commit itself to any local program at present because of the national taxicab code, which is yet to be acted on. It was the opinion of other speakers, however, that the national code would not affect Washington.

Other NRA activities in Washington included launching of the drive here and the organization of the National Recovery Board for the District. Ben L. Prince was elected chairman of the recovery board, which will rule on petitions from employers and make other adjustments regarding the Washington NRA situation.

Melvin D. Hildreth was named vice chairman and A. K. Shipe, secretary.

Committee Chosen.

The following were appointed as a committee of rules of procedure and practice: Brice Clagett, Mark Lansburgh and John B. Colpoys. Other members of the board are Russell Balderson, Yaden and Mrs. J. Fred Essary.

Yaden last night announced women division majors who are to direct the women's house-to-house and store campaign. They are Mrs. Elizabeth T. Sullivan, vice president of the Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. George Ricker and Mrs. Esther Baird. Yaden and Miss Taggart addressed a mass meeting of women at the Arlington Hotel yesterday morning.

Board of Trade offices, headquarters for the local campaign and the Chamber of Commerce were swamped with callers yesterday. Many employers were reported to be planning petitions for adjustment, while others were showing a willingness to cooperate with their individual trade codes.

Thomas P. Littlepage, general of the local army, deserted his own legal business to be in attendance at headquarters throughout the day.

Mine Union Head Claims Frame-Up

Rinaldo Cappellini Denies Passing Counterfeit in Wilkes-Barre.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP).—Denial of counterfeiting charges that resulted in his arrest Saturday by United States Secret Service agents, was made today by Rinaldo Cappellini, president of the Anthracite Mine Workers of Pennsylvania.

Cappellini is under $10,000 bail pending hearing on Wednesday.

He termed the story told by Peggy Fisher, 20-year-old waitress, responsible for his arrest, "an absolute falsehood."

Cappellini said he gave the girl a $10 bill on Thursday to pay for his laundry. He asserted he had changed a $20 bill in a store and from this change had taken the bill given the girl. He added:

"All I can say about this affair is that it is a frame-up, to discredit me."

Boy, 8, Slays Mother; Thought Gun Unloaded

Modesto, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP).—William Silveira, 8, accidentally shot and killed his mother, Margaret C. Silveira, 38, near Newman, Coroner George Sovern said today.

The coroner explained the boy picked up a shotgun, thought to be unloaded, and jokingly said to his mother, "I'll shoot you." She also thought the gun was unloaded and paid no attention.

The boy fired, and the woman was mortally wounded.

Missing Negro Victim of Mob Found Injured

Tuscoloosa Troops Called Out to Protect Him in County Jail.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Elmore Clark, 28, third Negro of a trio accused of murder who were seized by a mob from sheriff's deputies Sunday, was found seriously wounded near here tonight.

Clark was brought to Tuscaloosa and lodged in the county jail.

On request of Circuit Judge H. B. Foster, immediate mobilization of the Tuscaloosa National Guard unit was ordered by Gov. B. M. Miller to protect Clark from further violence. The other two Negroes seized with him were found dead yesterday.

Judge Foster said Clark was discovered in the home of a Negro friend about 22 miles from Tuscaloosa tonight.

A Negro doctor, called from Tuscaloosa to treat Clark's wounds, asked protection from the sheriff's office on the trip. An officer accompanied him and found Clark suffering from bullet wounds in the side and hip.

Clark's escape from the band of masked men, who snatched him and the other two Negroes accused of slaying a young white girl from three deputies Sunday, was described as "miraculous" by Judge Foster.

He said the Negroes had been handcuffed together. It was believed, he said, that the three, with their wrists still locked together, were shot and left for dead by the roadside. Then Clark managed to break loose the handcuff binding him to the others and make his way to a friend's home.

The local company of national guardsmen was mobilizing swiftly as reports of threatened further mob violence were circulated.

Lawyer Is Jailed For Bomb Trial

Denies Charges in Tear Gassing of New York Stock Exchange.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—After pleading not guilty to two indictments in connection with the placing of tear gas bombs in the New York Stock Exchange on August 4, Eugene S. Daniell, jr., 28, Boston attorney, was remanded today to Tombs prison in default of $5,000 bail.

The indictments charged Daniell, head of the obscure Commoners party, with malicious mischief, a felony, and assault in the third degree. A third indictment, charging possession of a noxious gas bomb, was dismissed.

The bomb, placed in the intakes to the exchange ventilating system, forced abandonment of trading on August 4 when the noxious fumes were carried to the floor of the exchange.

Judge William Allen refused to cut Daniell's bail in half. He granted counsel one week in which to make motions.

Dancer Rescued After Lake Spill

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—A coast guardsman dived into Lake Michigan at the mouth of the Chicago River today to rescue Sally Rand, the fan dancer, after she toppled from a speedboat carrying her from the Century of Progress Fair to a night club.

Miss Rand was thrown overboard when she stood up in the boat as the pilot made a sharp turn. Surfman George Arnold, 26, swam 100 feet from the pier to reach her. She was taken to the Coast Guard Station and revived.

Dairymen End Holiday After Albany March

New York Strike Called Off as 1,000 Fail to See Gov. Lehman.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP).—New York State's striking dairymen, with the exception of a few small groups, definitely called off their milk holiday after a march on the capitol today.

More than 1,000 farmers came to Albany by automobile and bus to seek a conference with Gov. Lehman and to demonstrate in the Senate and Assembly chambers during tonight's session of the Legislature.

The governor refused to address the striking dairymen from the Capitol steps because he did not wish to establish such a precedent.

Felix Piseck, Herkimer County leader, today said the strike was off indefinitely. Albert Woodhead, of Rochester, had previously informed Gov. Lehman he had ended the strike in western New York.

Two delegations objected to their action and declared they would continue to keep their milk at home.

The governor had already refused to recognize a truce called by the strike leaders Saturday night, insisting that the strike be called off before he would consent to discuss new milk prices. The farmers are seeking a blanket price for all their milk regardless of the use to which it is put instead of the classified price system which the State milk control board has in effect.

Wisconsin Strike Impends.

Milwaukee, Aug. 14 (AP).—Walter M. Singler, milk pool chief who led Wisconsin farmers in two milk strikes, and who says that another strike impends, today severed all relations with Gov. A. G. Schmedeman and State officials assigned to the task of relieving the distressed dairy industry.

Singler charged that the State government has not kept its promise, made when the last strike was called off, to do something effective to boost milk prices.

He said the State is set for another strike—that it can be called at any moment without further counseling of farm leaders. But there will be no advance notice of the next strike, he said.

Robbers Shoot Chicago Officer

Tenth Man Falls Victim of Gangster Guns Since January 1.

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—The tenth Chicago policeman to be killed since January 1 fell today before the pistols of two robbers who obtained $610 from a currency exchange.

A few minutes later squads of police cornered four men in an alley. Three of them escaped, but the fourth, identified as Morris Cohen, 37, was wounded slightly and captured.

The victim, Joseph P. Hastings, 37, died without a shot being fired from his pistol, but a bystander snatched up the weapon and fired several shots as the bandits fled.

The robbers fired a dozen shots in exchange, endangering the lives of two attendants and several customers. Police said they learned operators of the exchange were cashing unemployment relief checks—intended for groceries and necessities—into cash at a 15 per cent fee.

The killing came at the height of a court campaign against gangsters and gunmen—a drive started two weeks ago when Policeman John G. Sevick was killed by a robbery defendant in a courtroom. Two policemen have been killed since that time.

As a high spot in the campaign today, Judge Benjamin Epstein sentenced three youths to 100 years in prison each for killing Dr. Bernard F. Garnitz, who was lured from his home and murdered when he resisted robbery. The youths are Joseph Borowy, 17; Charles Kubala, 17, and Matthew Novak, 25. They pleaded guilty and asked for the court's mercy, but received none.

Dance Is Held By Officers at Camp Ritchie

Mayor of Cumberland Is in Charge of Affairs; Problem Solved.

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 14 (Spl.).—This morning a drizzling rain, casting gloom over the camp, forced the District National Guard to remain in quarters. In the afternoon the sun appeared, making it possible for the troops to participate in sports and outdoor training.

This evening from 7 to 10 p. m. the officers of the division staff held a dance in brigade headquarters. Lieut. Col. George Henderson, in civilian life the Mayor of Cumberland, was in charge of the arrangements.

The Twenty-ninth division staff, assisted by the headquarters detachment, of Washington, held a conference, followed by the working out of a solution of a problem regarding the moving of the division from the area around Norfolk, Va., to Rockville, Md. The problem was part of a theoretical war fought on the battlefield of Gettysburg, which should have been the second part of this year's field training.

Problem Is Worked Out.

With 22,000 troops to transport from Virginia coast to Rockville the staff figured it would take three days with 75 trains, one leaving every hour, to transport the men. The division is being moved to the Maryland town to act as corps reserve.

During the morning the Engineer companies, because of the inclement weather, held lectures in the company mess halls. Sergt. Robert H. Robinson, of Company A, gave instructions in rigging, while Sergt. Arby C. Pyle spoke on first aid. A gas mask drill was held by Company B, with Sergt. Fred D. Vechery instructing. Sergt James A. Munro talked on demolition.

In Company C, Lieut. Luther B. Hall, lectured on scouting and patrolling and Capt. William F. Jorgenson spoke on musketry. Capt. Samuel R. Turner, commanding Company D, addressed his men on rifle marksmanship, and Lieut. John T. O'Neill used scouting and patrolling as his subject. Companies E and F both heard lectures on interior guard duty, Lieut. Howard A. Burd speaking to the former, and Lieut. Donald A. Flak to the latter. Capt. Walter A. Knight spoke to Company F on military courtesy. Lieut. Edward O. Hamilton gave a lecture on the care of rifles and equipment.

In the afternoon Companies A and E shot for record at the rifle range. Thirteen men qualified.

Qualify on Rifle Range.

Those who qualified and their grade are as follows:

Company A, Philip Geraci, expert; J. D. Tanner, sharpshooter; C. V. Payne, C. Marlor, C. A. Clerk, and Arby Pyle, marksman.

Company C, W. W. Barnes, Charles M. Holmes, Joseph W. Turner, W. H. Barnes, Julius Andrae and W. W. Blackman, marksman. Charles Abeel qualified as an expert of the automatic rifle.

Company D won the daily kitchen inspection and the right to possession of the flag today with first 100 per cent rating for the year.

Company A won the flag for the cleanest area for the second time in succession.

Mystery Veils Beauty's Death

Pasadena, Calif., Chief Will Ask Murder Charge Based on Trail of Shells.

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP).—A trail of three empty automatic pistol shells and a bullet crease in roofing paper provide evidence upon which Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley said today he would ask a murder complaint in the death of Helen Bendowski, 28.

The body of the comely blonde beauty shop operator, a bullet fired through her heart, was found yesterday on the roof of the floral shop of Harold Wolcott, 33, and near his penthouse.

Wolcott, asserted sweetheart of Miss Bendowski, is held on a charge of suspicion of murder. He employed an attorney late today. Maynard G. Miedema, patrolman, was detained as a material witness. Chief Kelley recommended to the city manager that Miedema be discharged, saying the patrolman had suppressed evidence. Miedema, who was off duty at the time, said he was with Wolcott. He denied any knowledge of the case.

Cigar Code Sets 40-Hour Minimum

Pay of 32 and 30 Cents Also Agreed Upon as Plans Meet Approval.

A 40-hour work week with seasonal flexibility has been approved by the Recovery Administration for the cigar manufacturing industry, in modifications of the President's reemployment agreement.

The 40-hour week would prevail except when seasonal pressure demands a longer period, and then the limit is 45 hours a week, but not more than 2,000 hours in any one year. Executives and outside workers are exempted and time and one-third is stipulated for overtime work.

The minimum wage is fixed at 32 cents an hour in the North, and 30 cents an hour in the South.

Special Mass for Feast Day.

In observance of the Feast of the Assumption, a special low mass will be read at 12:15 p. m. today at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Eighth and N streets northwest. Other masses will be read at 6 a. m., 6:45 a. m., 7:30 a. m., 9:00 a. m. and 10:15 a. m.

Meets the Great

BURTON CAYNOR, 16 years a bellhop in Capital hotels, who finds from personal contact the world's great are democratic.

Bellhop Finds Famous People Forget to Tip

But He Likes 'Em Because "The Bigger the More Human."

"The bigger they are the more human they are, and that's why I like them."

Thus did Burton Caynor, who has been hopping bells in Washington hotels for 16 years, explain yesterday why he prefers serving the great despite their frequent forgetfulness in the matter of tips.

And Caynor has met many of them—the Prince of Wales and Al Smith, Albert of Belgium and Calvin Coolidge, Gen. Petain and John Raskob, President Roosevelt and Marshal Joffre, Machado, Herriot and Grandi.

How They Forget Tips!

"They're all very democratic," he said. "When I sign my pay check after waiting on them for a week I remember how democratic they were and forgot the tips."

Caynor's present connection is with the Mayflower. He's hopped bells in nine other Washington hotels. He's worked at little else Now, when he appears to have passed his thirtieth birthday—though he declined to reveal his exact age—it is obvious he would be dissatisfied at any other job. At the Mayflower his talent for anticipating the needs of the great and near-great are adequately appreciated. He is content.

Tom Marshall His Favorite.

Caynor's favorite was the late Vice President Tom Marshall. In the proper Vice Presidential tradition, Mr. Marshall had little to do, Mrs. Marshall, much—teas, receptions and the like. Caynor helped the Vice President kill time. They exchanged stories. They played with the baby. And when Mr. Marshall grew tired of that, he would send Caynor to the nearest bookshop for the latest dime detective novel.

Caynor's an expert at tying bow ties, "one of the finest," and for the guest who has left essentials of his wardrobe at home, he keeps on hand a supply of collar buttons, collars and ties in assorted shapes and sizes.

"Baggage carrying is my job," he maintained, however. "And that's where times have improved. There was a day when nearly every guest had a trunk, several hand bags and at least one batbox for the 'stovepipe.' Then during the war the railroads would no longer carry trunks and everyone brought two or three heavy suitcases instead. But now the bags are fewer and they put less in them, particularly the women."

Fr. Murphy Made Peiping Rector.

Vatican City, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Rev. Joseph Murphy, vice rector of St. Augustine's Mission College at Bay St. Louis, Miss., was appointed rector of the Catholic University at Peiping in a decree issued today by the congregation for the propagation of the faith.

Arlington Body To Make Plea For Postoffice

Delay and Confusion Cited Because of Indirect Handling of Mail.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU O. THE POST,
Tel. Cler. 509. Clarendon, Va.

A central postoffice for Arlington County was indorsed by the county board yesterday.

Confusion in the delivery of mail as well as loss of time, because it has to go to Washington then back into the county was reported.

Branches of the Washington postoffice are now in Clarendon, Cherrydale, Arlington and Rosslyn.

Ashton C. Jones, past president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the public relations committee, in a letter to the board said:

"The mail delivery system in Arlington County is a Chinese puzzle. I believe now, with the Democratic administration in power and the new recovery plan, that we might have a fair chance to get a central postoffice."

Loan Plea Delivered.

County Manager Roy S. Braden reported delivering the county's application for a loan of $1,250,000 for installation of a sewerage system. A heated discussion on the question of the employment of a sanitary engineer to perfect the plans for the system followed.

Fred A. Gosnell proposed an engineer be employed, but his motion lost by a 3 to 2 vote.

Representing 105 mothers in the vicinity of Arlington, Mrs. Cora Miles, president of the Arlington Woman's Club, appealed to the board for the establishment of a baby clinic for that section. The board appropriated $200.

To Improve Rosslyn.

The board agreed to improve with sidewalk, curb and gutter a section in Rosslyn on a 50-50 basis with property owners. L. H. Greathouse, of the Rosslyn Business Men's Association, pledged cooperation of Rosslyn citizens.

Appropriation of $40 was made to defray expenses of one member of the Arlington County firemen to attend school of instruction at Richmond. The board also appropriated $100 to county firemen for their annual field day August 26.

Safe and $400 Stolen.

A small safe containing $400 in currency and valuable papers was stolen yesterday from the office of Charles M. Schneider at Schneider's Cafe, 427 Eleventh street northwest.

City's Champion Tree Lover Says They Need a Friend

Superintendent Wants More Money to Carry On Tradition.

"The trees of Washington need a friend."

Roaring wheels, billowing smoke, pungent smells—these are the marks of other cities. But the song of the wind in the trees of Washington is its stamp.

Clifford G. Lanham, municipal tree superintendent for nearly half a century, is the man who says:

"The trees of Washington need a friend. Sometimes, I think sadly, that I'm the only friend they have."

Appropriation Cut.

The appropriation for care of Washington's trees has been steadily cut in the last few years. Millions have been appropriated for governmental structures.

This year's working money for the trees is $84,000. And there are more than 100,000 trees. Last fiscal year $112,500 was allowed, and the year before $122,500.

"Trees do not depreciate," Lanham said, "if their health is preserved."

"Trees are the cheapest and best investment in beauty a city can make.

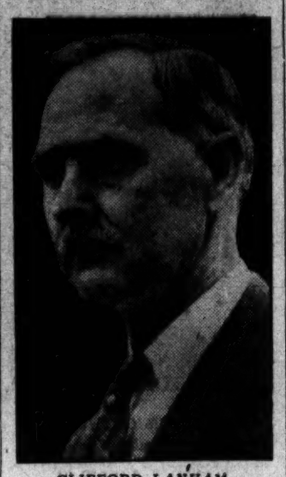
"Each year new subdivisions mean new trees must be planted to keep up the international tradition of this 'City of Trees.'

Must Fight Insect.

"Each year enemies of the trees must be combatted. These are many. Insects, leaking gas mains. The spreading roots of arching old elms, magnificent in their maturity, must be always surveilled less street diggers, sewer diggers, lacerate them."

Lanham says that trees mitigate poor architecture and enhance fine architecture. But the money for the trees is cut.

"I'm not complaining," says Lanham. "I know that money is scarce. But I've loved and lived with these trees for 42 years and sometimes I think they haven't a friend except me."



CLIFFORD LANHAM, superintendent of trees and parking of District, says that the trees in Washington need a friend.

Fairfax to Ask Recovery Fund Loan for Jail

Board Discusses Plans and Decides to Keep Cost at $50,000.

Tentative plans for a new jail in Fairfax County, Va., were discussed yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors at a called meeting. The plans were drawn by William I. Deming, Washington architect, who designed the present office building of the county courthouse in 1929.

Deming told the board that tentative estimates on the new jail, which is to be erected on the present jail site adjacent to the jailor's residence, were approximately $60,000. The board instructed him to make certain changes in the plans which is believed will keep the total cost within the $50,000 original estimate. The changed plans call for cell housing of 32 prisoners, with modern facilities.

The revised plans and further estimates of cost will be completed this week and the entire board contemplates going to Richmond early next week to make application for a loan from the National Industrial Recovery funds. If the project is approved by the State Recovery Board the supervisors will submit the proposition to a vote of the people.

A petition was filed with the board signed by 40 citizens protesting the establishment of a cemetery on the Lee highway about two miles west of Falls Church. The proposed cemetery, controlled by a New York corporation, would be located on north side of the highway and cover about 100 acres.

Judge Frees 4, Denounces Use Of Blackjack

Constable Criticized at Laurel in Dropping Assault Charge.

Indignant over what he termed "the unwarranted use of a blackjack by a police officer," Judge J. Chew Sheriff in Laurel (Md.) Police Court yesterday dismissed cases against four members of the Morris family.

Accompanying the dismissal, Judge Sheriff dealt a reprimand to Constable H. E. Hodges, alleged wielder of the blackjack. The act, he declared, showed lack of confidence in the ability of the constable to make an arrest.

James Morris, 32, of Laurel was brought into court by Hodges on charges of assault and battery. Morris, the constable testified, was found drunk near the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks.

Leaving him there, Hodges said, he went to procure a warrant. When he returned Morris had been taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. William Barnes.

Entering the home, Hodges is alleged to have engaged in a fight with Morris. The man's wife, mother and stepbrother, William Barnes, jr., said vainly tried to stop the fight.

Morris' head was severly injured by the blackjack, it was declared.

Man Mysteriously Hurt.

Found lying on the tracks of the Old Dominion Railway at Garrison Station near Ballston yesterday morning, Lewis G. Kelley, 61, colored, was taken to Georgetown University Hospital by the Ballston Firemen's Rescue Squad. Kelley had a deep gash in his head and was said to be suffering from a possible fractured skull. He was unable to explain the injury.

$600,000 Loan Will Be Asked By Alexandria

Council Votes to Seek U. S. Aid for High School, Streets and Sewers.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria City Council last night considered three propositions for borrowing money from the Government for the erection of a new high school building, and for street and sewer improvements. It was finally decided to apply for a loan of $600,000, provided the city received a grant from the Government of 30 per cent of that amount, and being required to repay only $420,000.

The first proposition submitted by Councilman Davison to borrow $750,000 was lost, only Councilmen Davison, Cooper and Garrett, all from the annexed territory, voting in favor of the resolution.

Referendum Plan Loses.

Councilman Barley then proposed to borrow a maximum of $600,000, and Councilman Dwyer offered an amendment providing that the matter be submitted to a referendum. This amendment was lost by a vote of 5 to 4, Councilmen King, Barley, Dwyer and Lawler voting in the affirmative.

On Councilman Barley's proposition, which was seconded by Councilman Herbert, Councilmen King, Lawler and Dwyer voted in the negative.

A tentative allocation of the proposed loan would provide $300,000 for the high school, $200,000 for street improvements, and $100,000 for sewers. Councilman Barley proposed that the street and sewer money be allocated one-half to the fifth and sixth wards, and half to the other four wards.

This was opposed by Cooper and Davison, they claiming the city owed the annexed territory, under the annexation agreement, much more than this. A list of streets and sewers will be submitted at a later meeting, and this allocation threshed out.

Tentative Street List.

Two tentative lists of streets requiring improvement were submitted, the first consisting of parts of 82 streets to be graded, graveled and surface treated, for which 191,092 square yards of surfacing would be required; the other for parts of 20 streets to be improved with concrete base and bituminous macadam surface, requiring 75,746 square yards. These lists are to be amended, since it was estimated that the proposed improvements would cost more than the entire amount to be allocated to both streets and sewers.

Three Get Terms In Fairfax Thefts

Two youths were sentenced to 12 months each and another given 6 months in the Fairfax County Jail yesterday by Judge Paul E. Brown, of the county court, on charges of petit larceny.

The youths were found guilty of breaking into the automobiles of fishermen on Difficult Run, near Great Falls, Va., and taking clothing, jewelry and other articles. They were arrested last week by Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity following several weeks' of investigation.

Woodrow Poole, 20, of 1250 Thirty-fifth street northwest, and Aubrey Meadows, 19, of Great Falls, received sentences of 12 months each and William Trammell, 16, of 1289 Thirty-fifth street northwest, to 6 months.

Fairfax County Voters Name Delegate Today

Fairfax County voters today in a quiet special election will select a delegate to the special session of the State Assembly which meets in Richmond Thursday. The election was made necessary by the death of Delegate Edmund H. Allen suddenly in July.

John C. Mackall, of Langley, and Herbert F. Williams, of East Woodford, are opponents.

Political leaders expect the lightest vote in recent history.

Two Grilled, Freed In Attack on Woman

Victim Fails to Identify Pair Seized by Posse in Fairfax Woods.

State and county police, searching the Fairfax County woods for a colored man, who early Sunday attacked Mrs. Hazel Mattox, of Belle Haven, yesterday arrested two suspects.

They were released later after Mrs. Mattox and George Dunn, of Accotink, her companion on the attack, failed to identify them.

Mrs. Mattox was attacked at the point of a gun after Dunn had been forced to flee. The attack occurred on the Fort Hunt road, 3 miles south of Alexandria, where Mrs. Mattox and Dunn had parked.

A posse has been searching the surrounding country since.

1933 Carnival Opened By Arlington Firemen

With hundreds of colored electric lights blazing, Arlington Volunteer Fire Department opened its annual one-week carnival last night on the field at the intersection of Bingham road and Columbia pike.

A baseball game between the firemen and police department will be a feature. The proceeds will be applied to the department's maintenance fund.

Maryland Road Sums Approved By U. S. Board

$3,564,527 Is Allotted for Highways; Share by Counties Told.

Allotment of $3,564,527 for building of highways in Maryland has been approved by the Public Works Administration, Maj. E. Brooke Lee, of the Maryland State Roads Commission, announced yesterday.

Montgomery County will receive $49,874 and Prince Georges County $43,695 for construction of secondary roads, Lee said. The allocation of the fund for secondary roads in the 21 counties of the State will be made on the usual post road distribution and mileage basis. Boards of county commissioners will be asked to submit recommendations.

Charles County will receive $32,951; St. Mary's, $27,666, and Calvert, $13,000.

Bids are to be asked immediately on the projects. They include widening of the Belair and Philadelphia roads from Baltimore and parts of the St. Mary's-Leonardtown Highway and improvement of the Annapolis Boulevard from Baltimore to Lippins Corner.

The Maryland funds will be divided into 50 per cent for Federal aid roads, 25 for extensions into and through municipalities of the Federal system and 25 for secondary or feeder roads.

The roads commission has been acquiring rights-of-way for six weeks and practically has completed this important part of the program, Lee said.

The first work started will be the $900,000 East Fayette street entrance to the Baltimore project, which later will be continued into Baltimore and through the city to the Baltimore-Washington Boulevard.

Rules Restated For Firemen's Parade Floats

Many Merchants Planning to Make Entries in Labor Day Event.

Because of many inquiries from merchants requesting information about commercial floats in this year's National Firemen's Labor Day parade, The Post again publishes requirements and restrictions.

Any Washington, Maryland, Virginia or national concern represented in Washington may participate in the commercial division with a float. The entry can not consist of an undecorated bus, or fleet of trucks, taxicabs or cars, but must be constructed along artistic lines.

The float does not have to be expensive, although care should be taken in decorating it. Several experienced decorators are working with the parade committee on this division and are taking care of the details for various merchants.

An entrance fee of $15 must be posted before the parade with the parade committee ,and should be made out to the National Firemen's Labor Day Parade Fund. This will help defray the expenses of the huge firefighters' celebration.

All of the commercial entries should be in by Friday, preceding Labor Day. The firemen have placed a restriction on the number of commercial floats, and are urging merchants to respond as soon as possible with their floats.

This feature of the parade is expected to be one of the high lights of the procession on Pennsylvania avenue. It is recalled by firemen that merchants and commercial concerns really make the rose parade in California every year, and a similar contribution to the beauty of the parade is expected in Washington by the firemen this year.

A unique feature of the bicycle and roller skating sweepstakes to be held just before the parade, will be a race between the telegraph messengers of Washington.

Western Union and Postal have entered teams of their fastest boys in the sweepstakes. They will ride for a special trophy. Try-outs by both organizations will be held this week.

Vast Avalanche Sweeps Cascades

Eugene, Oreg., Aug. 14 (AP).—From climbing parties high on the peaks of the Cascade Mountains today came word of one of the most stupendous spectacles yet witnessed in that range.

Released by the blazing August sun, a tremendous avalanche of rock, snow and ice swept down from the northwest turrets of the South Sister Mountain last Friday morning.

The avalanche, witnesses said, tore across the face of the Clumber Lost Creek Glacier, ripped out a huge segment of Glacier Dam, released a flood of water pent up under the glacier for centuries and carried thousands of tons of red lava ash and debris into the McKenzie River through Separation Creek and Horse Creek.

The usually crystal blue McKenzie ran blood red, the currents saturated by the fine, red ash.

Poisoned Alcohol Suspects Released

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP).—The court today ordered a jury to acquit five Philadelphia men charged with distributing poison alcohol that caused the deaths of 12 persons and blindness to several others.

The prosecuting attorney previously admitted he had not sufficient evidence on which to press for a conviction.

The five were arrested July 26 after a city-wide search for the men who stole a quantity of alcohol left as a decoy by one gang of bootleggers to stop another from raiding a so-called "drop." The stolen alcohol was made up of bottles of supposed whisky, which was widely distributed through the south and west sections of the city.

Bible Issue Brings Battle, One Wounded

Kansas City, Aug. 14 (AP).—Two deacons at a Negro revival meeting had a battle on their hands last night when James Battle, 69, interrupted the sermon of the Rev. A. Griffin with a threat to "preach that Bible right, or I'll put you on the spot!"

The battling Battle was ejected by the deacons, but he returned, police said, with a pistol and began shooting and shouting at the same time. Penn Winters, a member of the audience, was shot twice before Battle was subdued and turned over to police.

Governor Visits Pen; Finds an Old Client

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP).—Gov. Henry Horner returned from a personal investigation of Joliet Penitentiary today with a story.

He was stopped by an old convict, he said.

"Governor, do you remember me?" greeted the prisoner.

Governor did not.

"Why, governor," the man said, "you were my lawyer before you went on the probate bench."

That, Gov. Horner replied, might have been the reason he was incarcerated.

2 Bandits Get $600 In Toll Bridge Holdup

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 14 (AP).—Two men held up the toll taker's office at the State bridge over the Tennessee River, near Trotters Landing, between Nashville and Memphis, today and escaped with more than $600.

Accompanied by a woman, who remained in their automobile during the robbery, the bandits fled toward Memphis.

Funeral Rites For Dr. Miner Set for Today

Surgeon Founded One of Capital's First Private Sanitariums.

Funeral services for Dr. Francis Hannibal Miner, founder of one of Washington's first private sanitariums, will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. today at Wright's funeral chapel, 1337 Tenth street northwest. Burial will be private.

Dr. Miner died Sunday at his home, 1842 Sixteenth street northwest, after a week's illness. He was 69 years old.

Born in Philadelphia in 1864, Dr. Miner was educated in public schools and joined the staff of a Concord, N. H., newspaper as a reporter. In his newspaper work he met the head of the New Hampshire State Penitentiary, Dr. Clarke.

Through Dr. Clarke's treatment of prisoners the young newspaperman became interested in medicine. Coming to Washington he entered George Washington University and after a period of preparation transferred to the Georgetown University Medical School, from which he was graduated in 1895.

He practiced here for a number of years, then became interested in surgery and opened his surgical sanitarium on Capitol Hill, one of the first of its kind in the city.

After operating the sanitarium for several years, he went to Mexico City, where he practiced. Returning to Washington, he joined the staffs of Homeopathic and Sibley Memorial Hospitals.

Dr. Miner was a charter and fellowship member of the Washington Medical and Surgical Society, a member of the Washington Medical Association, the District of Columbia Medical Society and the National Geographic Society.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Brandon Miner; a sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson, and two brothers, Charles and George Miner, of Burlington, Vt.

Requem Mass to Be Read at St. Matthew's for Treasury Veteran.

Funeral services for Dennis Clement Shea, 2344 California street northwest, for 45 years an employe of the Treasury Department, will be conducted at his residence at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow. Requiem mass will be conducted at St. Matthew's Church at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Shea died late Sunday at Providence Hospital.

Born in Bangor, Me., in 1859, he was educated in the public schools of that city. He came to Washington at the age of 23 and entered the Treasury Department as an accountant and remained there until he retired six years ago.

Mr. Shea had an interest in several commercial and real estate enterprises in the city and was a member of the Washington Board of Trade. He also belonged to the American-Irish Historical Society and to the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

He was married October 3, 1900, to Miss Mary Maguire, of Washington, who survives him. Also surviving are three daughters and three sons, Misses Aileen Shea, Mrs. Gibbons Burke, New Orleans; Miss Rita Shea, Dennis Clement Shea, jr., Elizabeth, N. J.; Dr. Francis R. Shea, Washington, and Brandan B. Shea, New Haven, Conn.

$186,532 Estate Left By Anaconda Official

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Albert H. Melin, secretary and treasurer of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., left a net estate of $186,532 when he died September 28, a transfer tax appraisal filed today showed.

Albert H. Melin 2d, a grandnephew, of Kenosha, Wis., was the principal beneficiary, receiving the residue in trust after a trust fund of $25,000 was set up for the widow, Mrs. Marion P. Melin, and $10,000 each to nine other relatives.

Motion Picture Code Will Be Ready Today

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Sidney R. Kent, coordinator of production and distribution codes for the motion picture industry, said today a complete code for the film business would be ready by Tuesday.

He said separate regulations for production, distribution and exhibition of films will be submitted to the Washington authorities as soon as drafted, and will then be welded into one complete code.

Former Queen's Doctor Claimed by Death at 64

Madrid, Aug. 14 (AP).—Dr. Sebastian Recasens, former dean of medicine at the University of Madrid, a lifelong Republican who attended the former queen every time a child was born to her, died today at the age of 64.

The physician, a former president of the Academy of Medicine, was well known in both Americas. He succumbed to cancer.

Blast Evidence Found Missing

Papers Wanted in Hearing on Black Tom Disaster Guilt Disappear.

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—Disappearance of books of check stubs which Federal officials wanted to examine was revealed today at the opening of an inquiry to establish further facts in connection with the Black Tom and Kingsland munition explosions which occurred shortly before the United States entered the World War.

The first witness, Henry G. Hilken, 86-year-old German consul at Baltimore, also told U. S. District Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff all the letters requested between 1914 and 1918 except a few produced in Federal Court, had disappeared.

Hilken was one of the four witnesses who were subpenaed to testify and to bring all books and papers of A. Schumacher & Co., former agents from the North German Lloyd and the Eastern Forwarding Co., an organization founded to handle shipments by commercial submarines.

The Government is seeking to establish the fact that the munitions explosions were the work of German sabateurs in order to collect some $40,000,000 for the damage created by the blasts.

The case already has been heard twice by the Mixed Claims Commission of the United States and Germany, which held the evidence produced did not prove beyond doubt that the two explosions were the work of German sabotage agents.

Contempt Case Lost In Louisiana Fight

New Orleans, Aug. 14 (AP).—On motion of Assistant Attorney General O'Connor, contempt proceedings against Leonard K. Nicholson, president of the Times-Picayune and James M. Colomb, former grand juror, were dismissed today in Criminal District Court.

The action citing them to show cause Thursday why they should not be sentenced for contempt of court was filed by O'Connor, August 2, the day the grand jury was discharged. That was the day after the Times-Picayune published a statement by Colomb charging the grand jury had sought to return a "no true bill" in the November election fraud charges without investigating contents of ballot boxes.

The ballot investigation then was brought into open court after Judge Echezabal discharged the jury when martial law was declared. Counting of ballots on State constitutional amendments in the November election will be resumed in court tomorrow. The action was instigated by political opponents of United States Senator Huey P. Long.

John Jacob Astor, Jr., Gets Father's Fortune

Arthur Davis Noted Engineer Interred Here

Capital Man Was Adviser to Empires' Heads, Friends of World's Great.

Arthur Powell Davis, world-famous engineer, who for 17 years was chief of the United States Reclamation Service, was buried yesterday in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Davis, friend of governors, consulted by heads of empires, died in Oakland, Calif., August 7. Long a resident of Washington, his body was returned here for burial.

Mr. Davis' works included some of the greatest engineering projects ever undertaken. He made most of the early hydrographic examinations of the Panama and Nicaragua Canal routes, was one of the first engineers to urge construction of Boulder Dam, built irrigation works in Turkestan and flood control systems in China.

One of the greatest of his undertakings was the construction of a dam, aqueduct and tunnel 94 miles long to furnish water for nine cities on the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay.

Mr. Davis was married twice, each time to a Washington woman. His first wife, Elizabeth Brown Davis, died in 1917. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Marie McNaughton Davis.

He held numerous offices and engineering distinctions. He was president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, vice president of the Washington Academy of Sciences, president of the Washington Society of Engineers and a member of numerous clubs.

Among pallbearers at his burial was Gov. Gifford Pinchot, a lifelong friend. He is survived by four daughters in addition to his widow.

Wise's Czechoslovakia Speech Assails Reich

Praha, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 14 (AP).—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, honorary president of the American Jewish Congress, speaking at a mass meeting here tonight, declared that the treatment of Jews in Germany created an international problem.

He said that German Jews always had been loyal to their country and had worked and fought for Germany for centuries. Referring to the Jewish boycott of Germany, he asserted that no Jew should buy or sell German goods as long as Germany regards Jews as an inferior race.

Racine Mayor Free in Bribery

State Dismisses Charges Against W. J. Swoboda as Witnesses Fail.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 14 (AP).—Bribery charges against Mayor William J. Swoboda were dismissed today by Court Commissioner Eugene Haley.

The State's case against the mayor collapsed when Oliver Vardy and Orin Alcorn, held in Milwaukee on robbery charges refused to testify at a preliminary hearing before the commissioner. They would not testify inasmuch as they might incriminate themselves, their attorney said.

Vardy formerly was the mayor's secretary. District Attorney John A. Brown had expected through Vardy to substantiate charges that Mayor Swoboda had accepted $3,000 from a Cicero, Ill., gambler who sought to operate gambling resorts in the city. District Attorney Brown moved for dismissal of the charges.

The mayor was arrested 10 days ago and for a few hours he conducted the affairs of the city from the county jail. Later he was released on bond. The mayor vigorously denied the charges. He said he borrowed $3,000, but repaid it when he learned that it came from a man who had been identified with gambling enterprises.

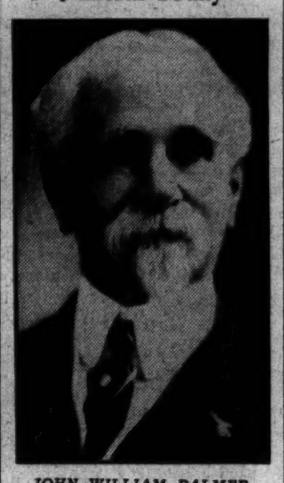
County Treasurer Jailed.

Columbus, Kans., Aug. 14 (AP).—Homer L. Cline, Cherokee County treasurer, was arrested late today by Sheriff Dave Hasenplaugh on a charge of making illegal entries in books of his office.

Placed in jail in default of $25,000 bond, Cline declined to comment. His preliminary hearing was set for August 24.

Three counts were included in the charge. C. E. Shouse, county attorney said, "it is probable that between $60,000 and $80,000 has been misappropriated and embezzled by the county treasurer."

Funeral Today



JOHN WILLIAM PALMER, prominent Mason and Government worker, whose funeral service will be today.

John W. Palmer Funeral Today

45 Years in U. S. Service. Last Almas Temple Charter Member.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for John William Palmer, 92, for 45 years a division chief at the War Department, who died Sunday. The services will be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank W. Carden, 3576 Thirteenth street northwest. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

One of the first settlers in the State of Minnesota, where Mr. Palmer moved with his family in 1854, he was the last living charter member of Almas Temple and a member of long standing in the Masons.

Mr. Palmer retired from the Government service in 1920. Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. Carden, Mrs. George Dempster and Mrs. Frank B. Bourn.

Balbo Disbands Armada And Kisses Each Flier

Orbetello, Italy, Aug. 14 (AP).—Air Marshal Italo Balbo today disbanded his Atlantic squadron which Saturday completed a round trip to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago.

After King Victor Emmanuel and high Fascist officials had witnessed a review of the squadron the marshal briefly thanked the fliers for their cooperation and embraced and kissed each on both cheeks.

Balanced Farm Plan Predicted by O'Neal

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—Conversion of agriculture into a public utility is possible under far-reaching powers of the agricultural adjustment act, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told World's Fair farmer visitors today.

The adjustment act has laid the basis, he said, for a balance between production and consumption of farm products which will reward those who cooperate.

Bullfighter Franklin Plans to Enter Hospital

Cuba's New Regime.

The downfall of the Machado government in Cuba was followed by such turbulence on the part of the populace and elements in the army that some fears were expressed that the new provisional government of President de Cespedes would be unable to regain control in time to prevent fresh excesses and loss of life. For the purpose of protecting American citizens several war vessels were dispatched to the island by order of President Roosevelt.

News from Havana indicates that the disorders are diminishing as the army reasserts its authority. The country-wide strike ended yesterday with the return to work of public employes, railroad and street car men, food distributors, garage and gas-filling operators, taxi drivers and others.

President Roosevelt makes plain in his statement of Sunday that in sending warships to Cuba there is no thought of interfering with Cuba's domestic affairs. He regards the election of the provisional president as constitutional and as paving the way for restoration of a normal regime. The President expresses the sympathy of the United States for the distressed people of Cuba, and promises the aid of this country, through the Cuban government, in relieving them.

President de Cespedes seems to be free from commitments to any political faction in Cuba. He has formed a cabinet composed of various elements, which has taken hold of the work of restoring order and planning economic betterment. In many ways the United States can lend powerful assistance to Cuba, and public opinion supports President Roosevelt in his desire to be of assistance.

World Teachers Meet.

The devotion of teachers to their profession is demonstrated in many ways. With modest pay, and even when pay is not forthcoming or is long delayed, they remain conscientiously at their posts. In no other activity is more earnest desire shown to keep abreast of the times, to become familiar with the best in modern development of methods and technique. Teachers attend their county, State, National and international gatherings, often using their vacation time largely for the purpose of adding to their teaching ability.

In good times and bad, teachers hold their conventions for the purpose of self-improvement. A notable gathering has just concluded its sessions in Dublin. This assembly in the Irish Free State was the fifth annual session of the World Federation of Education Associations. More than 1,000 educators were in attendance, 150 of them from the United States, and in all 27 nations were represented. The topics under discussion covered a wide variety of themes, as is usual in such an assemblage, and it is interesting to note the modern influences in the recommendations of the federation.

The teachers were much concerned with the influence of radio and moving pictures upon the young, not merely as they are employed in the school room today as aids to instruction, but also as they are encountered in the daily life of pupils. One of the prominent resolutions of the convention urged careful study of the good and ill effects of radio and cinema programs upon the young, and counseled instruction in "radio listening" and the evaluation of radio and moving picture programs. These world teachers emphasized the importance of character education, and stressed the need of cooperation between home and school.

Cool Air in Summer.

The far-reaching results which follow the adoption of new devices can not be foreseen in many instances until general use modifies or revolutionizes established methods and habits. The mechanical invention which today promises to bring about most momentous changes in modes of life is the modern cooling system. Artificial cooling is destined to bring about important changes in popular customs.

Every summer Washington affords a striking example of the loss caused by hot weather. Not only are many persons and invalids forced to seek cooler climes, but general business suffers and efficiency is impaired. It is often necessary for the entire personnel of a Government department to be dismissed for half a day because offices become unbearably hot. The necessity for cooling offices during the heated term, now that the remedy is available, will soon be generally recognized.

When to the discomfort and actual loss to business, clerical and student activity from the debilitating effects of hot weather are added the ills resulting from uncomfortable days and restless nights in homes, the need for summer relief is readily appreciated. And if desirable in temperate climates, what a boon mechanical cooling will be in tropic lands! It will be a happier day for humanity when the electric current brings to every home not only heat, light, power, and entertainment, but cool, pure air.

Modern Sewer Systems.

Allocation of public works funds to assist municipalities in constructing sewer systems or extensions seems to afford an opportunity for application of more modern methods which are employed in Europe, and which change sewage from a liability to an asset. The failure to utilize the sewage of New York City to advantage, which results in heavy costs, little revenue and perpetuation of a nuisance along the Jersey coast, may be charged to the shortsightedness of legislators who will not appropriate sufficient funds to establish a modern sewage conservation system. The pollution of the Potomac River by sewage from the National Capital may be regarded as a reproach to Congress, in view of the fact that an adequate sewage disposal system could be installed which would go far to pay for itself by purifying the river and by utilization of sewage for fertilizer and food for fish, wild fowl and other aquatic life.

In the conservation and utilization of water and sewage, as well as in forest conservation, the United States has much to learn from Europe. The use of sewage as a factor in irrigation is practically unknown in this country. Ground filtration of waters and sewage is practiced little if at all. Scientific treatment of sewage, whereby profits instead of losses may result, is the exception in this country. And yet foreign examples may be cited in which the uses of water or sewage are correlated with fertilization of soil, prevention of erosion, propagation of fish and game foods, elimination of malaria and purification of domestic water. American science stands ready to accomplish these benefits in this country, if proper provision is made for installation of modern conservation systems.

Elm Trees Threatened.

The Dutch elm disease, recently discovered in New Jersey, is spreading to other sections. Infected trees have been found on Long Island and Staten Island. It is feared that the entire northeastern section of the country may be visited by this deadly tree disease as it was with the devastating chestnut blight, which killed all the trees of the latter variety in so many States. Prompt measures are being taken to cut down and burn infected trees to stop the spread of the elm disease, but, as in the case of the ravages upon the chestnut, no remedy has been found.

The blight is a fungus disease and affects only elm trees. It first appeared in Ohio, but was thought to have been entirely eradicated until its recent appearance in New Jersey. Many fine trees in the Oranges have been sacrificed, but notwithstanding measures taken so far the infection has spread until it covers 500 square miles in the State. As funds for fighting the disease were limited the Federal Public Works Administration was appealed to, and it has allocated $80,000 to the Department of Agriculture, which will now be in a position to render valuable aid.

When an elm tree is attacked the leaves turn yellow and brown and soon wither. The wood of young growth is first to turn brown and die from the effects of the fungus. The true nature of the disease ravaging the trees in New Jersey was confirmed by the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, at Wooster, Ohio, established after the fight against the invasion of that State. The campaign in northern New Jersey to stop the fungus spread is in charge of experts of the Department of Agriculture. With the additional resources to be made available it is hoped effective measures may be found to prevent the spread of the disease to the many thousands of beautiful elms which add such charm to the homes and streets of eastern towns and villages.

Motorized Cavalry.

An interesting demonstration of the possibilities of motor transport was concluded at El Paso when a squadron of the 7th Cavalry and attached troops returned to Fort Bliss from a 630-mile march accomplished in ten days through the rough, desert country of the Big Bend. The chief feature of the performance was that not only the men and all supplies, but the horses as well, were transported in trucks and trailers. The expedition was a thoroughly complete unit, each man being equipped with a rifle and pistol in addition to the complement of machine guns of various calibers and a .75-millimeter field piece mounted for firing.

The column on the march, stretching out for a mile and a half, was in constant touch with its commanding officer, Maj. John A. Robertson, through radio messages and radio telephone. Longer range radio communication was also maintained with Fort Bliss. The 23 trucks and four-wheel trailers carried 200 men and 180 horses. Over the rough terrain, much of it without roads, transporting everything needed for subsistence from the rolling kitchens and 14 additional supply vehicles, the round-trip journey between El Paso and Terlingua was made in less than half the time that would have been consumed by cavalry.

The column was preceded 20 miles ahead by four armored cars with their supply trucks. The cavalry horses were carried in the 36-foot trailers, eight mounts in each one. On the outward march the column averaged 8 miles an hour, which was increased to 10 miles an hour on the return trip as the drivers became more expert in handling the long trailers. The trucks were equipped with war-time type, four-cylinder Liberty motors, climbing grades as high as 12 per cent with their heavy loads.

It is believed that this trial march indicates the feasibility of concentrating border posts in larger stations and farther apart.

Ireland's Troubles.

Reports that Ireland is threatened by civil disturbances were characterized as "nonsense" by President Eamon de Valera a week ago. Nevertheless, he has invoked the drastic public safety act which virtually puts Ireland under martial law. Apparently the president decided that Ireland's situation is sufficiently grave to warrant strong precautionary measures.

The immediate purpose of this executive order was to prevent a parade by Gen. Owen O'Duffy's so-called National Guard. In some respects the Irish National Guard resembles the Fascist movement in Italy and Germany. The Irish Blue Shirts claim that their purpose is merely to bring about reforms in a constitutional way, but the government insists that the military character of this organization makes its demonstrations a menace to peace.

A statement issued by the government after the public safety act had been invoked suggests that the forbidden parade is only incident in the Irish situation. The statement says:

> In bringing into operation this article the government has in mind not merely the proposed parade of uniformed men, but the fact that firearms are held by members of this and other organizations in the Free State. In such a situation matters which might not otherwise be regarded seriously would lead here, as they have led in other countries, to conditions bordering on anarchy and favorable to the designs of the opponents of democratic rule and to the enemies of our country.

President de Valera's executive order has the effect of suspending all constitutional guarantees of personal liberty; setting up military tribunals, and giving the police and the army sweeping powers. Public meetings may be prohibited and newspapers may be suppressed. There is no indication as to what extent the government intends to use these powers, but apparently Mr. de Valera wishes to be prepared for any emergency.

Ireland's troubles arise from a background of economic difficulties. Failure of President de Valera to agree with the British government upon a settlement of the disputes over land annuities and the oath of allegiance to King George led to the adoption of a nationalistic policy in Dublin and reprisals between the two governments. In spite of Ireland's limited resources, President de Valera is trying to make that country independent of foreign markets, so far as possible. Irish farmers felt a fresh wave of depression when the British market was closed to them. Adverse economic conditions are doubtless a strong factor in the unrest that has led to virtual martial law.

Americanese.

From the Boston Transcript.

When Samuel Johnson was alive the notion prevailed in some English bookish circles that the colonists in America would develop a new language, as different from that of the motherland as Italian is from French, and that there would be little or no sale for English dictionaries here. The most recent pamphlet of the American Dialect Society in some notes on "British Recognition of American Speech," quotes numerous references to the matter. American travelers in England during our colonial period naturally used words and phrases that had their origin in the pioneer life in the New World and the English who heard them trembled lest these innovations should spread corruption among themselves.

There were even Americans during the Revolution who would have liked to see linquistic as well as political independence set up in this country. If we could not develop a new language of our own, a kind of eighteenth century Esperanto, they would have had us change to Hebrew. We see the same spirit in Ireland today among the irreconcilables who wish to extirpate the English language and make Celtic the mother tongue. Of course such a proposal came to nothing amongst us. We did, however, cling to our Americanisms and there is no reason why supercilious Englishmen should regard them as corruptions of the pure tongue.

The hundreds of words that we adopted through our association with the Indians, many of them with a rich symbolism; the phrases that came into use through clearing the wilderness and the development of our political system were as legitimate as those with which the Elizabethans enriched the English language. They are not to be confused with the handful of barbarisms that have crept into the American vernacular—barbarisms which Punch and even an author like Galsworthy put in the mouths of Americans almost invariably wrong end to. Nor does a college professor in America, as Galsworthy would have his readers think, go to school for his English to Ring Lardner's baseball heroes. As well might an American novelist put the frightful jargon of a Suffolk small-town man into the mouth of an Oxford don. They don't speak the same language.

It Is Selfish to Be Unselfish When Unselfishness Pays a Profit

By Robert Quillen.

WHEN people mention the progress of the human race, they usually refer to the things man has done—not to any change wrought in himself.

Man knows much more than he did 2,000 years ago, but his mind and morals are no better. If he has invented no new vices, neither has he invented a new virtue. He is still, as always, dominated by selfishness.

Of course there are innumerable instances of unselfish service and self-sacrifice and heroism. But selfishness is natural; and a great and unusual emotion is required to overcome it.

Much that seems unselfishness is in fact selfish. The lover gives and serves with unstinted generosity, but he is trying to win something for himself. The religious zealot surrenders his life and riches, but he hopes for an eternal reward.

Man's one dependable and dominating motive is desire, and his desire is to benefit himself.

You will say that he takes a bitter pill when he has no desire to take it. But there is a conflict of desires and the stronger wins. He desires the bitter pill more than he desires the alternative suffering.

The hero does not desire death by drowning, but he desires the risk more than he desires the death of the one he rescues.

Analyze it carefully, unbiased by sentiment, and you will find every motive mixed with selfish desire.

Knowing this to be true, you may assume that men will espouse no cause except one that promises a profit.

But selfishness is not always guided by wisdom, and frequently men adopt a selfish course that promises immediate profit and thus lose the greater reward that might have been won by methods apparently less selfish.

That will be true in the present instance. Selfishness urges Business men to take immediate profits, yet "unselfish cooperation" will in the end pay the greater reward.

Grain being scarce, an ignorant and selfish man might refuse to contribute a portion of his wheat for planting, but only the wheat that is planted can multiply and provide a harvest.

Comment of the Press

Congress on Vacation.

Kansas City Star.

What becomes of the members of the House and Senate when Congress is not in session? For months each year the Nation is full of the tumult and the shouting from Capitol Hill in Washington. The names of heroic representatives and senators become household words. Every schoolboy knows about Borah, and "Joe" Robinson, and Robinson of Indiana, and Reed of Pennsylvania, and Dill and Wheeler and Rainey and Snell and the rest.

Then Congress adjourns, and at once a vast void yawns before the Nation. The names that once blazed on the first page of the newspapers suddenly fade out. The statesmen whose words seemed to mean so much abruptly become ordinary citizens, to whom nobody pays attention. Washington and the country become comparatively quiet and peaceful.

In view of the oblivion into which adjournment plunges so many of the great and the near-great, we sometimes wonder how Congress can ever bring itself to quit and go home.

Raskob of Maryland.

Boston Transcript.

It would be a curious circumstance if John J. Raskob, supposed to be shelved politically after putting the Democratic party on its feet so it could elect Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, should suddenly loom up as the Republican governor of a Democratic State. We are assured that this is not an impossibility. Mr. Raskob has a fine home on the famous Eastern Sho' of Maryland, but notwithstanding he at one time wagged the Democratic politics of the country, he has not been active in the political affairs of his own State. However, now that he has been thrown out by the heels by the Roosevelt administration, some one remembers that he used to be a Republican, and the idea is being cooked up in Baltimore that he would make a strong Republican candidate for governor of the State.

Dealing With the Cities.

Houston Post.

Secretary Ickes, as head of the public works administration, takes the practical and common sense view when he rules that the administration will deal directly with municipalities and other subdivisions when allocating money for public works in those areas, and will consider each project on its own merits, without regard to the attitude of State governmental authorities upon them.

There is no reason why the State Government should be asked about public projects in cities. The debt to be incurred in going into partnership with the Federal Government for making public improvements will be assumed by the municipal governments, and not by the State. The people of these cities will pay the debt, not the people of the State. The people of these cities are better judges of what they need in the way of public improvements, and of their ability to repay than are State authorities.

If the decision on what public improvements in cities were to be authorized were to be left to State officials, endless controversy would ensue. Each city almost certainly would contend it was being discriminated against in favor of some other city.

The Haitian Problem.

Louisville Courier Journal.

The Roosevelt administration takes up the work of restoring complete independence to Haiti at the point where the Hoover regime left off last September when its proposals were unanimously rejected by the Haitian National Assembly. Norman Armour, American Minister at Port au Prince, has just signed an accord providing for the removal of the last American Marines by October 1, 1934, or three months ahead of the time stipulated in the Hoover plan. The agreement also provides that collection of customs be left in the hands of an American fiscal representative as a guarantee for the payment of foreign bondholders, but it makes the important qualifications that that officer will be removed whenever the debt is liquidated and that controversies over financial questions, which can not be settled through diplomatic channels, are to be submitted to arbitration.

The Once Over.

By H. I. Phillips.

CODE FOR THE HITCH-HIKER

The hitch-hikers of the United States hereby pledge themselves to the following code, in the hope it will help business and not interfere any more seriously with traffic:

1—The thumb shall be regarded as the official emblem of the industry and shall alone be employed as indicating a desire for free transportation.

2—The use of artificial thumbs giving one hitch-hiker an advantage over another by enabling him to continue signaling long after his natural thumb has become exhausted, shall be considered unethical.

3—It shall be permissible for a hitch-hiker to use all legitimate means to create an appealing personality in the solicitation of free transportation, but the use of masks is prohibited; and no hitch-hiker shall develop, employ or present a smile on the highway which is more than 30 per cent artificial.

4—All bags, suitcases, &c., used by hitch-hikers while soliciting rides shall be honest-to-goodness impediments containing genuine baggage.

5—Such bags, suitcases, &c., when displayed by hitch-hikers on the highways, shall contain actual belongings of the hitch-hiker, and shall not be stuffed with old newspapers for the sole purpose of arousing sympathy.

6—No bag or suitcase exceeding 28 inches in length shall be displayed by any hitch-hiker.

7—The carrying of babes in arms by hitch-hikers, except in such cases where the babies are the property of the specific hitch-hiker or hitch-hikers, is prohibited.

8—Limping—The practice of pretending to be lame, spent, crippled and exhausted through pedestrianism as employed by hitch-hikers has become highly objectionable, and the bogus limp is hereby denounced.

9—The use of prepossessing female "stooges" in overcoming the reluctance of motorists to stop to give anybody a ride is prohibited.

10—Condemnatory language employed toward autoists who pass without stopping or who pick a hitch-hiker up, but refuse to carry him to California shall be permissible up to a certain extent, but epithets now in general usage shall be discontinued.

MILK STRIKE MOTHER GOOSE.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"Milking," she answered, unafraid;
"You are likell," the striker said
As he took her pail and smashed her head.

Gen. Johnson says that a special Blue Eagle with a white vest will be issued to merchants excusably unable to comply with all the regulations. A sort of alibi-tross.

OKAY!

Dear Hi: Our local pinochle club, doing its part for Little Nira, has come out for shorter hours, higher income, reduction of the number of idle, &c., and adopted the following code:

1—We will stop playing at 11:30.
2—We will use only blue chips.
3—No chips shall represent less than a nickel.

F. HAROLD ROEHRIG.

Thomas Vaughan says that many people who think the world owes them a living are having a hard time collecting it.

Business men are already describing the distance between their home towns and Washington as so many miles "as the Blue Eagle flies."

There is now one auto to every five residents of this country. In other words, this definitely fixes the hitch-hikers as four to one.

Letters to the Editor.

Progress of Women in 100 Years Recalled by Centenary of First Coed College.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Oberlin College was founded 100 years ago. It was the first coed college. When the matter of a college education for women was first broached, it was thought to be revolutionary. How times have changed in the past 100 years. The change was slow in respect to female education. In 1839 the first female institution, then known as Georgia College, but now called Wesleyan College, was founded. There were approximately 50,000 female students in coeducational schools in 1890. In 1930 the number had grown to 475,000, while today it may be safely estimated that half of the college and university students are women.

What has higher education done for women? Today the Secretary of Labor is a woman, Frances Perkins; the United States Minister to Denmark, Ruth Bryan Owen, is a woman; Mrs. T. H. Caraway is a United States Senator; there are several women in Congress. Hundreds of women are prominent in business and the professions.

So far, no woman has stepped into the shoes of an Army or Navy officer. But it is freely predicted that eventually a woman will be commander in chief of the Army and Navy. The first hundred years are the hardest.

MERE MAN.

Pension to Widows of Spanish War Veterans Reduced, Says One of Them.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: During July you published an article in your paper dealing with the compromise on veterans' pensions. My attention was called to the article by many people. It stated that widows and dependents of veterans would, under the compromise, receive no reduction except a 10 per cent reduction of the pensions of widows of Civil and Indian War veterans; but that the widows could all be challenged as to fraud, &c., and made to prove the claim.

I wish to call to your attention that the widows of Spanish-American War veterans were reduced 50 per cent regardless of their need. Today we received a check for $15 instead of the usual $30. I, for one, have no other income.

SOLITAIRE has given way to one-handed bridge. At least it has for Paul D. Clutton, plant control inspector, Bureau of Industrial Alcohol. While on the road Mr. Clutton spends much of his leisure working out contract bridge problems of Elby Culbertson as they appear in The Post. By the way, yesterday was his birthday. Felicitations on reaching 46! And, never mind about that thinning hair. You know hair won't grow on a busy street.

Bob 'Toole, A. & I. Marine Corps, gets a lot of razzing these days, due to his being a trustee of the Navy Cafeteria. Ken Hyatt, a Marine sage, avers there isn't much difference between a trustee and a trusty.

WALTER LEROY BARLOW, attorney in the Tax Division, Department of Justice, was born and reared in the big Lone Star State. He attended the University of Texas, from which he received the A. B. and LL. B. degrees. He is also an alumnus of the United States Military Academy. Phi Gamma Delta is his fraternity.

Walter LeRoy Barlow.

Mr. Barlow practiced law in Austin, Tex., until 1926, when he moved to Los Angeles, Calif., where he continued his legal career. During the recent campaign he was honored by being appointed chairman of the State speakers' bureau of the Democratic party, located at Los Angeles. Those who have heard him speak say that he is forthright and forceful. He told us, with a broad smile, that he is a "shouting Democrat," which means, we suppose, that he is rather sold on the principles of his party. He is married and has a 10-year-old boy. Both his wife and son are living in Los Angeles.

It was a hot day when we interviewed this cool lawyer, and when he was asked what he thought about Washington weather the reply was that the "less said about it the better." When we asked him what was his hobby Mr. Barlow told us that he had spent the last four week-ends fishing. As for literature, he prefers sociological and biographical works.

The subject of this short biographical sketch is a rapid, hard worker; he is handsome, broad-shouldered, has a good sense of humor and gives one the feeling that he is very unobtrusively on the qui vive. He has considerable dignity and poise, but doesn't work it overtime. The administration seems to have been most discriminating when they chose Walter LeRoy Barlow.

SLAUGHER of dogs after being kept only 48 hours at the District Pound draws a protest from James P. Briggs (*), Internal Revenue, who is president of the Humane Education Society of Washington.

The society maintains the "Be Kind to Animals Rest Farm" near Potomac, Md. Mr. Briggs says that the heart-rending practice of killing 50 dogs a day at the pound might be considerably lessened if the helpless animals were kept at least a week. Such respite would result in many of them being reclaimed by their owners, who often are away for several days, or if not away, are of the opinion that their pets are simply indulging their natural wanderlust propensity and will come home safely.

Although he regards the present poundmaster, Walter R. Smith, as the best we ever have had, Mr. Briggs, like the poet, Eugene Field, is opposed to all pounds and does not believe in killing dogs. He points out that for a number of years there was no pound in Charleston, S. C., and no bad conditions resulted. Furthermore, he thinks dog owners could do much to prevent the wholesale destruction if they would curb breeding.

Mr. Briggs urges all dog lovers to sign petitions for a law to exempt dogs in Washington from vivisection experiments.

Dresden Dolls Await Buyers And New Home

Very Low Prices Placed on Blouses and Sweaters in Downtown Store.

By Ruth Anne Davis.

There's a new family in town, a very old, European family, a very large family. They are residing just now in an F street shop, but as soon as possible they are going to move in with you. Don't be alarmed. You'll find them delightful guests.

They prefer the mantelpiece or the table to any suite you could offer them. And there's a very good reason why. They're Dresden colonial figures beautifully molded in white china. The little old-fashioned maidens stand in coquettish poses; the colonial gentlemen are bowing, nodding, smiling. A courteous, courtly family for anyone's living room.

There seemed to be no reason for it. At least the shopper couldn't find any. She picked them up and examined them in a Sherlock Holmesian fashion. She looked at the sign again: "Blouses, 25 cents." It must be true. They were cotton sport blouses, an ideal addition to the wardrobe for the casual outing event when the finer, fluffier sort would be totally out of place. And there were skirts, too. Striped corded cotton, or plain piques for $1. What will happen next, we wonder, now that we may buy a skirt and a blouse, a complete outfit, for $1.25?

And Sweaters, Too.

The shopper's wonder was brief. As she turned away from that table she was confronted with another sign reading, "Sweaters, 25 cents." What a colorful display—red jerseys trimmed in tan and blue! With fall on the way, and sweaters and jackets coming more and more into demand there must be a reason for this. She searched for moth holes, torn places, blemishes of any sort. But she found none. Giving the sign a last quizzical look, she shook her head and departed. Bargains will be bargains, it seems.

Wooden bead belts are making the rounds, that is, they're going around. Around the smart young miss's waist. And they're accompanied by bead purses to match. Speaking of chic touches, here's one not to be disdained. Bring out the plainest frock in your wardrobe and let these new accessories lend a touch of distinction.

"Who's that knocking at my door?" A big brass spider? A bat, a cat, or a rat? A Spanish galleon, or a grotesque face? A shop just off Connecticut avenue has a wide variety of door knockers to choose from. If you prefer bright, shining brass, or brass with a dull finish, you may have either. For the old English style of house there are wrought iron knockers in appropriate designs. Only $1.50.

King Baby.

Next thing we know baby will be setting up housekeeping all by himself. The shops are making it perfectly probable. Besides baby chairs, baby beds, baby tables, baby books, and baby everything else that we grown ups have there's a baby dinner set on sale. Can't you see the chubby little tike all dressed up in his blue rompers presiding at his table for a full course dinner? "Caviar?" he'll lisp in his childish way. "Garcon!" the butler will stand at attention. "More hors d'oeuvres for Reginald here!"

Oftentimes the pallor of convalescence is more becoming than the flush of health. Reach over there to your bed table for your hand mirror. Look at yourself very carefully. If this is true in your case prepare to take advantage of your indisposition and conquer new worlds while the conquering's good. Call up an importing shop and have them send one of their gown and bed jacket sets out for your approval. You'll like the pale tearose in the new Ninon silk trimmed in Alencon lace. When you see yourself in this you'll never want to get well. It has the soft, clinging, delicate look that we dream about but seldom see.

Silver Sale.

A downtown store is having a sale on silver and there mights be odds and ends there you've wanted for a long time. Now is the chance! One particularly choice item is the salad bowl with spoon to match. It's very plain and good looking. You may use it as a dessert dish or a fruit bowl, and feel confident that you're serving in a tasteful fashion. Price $1.95.

Most dens even though they were planned tastefully in the first place soon lose their attractiveness by catching all the odds and ends around the house. Make it your fall resolution to see that your den retains its intimate atmosphere but at the same time loses its cluttered-up look. You might even make a fresh beginning and refurnish it to some extent. One of the loveliest additions might be the Indian hand-carved teakwood screen with coffee table to match. If you furnished your entire room around this you could hardly go wrong. Just a suggestion.

Seasonable Produce Delicious

Cauliflower, tomatoes and beans may become an attractive combination for a vegetable dinner. Such a combination contains many of the essential food elements in addition to meeting the test of economy. Tomatoes and beans both are inexpensive and are offered in abundance on local markets.

Cry Baby Trait Best Cured by Ignoring Child

Youngsters Who Cry Too Easily Need Skillful Emotional Management.

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

Marcia was becoming an inveterate cry baby.

She burst into tears at every trifle, until she became a nuisance not only to her family and friends but to herself as well. She was not ill. She was not tired. Her nerves were normally relaxed and there seemed no reason for her incessant display of emotion.

With a boy the danger of such behavior becoming habitual would have been comparatively small, because the tradition of manliness does not allow tears, and he probably would have been cured by a couple of months of school.

Girls and Tears.

But for some reason girls have never been ashamed to cry, and even after two years of school Marcia was as uncertain as an April day and might weep at any moment if things did not suit her.

Her family finally decided to treat her crying as a bad habit which could be broken like any other habit. If Marcia came in tearful over a quarrel with some friend no one paid any attention to her story until she stopped crying. If she cried for rage she was treated as if she were tired and sent to her room to rest.

Crying Doesn't Pay.

If she rebelled at doing some daily task and whined and refused with a hint of tears in her voice, she was sent to her room to recover. She was allowed no privilege for which she cried, was spared no disappointment on account of tears.

When she found that she gained nothing by them, and indeed often caused herself some trouble and inconvenience, she began herself to grow conscious of her failing and to look upon it as something to be overcome, and, her own interest aroused, she was soon able to rid herself of the habit.

Had her parents not treated the matter as they did, Marcia might have become one of those whining women who seem happiest when looking at life through tears.

Cantaloupes May Be Served In Many Ways

Blend Well With Other Fruit in Salads; Taste Better If Served Very Cold.

No matter how you use cantaloupe—or muskmelon, as it is often called—have it cold.

Perhaps the first person to serve a piece of this delicious fruit filled with vanilla ice cream thought of it as a quick way of chilling the fruit and found the result very popular. Lemon sherbet answers equally well, and adds an acceptable flavor.

In hotels and restaurants, cracked ice is often put in the hollow of the fruit but this dilutes the flavor and for home use it is better to chill the cantaloupe by leaving it overnight in the refrigerator.

People vary in their preference for eating cantaloupe. They may serve it with salt, with sugar, or both, or with lemon juice sprinkled over it. When served as an appetizer, it need not always be "on the half shell."

You can dice it or make melon balls and serve it in fruit cocktail cups. Or combine the pieces with two or three other fruits, chosen from oranges, grapefruit, apples, pineapple, bananas, peaches, grapes, or berries. Half cantaloupe balls and half watermelon cubes make a colorful combination and a good blend of flavor.

Use any of these mixtures with cantaloupe for fruit cup or dessert, or a fruit salad with mayonnaise or whipped cream dressing. Gelatin can be added to any fruit juice or syrup used to mold these mixtures into a fruit jelly. Lemon jelly with pieces of cantaloupe cut up in it is delicious.

Cantaloupes are abundant and inexpensive. Some of the best are coming in from Maryland farms. These are the green-meat variety.

Regardless of the type or kind of cantaloupe you select, whether it is round and yellow or more egg-shaped and green, you should make sure that it has not been bruised.

A good way to select a cantaloupe is to press the stem end. If it yields slightly the cantaloupe is ripe. If it feels quite soft, it probably is over-ripe.

The sense of smell is quite important too in the selection of a good cantaloupe. It should smell as though it would taste good. If it smells sour, it's too ripe. If it lacks that "musky" odor, it is too green.

Jellied Chicken Loaf.

(Other fowl or meat can be used)
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
4 tablespoons cold water.
1 cup boiling chicken stock
2-3 cup diced cooked chicken
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1-3 cup finely chopped celery
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon onion juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Soak gelatin and cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling stock and stir until gelatin has dissolved. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Add rest of ingredients and pour into glass mold. Chill until stiff. Unmold onto platter and garnish with parsley.

If chicken stock is not available a bullion cube can be dissolved in cup of boiling water and used or one cup of boiling water can be substituted for cup of chicken stock.

What Today Means

By Mary Blake.

"Leo."

If August 15 is the date of your birth, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 10:30 a. m., from 4 to 4:50 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:40 to 8:55 a. m., and from 11:35 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Influences operating on this date will tend to make people careless in the handling of money. There is danger of losing money and a great possibility that money will be spent in such a manner as to bring a poor return. Doctors will be most hopeful concerning their patients and will do much to uplift their spirits.

The child born on this August 15 will probably be a ravenous eater and will require much exercise of a strenuous type. This child will always be on hand when you want him and will seldom live up to what is expected of him. Do not plan too far into the future for this child, as his existence will probably not run along any fixed channels there will be much change for him in all ways.

If August 15 is the date of your birth, you will probably spend the best part of your life acquiring knowledge and information that you will later put to good use and from which you may derive great monetary gain. Success will not come early to you, but it will come, and will not be fleeting. You are a person who plans carefully and systematically; your rewards never come as surprises to you, for you have definitely striven with them in mind. You have many and fine friends, and they will do you a great amount of good in many different ways; they are always working for your best interests. You are indifferent to your surroundings and to the people with whom you work. Adverse criticism does not slow you up or turn you off your course. You do not work particularly well in a group, but will succeed best if you can get off by yourself.

Born on August 15, you are inclined to be selfish. Your family ties are not strong. You are very definite in your likes and dislikes. You are opinionated and do not hesitate to express yourself on almost any subject, regardless of the amount of knowledge you may or may not have on that matter. When it comes to affairs of the heart and relations with those of the opposite sex, you are inclined to be domineering and to think only of your own pleasures. You probably will not marry because of any great love; your romance will be tempered with practical reasoning.

Weight Lost More Easily In Hot Months

Trim Body Lines for Fall Styles Attained by Self-Discipline.

By Elsie Pierce.

Letters are pouring in—many of them—announcing gleefully "I've reduced 10, 18, 20 pounds this summer."

All gratifying to say the least. All definitely convincing that the good old summer time is the best time to wear down the bulges, cut down the excess poundage. One's natural inclinations toward lighter diet, with climate commanding plenty of liquids, fruit, fruit juices and vegetables makes it so much easier to eat more food yet have the calories count up less.

Speaking of salads, magazines, papers, and cook books are crammed full of splendid summer dishes, an infinite variety to tempt the palate.

Keep Summer Menu Light.

Fried foods, heavy foods, extra-nourishing dishes are taboo on hot summer days. Can't even tempt a 200-pound he-man with them. Rich desserts have no place in summer menus either. Put them off for a colder day when you'll have less weight to worry about.

Enough about the summer diet. If you have a hearty appetite on a sweltering day and haven't the will power to say "nay" to foods that are all too rich in calorie values, you're not the reducing kind.

Exercise and Exercise.

Apart from the lighter foods, summer with its swimming and sports should educate one to exercise. Get into the water and keep moving, actively. Avoids a chill. Avoids bulges too. Keeps flesh from settling. Makes for a smooth, flowing line.

Cultivate some hobby that will keep you exercising. If you are serious about this business of reducing, you'll do the daily dozen night and morning if nothing else. And do the exercises that you need most. If your weight is distributed unevenly—"spotty"—aim at the troublesome spots. It will thrill you to see them wilt away.

If you're vacationing, keep moving. Eat less. Exercise more. Know your calories. Knowing what you should weigh too. Make the mark on the scale (or a mark within ten pounds of it anyway) your target.

Heigh Ho! We're ten pounds lighter, look ten years younger, feel ten thousand times freer. All's right with the world. Bring on the fall wardrobe. No need to squeeze the hips into that darling dress. They'll flow in. We'll look swell.

Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for more reducing hints.

Plea.

By Katherine W. Smith.

Suffer me to come to you
And fill your upturned hands with flowers.
Let me shield you when the sun
Beats too persistently, or showers
Fall with springtime suddenness
And wet your hair. Or let me keep Watch for you when night has filled
Your eyes with care-forgetful sleep.

Let me stand beneath your window
When the light within burns low,
Let me hear your voice call to me
Once, before I turn and go.

Asheville Salad.

2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
1½ cups canned tomato soup
2-3 cup cream cheese
1 cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green peppers
¼ cup chopped pimento-stuffed olives
2-3 cup mayonnaise
1-3 cup whipped cream
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika

Soak gelitan and cold water 5 minutes. Add tomato soup which has been heated to boiling point. Stir until gelatin has dissolved. Cool and fold in rest of ingredients. Pour into glass loaf mold or into individual molds which have been rinsed out with cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold on lettuce and surround with little more mayonnaise.

Favorite Bread Adds Tasty Touch to Sketchiest Meal

Dark Nut Bread, Johnny Cake and Bran Bread Easily Made.

The sketchiest summer meal takes on a dressy air when there's a quick bread of some sort on the table. Say a good brown bread studded with nuts and raisins—prime eating with a big summer salad, as "Ma" Ferguson, Governor of Texas, will testify. Or a crumbling-tender Johnny cake for eating hot with plenty of butter—a lingering memory of banker Frank A. Vanderlip's childhood days in Illinois. All these breads are easy to make, take only moderate oven heat, and mostly bake in 20 to 45 minutes. In cases where the mixture is a little stiff, or heavy with nuts and fruit, these breads are better with 20 minutes rising before baking. But all in all, the whole business of making them is so simple, once you get the knack of it you'll wonder why you didn't put yourself in the way of more praise by serving them more often.

Dark Nut Bread.

Here's dark nut bread, for example—one of the most favored and most useful of all quick breads. Not only for serving just with butter, but for making up into sandwiches with all sorts of delectable fillings.

For this, first sift together the following ingredients: 2 cups whole wheat flour, 1 cup sifted white flour, 1-3 cup brown sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon soda. Return to the mixture the part of the whole wheat flour that doesn't go through the sifter. Then combine 1-3 cup molasses, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter—and stir this into dry ingredients. Then add 1½ cups broken walnut meats.

Stir just enough to blend ingredients, then turn into a greased loaf pan. Then rise 20 minutes. Then bake in moderate oven (375 F.) for about 45 minutes. This recipe will make one loaf in a pan about 8 by 4 inches. Or two loaves in pans about 6 by 3 inches.

Johnny Cake.

When you get Mr. Vanderlip's hankering for hot Johnny cake to dress up your meal of green vegetables or what not, you can have it in double-quick time, like this: First mix and sift together 2 cups corn mean, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon soda. Then beat up 2 eggs, add 2 cups sour milk or buttermilk and 2 tablespoons of shortening, melted. Stir the liquid ingredients into the dry ingredients. Turn into a shallow, greased baking pan, and bake in a hot over (425 F.) about 25 minutes.

Quick Bran Bread.

For another time, you'll likely want to have bran bread in your repertoire. (Try it toasted, and spread with butter while hot.)

This recipe starts, of course, with bran. Two cups of it—added to 1 cup sifted white flour, 1 teaspoon soda and ½ teaspoon salt, first sifted together. Then combine 1 cup thick sour milk or buttermilk with ¼ cup molasses and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Stir this second batch of ingredients into the first batch. Turn the mixture into a greased loaf pan. And bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 45 or 50 minutes.

Orange Bread.

Among the popular fruit breads is orange bread. This delicious food is prepared as follows:

First mix and sift these ingredients: 3 cups sifted white flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 6 tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt. Then beat up 2 small eggs, combine them with 1½ cups milk, and stir into dry ingredients. Next stir in 4 tablespoons melted butter, ½ teaspoon orange extract and 1 cup candied orange peel cut into thin slivers. Turn mixture into a greased loaf pan and let stand 10 minutes. Then bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 45 to 50 minutes.

Bread may become important menu item when preparing summer meals. Many notable persons favor such preparations as dark nut bread and Johnny cake.

The Family Marketer

Spring Baking Chickens Are More Plentiful and Prices Somewhat Lower; Fish Recommended by Bureau as Through-the-Week Food.

By Hoyt Barnett.

Young baking chickens are more plentiful this week. And the price is somewhat lower, too.

A young baking chicken is a frier that has added another pound of weight. In recent weeks these have been scarce. The price, naturally, has been two or three cents above that of friers.

The average spring baking chicken weighs about four and a quarter pounds. Heavier ones are considered choice, and generally are priced accordingly. The cool weather makes the preparation of a young baking chicken a less tiresome task.

Friers and broilers are plentiful and selling generally at 25 cents a pound—or a few cents higher, depending upon quality.

Eat Fish More Often.

Many persons associate fish exclusively with Friday. But this feed should be on the family menu more frequently than once a week during some seasons of the year.

Scallops, blue fish and hardheads are plentiful now.

Fish is particularly well adapted to hot weather. It does not generate the heat within the body that comes from certain beef cuts.

At the same time, fish contains many nutritive elements not found in such large quantities in any other type of food.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries is spending considerable time trying to convince the public that fish should be eaten at least two or three times each week. The bureau is having moderate success. But if the public were thoroughly familiar with the nutritive elements of fish the task would be easier.

Vegetables Plentiful.

A large assortment of local vegetables is selling at reasonable prices.

Peppers, which may be used in a large number of ways, are so cheap right now that one feels as if he has received a gift when he takes some home.

In some places they are selling as low as 1 cent each. They may be purchased almost anywhere for three for a nickel.

The relatively cool weather of the past week has improved the quality of corn on the cob. It is selling at three for a dime. Some shop owners charge even less.

California peas are cheaper this week. The quality is just as good as it was, however.

More cauliflower is available. Celery is about the same price as last week. Much of it comes in from New York State.

Blackberries are of first quality.

Cantaloupes and watermelons are very inexpensive. Excellent cantaloupes are coming in from Maryland. Some of the best watermelons are from the Carolinas and Florida.

Retail Food Prices.

Eggs—Government inspected, 29 to 31 cents; extras, 25 to 27 cents; loose, mediums, 23 cents.
Butter—Prints, 29 to 31 cents; tubs, 27 to 29 cents.
Poultry—Broilers, 25 to 30 cents; fryers, 25 to 30 cents per lb.; spring baking chickens, 22 to 30 cents per lb.; heavy hens, 22 to 25 cents per lb.; medium hens, 23 to 25 cents per lb.; light hens, 19 to 21 cents per lb.
Potatoes, 3½ to 4½ cents per lb.
Peaches, 15 to 20 cents per 2½-lb basket.
Cantaloupes, 5 to 10 cents each.
Corn, 10 cents for three ears.
Peas (California), 8 cents lb.
Lima beans (shelled), 25 cents a quart.

What's in Fashion?

Fall's Shoes Higher-Cut Often Combine Materials

Directed by Amos Parrish.

Maybe even fashions have feelings and it's the upward turn of things that's put such a high spirit into them from top to toe. Hat crowns give you a couple of added inches. Shoulders tend to rise. And many shoes, too, are high-cut.

The oxfords particularly show this height. Some of them have from five to eight eyelets . . . often going clear down on the toe to accentuate the high effect. The three and four eyelet types are still popular for general wear, however; and the two and three eyelet dressier ones for afternoon. The one shown at the bottom of the illustration hits a happy medium with six.

Stepins Use Buckles.

Pumps, next in importance to oxfords, measure up to high standards with styles that come well up on your instep. Some have big colonial buckles, or high square leather buckle effects, such as you see in the shoe in the center of the sketch. But if you think your own foot looks better in a pump that's not quite so high, the classic opera is in good standing, as always . . . either plain or trimmed.

The new strap pumps make an exception to the rule, wearing their straps lower than ever, so that they look almost like a very high step-in pump. Though you'll still see broad T-straps with walking costumes and the slim ones with afternoon frocks.

Contrasting Materials.

In looking at the illustration you've probably spotted another new fashion—combining two materials in one shoe. The most unusual way it's done is in that new side-fastening oxford at the top. Suede or fabric is laid over kid in a kind of spat effect, as you see.

The six-eyelet oxford shown comes in a new material—a kid, which is grained to look something like the smart dress fabric, bengaline. And for contrast, plain kid trimming is used.

Kid and suede, the two most-seen materials, will be combined with each other and with other leathers, such as reptile, patent and grained leathers. Calfskin, alone or with suede, and sturdy grained leathers, will do the biggest share of sports and walking.

Two-Tone Effects.

Many shoes combine colors as well as materials . . . or rather, two tones of one color. Such as two shades of gray or two shades of brown. And for solid colors, black and dark brown step 'way ahead as usual.

You'll find that heels, even when fairly high, are squarish and sensible. Wearable, comfortable, the kind healthy feet demand.

Leaflet on Foot Care.

Speaking of healthy feet brings to mind our leaflet on taking care of your feet and improving them with exercises if they're not healthy. Many women have been making use of this information, so that they're going to be ready for the new shoes with what seem like brand-new feet. If you'd like some help, too, send in the coupon as instructed.

WOMEN'S SHOES, THIRD FLOOR.

NRA Woman's Group Starts Local Drive

Punishment Planned for Those Who Fail to Aid Program.

The lieutenant general of the newest in armies sat at her desk with campaign plans spread in front of her.

Miss Etta Taggart, leader of the local women organized to promote the national recovery act, spoke earnestly.

"It will be a fight—a fight to the finish," she said, "but victory lies ahead of us. Each major, each captain, all our regiments are working toward one end—to see that the great Blue Eagle spreads its wings over the entire District of Columbia!"

She held her head in military fashion as she spoke of battle plans. But there was no khaki uniform, no brass buttons, only a soft blue tailored dress contrasting with her shining black hair, that brought out the blue of her eyes.

"So far I have met everywhere with enthusiastic response," she continued, "but of course there will be those who will refuse to sign the pledge. They will be punished, severely punished.

"How? I can not say definitely now. However, they will be. Perhaps through publications, a kind of white list, you see. Boycott is an unpleasant word, but to some extent it will be that."

Actively on Job.

She picked up her pencil and made a note which she slipped into her files. "There is so much to remember, our field is so wide," she explained, "that whenever I think of new ideas I put them down in black and white then and there.

"The women of this country represent 85 per cent of the buying power. It is up to these women to buy. Our slogan will be 'Buy till it hurts—buy under the outspread wings of the Blue Eagle!'

"Sixteen years ago our boys were called upon to fight for our country, to make it safe for us. Today we women are called to save us from the great calamity which has threatened.

"Our regiments will make house to house canvasses to talk to the housewives, to tell them that it is their patriotic duty to uphold our great and fearless leader, the President of the United States, in his industrial plan to bring prosperity back to the Nation!

Must Follow Duty.

"It will not be easy in all cases, but they must know their duty and follow that. For instance, if a store which has not signed the pledge sells two dresses for $20, and another store which is working under the code sells only one for that price, it is up to the women to sacrifice, to buy only one dress, to cooperate with the merchant who has signed the pledge.

"In the long run it will be a saving for them. For unless they boost this great plan to success, they will pay in taxes.

"There is a $22,000,000,000 national debt which must be met, either by this means or by taxation.

"Under President Roosevelt's plans the national recovery act will put 12,000,000 people to work. They will be wage earners, and these are the people who put money into circulation."

She paused a second as she made another note.

"Of course, there are people who criticize, but I always suggest that they submit a better plan. So far, no one has," she added a bit dryly.

"The code will go into effect for two years. Why not give it a chance?"

Miss Janie McDonald Weds E. A. Petticrew

By Robert D. Heinl.

IT took them two years and a half to do it but operatives of the Department of Justice and inspectors of the Federal Radio Commission finally located on outlaw radio set which Brooklyn rumrunners were using to communicate with ships at sea relative to their landing liquor along the Long Island and New Jersey shores.

A direction finder which the Federal agents were using pointed to an automobile they were passing at 4 a. m. yesterday in the vicinity of Sheepshead Bay. This remarkable device not only revealed that there was a portable radio transmitter in the car but that the two rumrunners in it were at that time actually transmitting messages to two ships, one 15 miles out to sea and the other one 30 miles out.

The car kept cruising slowly up and down the waterfront. Finally about 11 o'clock in the morning it stopped at a street intersection, at which time the Federal authorities enlisting the aid of the police swooped down with drawn pistols upon the occupants. One of the men jumped into the sea but both were finally taken into custody, and their radio set confiscated.

They were charged with violating the radio act by operating an unlicensed radio station. Both pleaded not guilty but were held by the United States commissioner for further hearing September 12.

Walter Pitkin and William Harlan Hale will debate the question, "Does Life Begin at Forty?" over the WJZ network, but probably not WMAL, at 3:45 p. m. Pitkin, author of the "Life Begins at Forty," will take the affirmative. Hale, an associate editor of Vanity Fair, will uphold the negative.

FRED STONE, comedian, said during his broadcast with Will Rogers that beginning two weeks from next Sunday night tabloid versions of the Montgomery and Stone successes would be broadcast. They will follow the engagement of George M. Cohan, who makes his bow next Sunday night.

The Montgomery and Stone shows, with music by the late Victor Herbert, were the biggest hits of their day, and included "The Wizard of Oz," "The Red Mill" and "The Old Town." After Montgomery's death, "Jack o' Lantern" was produced and later "Stepping Stones," with Miss Dorothy Stone, who will assist her father in the forthcoming broadcasts.

The Rogers-Stone broadcast was a hilarious affair, especially the singing of Will Rogers, about which even the latter apparently had no illusions. The act was introduced by a cut-in from Washington for Col. Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the Senate, to remind Rogers that 74 senators had signed a petition for the comedian's permanent return to the air. Col. Halsey urged that Rogers do this at once.

Referring to the recent visit of the governors to Hollywood, Will Rogers said that he was on the reception committee and that herding Democratic governors was like herding sheep, but that herding Republican governors was like herding goats. He said there were now only eight Republican governors "in captivity," and they were being used mostly as exhibits for museums and circuses.

"There is no such person as Greta Garbo," Rogers remarked, introducing Stone to Hollywood; "Marlene Dietrich plays both parts!"

Stone caused considerable merriment with his proposed code for broadcasters. There was a clause in it aimed to discourage crooners.

"You can't discourage crooners," Rogers retorted. "It's a disease and every time they see a microphone they have a relapse."

Stone said the plan was to shoot them.

"Who'll do the shooting?" Rogers inquired.

"Soldiers," Stone replied, "that will put more soldiers to work."

"What are you going to do with Chamber of Commerce orators?" Rogers asked.

"Let them talk into a dead mike!"

"How about Jack Pearl, this Baron Munchausen who tells all the lies?"

"We'll put him with the politicians," Stone answered.

Finally Stone wanted to know what the code would do with "this fellow who says 'All I know is what I read in the newspapers.'"

"Let the people continue to tune him out, as they always do," Stone concluded amid much laughter.

Fred Allen, heard with Ferde Grofe, writes his material in his study. According to Portland Hoffa, his wife and air accomplice, this room is furnished entirely in brown . . . because Fred does his best work while in a brown study.

A high-jacker stuck a gun at Bert Lahr during the latter's broadcast skit, saying "Give me half of what you've got!"

"If you get that," Lahr replied, "all you'll have will be the 3½-year itch."

Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, in the National Radio Forum over WRC network at 9:30 p. m. . . . The arrival of a new tennis champion in 1930 will be dramatized under Ted Husing's direction during the program with Belasco's Orchestra, Barbara Maurel and the Hummingbirds over WJSV at 9:30.

The Public Forum on Racketeering proceedings at the Association of the Bar in New York City will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10:15 o'clock this morning by WJSV and from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by WRC.

APPROPRIATE for a summer night two light operas will be on the menu tonight, "The Beggar Student," WMAL, at 7 o'clock, and "H. M. S. Pinafore," WJSV, 9:45 o'clock.

Vaughn De Leath, original crooner, probably will not get to first base on the suggestion that she be made Federal Radio Commissioner, but it may put the idea into the head of some other woman with more political pull.

The next commissioner's term to expire is W. D. L. Starbuck, a Democrat, of New York, February 23, 1934. Maybe some enterprising woman will go after his position.

Woman Mayor Advising Sex To Stay Home

Chief Executive of Issaquah, Wash., Believes Men Too Smart in Politics.

Issaquah, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP).—Woman's place is in the home, not in politics, says Mayor Stella Alexander, who's in both.

She should know, for she is just catching her breath after winning a whirlwind recall battle that followed her attempts to "clean up" Issaquah.

The "fightning feminine politician" of this tiny mining town was elected, to the surprise of its regular political figures, on a platform calling for the same kind of economy in civic affairs that a good housewife practices in the home.

She walked from her husband's blacksmith shop to the town hall. Then the trouble started.

The woman mayor reported balancing the budget and paying off Issaquah's $893 debt. She then started what she called "an investigation of previous administrations." She also fired the town marshal on the ground he was inefficient.

"Men Too Smart."

"Men are too smart for women in this political business," she said.

Then she explained what happened.

"Three members of the council quit," said the woman mayor. "They said I was trying to be a dictator. The town treasurer refused to okey my expenses. He took the official records to his woodworking shop, after locking up the town hall. The council cut the salary of my appointee to the marshal's post. The fire chief quit and the council told me I would have to pull the fire truck myself. A recall petition was filed in court."

She beat the recall move, but said she would not try politics again.

"Women don't know enough about politics," she said, "but don't get the idea that I'm going to quit under fire. My term runs until next June, and we'll fight it out.

"I have saved the town money. I haven't played politics because I don't know how. Perhaps the men would have liked me better if I had played the game their way. I'd rather cook for John," she added, waving her shopping bag, which bulged with what resembled a roast, potatoes and squash, with celery sticking out the top.

John Out of Voting.

John, who is a British subject, takes local politics philosophically, since he's out of the voting.

"I think she's given them a good administration," he said.

Answering the "dictator" charges, his wife, who has served on the council before and does practical nursing in her spare time, said, "the issue is not one of personalities but of good government."

"Issaquah can be one of the most beautiful little towns in the State if it is run properly. The real reason the politicians are after me is because I've been looking too closely into events that preceded my administration."

Kiwanis Club Entertains At Tuberculosis Camp

Fifty children and 100 adults at the Tuberculosis Health Camp, at Fourteenth and Upshur streets northwest, were guests last night at the second of a series of Kiwanis Club entertainments.

On the program were Miss Dorothy Reddish, Fred East, William F. Raymond, Mrs. Raymond, Clyde Melville and Fred A. Schutz. William R. Schmucker led group singing. The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a watermelon party at the camp Saturday.

Chic Felts Designed for Autumn's Smart Women

This new stencil felt resembles the orchid in design. Something of the flower's delicacy is evidenced in the wavy tracing through the soft felt. Shown in gray, navy, brown, green, wine and black.

Molyneaux designs this olivette green sport hat in stitched felt. Note the breezy Alpine trimming and saucy peak in back. It, too, has already climbed the heights—of fashion. Also shown in sel gray and brown.

Le Monnier takes his inspiration from Mercury for this little black felt draped toque. The wing effects are of felt. Mercury's staff, in silver and red, ornaments the front. And in winning approval, this daring model is also swift.

Specially sketched for The Post from Jelleff Models.

A number of games will be featured at the fete which will continue through Saturday. A $5 gate prize will be awarded each night.

Culbertson on Bridge

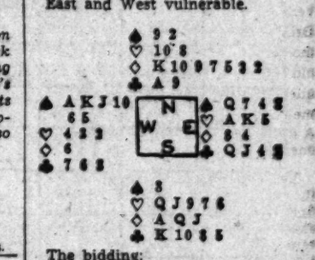
The Problem of Defense.

SQUEEZE plays at Bridge are based upon one simple and understandable proposition—namely, that if sufficient pressure can be applied, a player charged with defense at all points must sooner or later surrender, and in such case the whole defense crumbles because an irresistible force has met what proves to be not an immovable body. Often when a player finds himself in the grip of a squeeze, he has reason to bemoan the fact that he did not cash or attempt to cash his Aces and Kings earlier in the game, because a number of squeezes are developed only through the fact that the opponents did not take their winning cards when they had the opportunity.

An example of this type of squeeze occurred in the recent team-of-four game for the championship of southern New England, held at New London, Conn. The hands were:

East, Dealer.

East and West vulnerable.



The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♣	1♡	1♠	2◇
2♠	3◇	3♣	4◇
4♣	Pass	Pass	5◇
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, the explanation for North's five-diamond bid was that he felt he was defending against a game in spades bid by vulnerable opponents. As a matter of fact, that game, to say the least, was problematical, and probably could not have been made although there existed the possibility of establishing a club for a heart loser. In any event, the bid was a sound one, even if North should have been defeated.

The opening lead was a small spade. West won it with the King and returned a spade, feeling that as the Declarer could take the ruff in Dummy in any event, nothing was to be lost by turning the situation over to him at once. The trick was won in the Dummy with the Knave and the Ace of diamonds laid down, followed by the Queen, which was overtaken with the King. Now North laid down the heart 10. East won, and studied the situation with considerable care. If North's holding was three clubs and a singleton heart, an attempt to cash the remaining high heart would automatically present the contract to the Declarer. Of course, if North held two hearts, the remaining high trick in that suit might be cashed and the rest of the tricks conceded, but to East the bid suggested the probability of three clubs rather than two hearts in the closed hand, and therefore he decided that the safest course was to return another spade. North ruffed and then proceeded to lay down the remaining trumps, discarding from Dummy all the hearts. Against this line of play East was entirely helpless. At the end, hoping that his partner held the heart eight, he discarded the heart Ace. North then took the last three tricks with the good heart in his own hand and the two high clubs.

Seeing Father Off

(All rights protected by the George Matthew Adams Service. Trade Mark Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

By Mary Brook Lucas

The Stylefinder family have gone down to see Father off on his trip. Mother is all in white, with a leghorn hat oddly trimmed in crocheted black rings edged with monkey fur, in the bizarre fancy of the moment. Note the wide yoke of her gown. This is a smart new device for wide shoulders.

In honor of Father's visit to Washington, Mother is in white, Jeanne in red and Judy in blue. Jeanne's hat has the new Tyrolean lines, with an interrogation point feather in the back. Her blouse of red and white peasant embroidery is gathered with a cord and tassel at the neck.

Judy looks dashing in a slightly pointed hat of blue felt, with sections fagoted together and topped by a white feather. Her dress is a sheath of the new lastex satin in blue, and has a wide shirred collar of the same. She wears a large bunch of corn flowers.

Sister has combined all the national colors in her practical costume! A white cap with new lines bears a red pompon, and her dark blue coat is edged with red braid and has red buttons. Brother supports the Navy in a white gob's hat and sailor suit with red collar.

Walt Mason, Himself

Orange Juice.

WHEN feeling like the deuce I drink some orange juice; my nerves revive, I feel alive, and fit for any use. It is a noble drink, and passing cheap, I think; the poorest man may swig a can, and not to ruin sink. The vitamins are there, those elements so rare which never fail to make men hale, the doctors all declare. Authorities unite to lecture and to write, in praise of this, the drnk of bliss, which does not make up tight. I turn the kopecks loose to buy the orange juice: for three-plus-two or other brew I have but little use. The Juice of which I speak is wholesome, mild and meek, and it bestows to my long nose no broad and crimson streak. It soothes my jaded life, relieves the strain and strife; when I've in me two quarts or three, I do not beat my wife. A beaker tall I drain, it does not cloud my brain; and when I wake I do not ache with stale hangover pain. My anguish it allays in many pleasant ways; and when I'm done I have not won ten dollars or ten days. This drink I recommend to every thirsty friend; it fills a need, it does not lead to an untimely end. It leaves the breath quite sweet, it tangles no man's feet, it does not bring the words that sting from peelers on the beat.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York.—There has been much ado about the name of Helen Twelvetrees. In fact, this movie star once decided, in the hearing of newspapermen, that she saw no reason why she should give up an old family name because it happened to be of an unwieldy length to place in electric lights.

What she failed to mention was that she inherited this name from her first husband, Clark Twelvetrees, son of the well known artist.

Withal, the item I started to mention is that there are others on this whirling globe who have similarly odd names. In the island of Suva there is a harbormaster named Twentyman. The second engineer of the S. S. El Mundo is named Twoton. A newsboy on Rector street is named Twospades. A Chinese laundryman on West Forty-seventh street is named One-sun.

Piker!

A robber crab has such strength in its claws that it can break a man's arm. The crabs along Long Island shore are weaklings. The best they can do is to make you say, "ouch!"

Annette Kellerman, she of the perfect figure, has been in Australia for eight years. Her niece, Alice, is dancing in a Broadway night club. Alice spends all her saving studying for the dramatic stage.

Texas Guinan says that she will soon take her girly-girl show to the Orient. It is doubtful that she will ever appear again in New York. It seems that Texas made too many wisecracks about Manhattan politicians, and it has long been known that Tammany has anything except a sense of humor.

Peaches Browning is working in a Connecticut night club. In the meantime, her former husband, Daddy Browning, can be glimpsed every night on that Hudson River showboat.

Russell Markert, dance director, is nicknamed "Bootsy."

Nita Naldi, erstwhile movie vampire of the days when Theda Bara was in her glory, has returned from her Paris domesticity and is now a dramatic actress. She will be in that new Ivor Novello play, "Party," which William A. Brady is producing.

The Last Man.

Incidentally, Brady is the single producer of the old days who is still active on Broadway. He was once manager of Gentleman Jim Corbett and he was the first owner of that hit "Within the Law," which gives you an idea of how far back he goes.

The producers of that era who are still living—such as Al Woods, Charles Dillingham, George Tyler, Winthrop Ames and Arthur Hammerstein—all are active at the moment. All of them except Brady, who succeeded to the title of dean of producers when David Belasco died.

Fannie Hurst is an enthusiastic party attender.

How to Keep Well

Open Season for Pellagra.

Pellagra can be prevented by a diet of the right kind, provided it is persistently used, and by abstaining from alcholic beverages. Those who persist in drinking moonshine, bootleg liquor, and such will continue to pay tribute to pellagra, regardless of how much information piles up. Those who, because of lack of resources, or because of peculiarities of taste, continue to live on a diet composed largely of sweets and starches, and quite deficient in lean meats, chicken, eggs, and other pellagra-preventing foods, will likewise continue to pay tribute to this disease.

Pellagra is curable as well as preventable. The cure does not consist in taking any kind of medicine. There is no hope for the poor person who has pellagra because of poverty and who further impoverishes himself by wasting his money on pellagra cures and specifics. Hanging should be the mildest punishment allowed by the law for a man convicted of the crime of selling a poor man bottles of pelagra "cures."

The cure of the disease consists in eating continuously of a diet rich in lean meats, eggs, liver, salmon, yeast, whole grain in cereals and breads, and vegetables. A diet of this kind, if persisted in, will cure almost any case of pellagra, except those who have burnt out their digestive organs by prolonged worshiping at the shrine of Bacchus.

While the above statement is correct, there is one flaw in it. Pellagrins are apt to have poor and perverted appetites. Furthermore, they are liable to be low in spirits and many of them are mentally disturbed. They are very prone to lack the spiritual drive required to make them eat foods for which they have no taste. Even this shortcoming can be remedied. Until they have got to the level where they will and can eat the foods that cure their disease, liver extract can be given by injection into the muscles.

Drs. P. L. Ramsdall and W. M. Magness have used this method in curing more than 20 of the most hopeless advanced cases in a Dallas hospital. In many of these people the disease had advanced so far that the mind was deranged. None of them could or would eat the foods necessary to cure them. Liver extract injections deep into the muscles were made daily until the patients had improved enough to take the foods they needed. As soon as normal tastes and appetites were established it was possible to discontinue the injections, but liver was made a part of the diet.

Average Price Of Bread Rises About 1.4 Cents

Officials Make Survey of 16 Cities to Provide Data for Public.

(Associated Press.)

The average price of a pound loaf of white bread in 16 representative cities rose about 1.4 cents from February 15 to August 2.

But in making this report yesterday through the Farm Adjustment Administration, Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel, added:

"Considering the increases in material costs, the moderateness of this advance in average price reflects the cooperative spirit with which the bakers of these cities have lived up to assurances given Secretary Wallace by the president of the American Bakers' Association that they would do their best to limit bread price advances to the increase in ingredient and other production costs."

Data to Aid Public.

This compilation, first of a series intended to tell the public whether it is paying exorbitant prices for foodstuffs, showed that the average price of the pound loaf in cities named was 7.8 cents on August 2 and that in the period studied the cost of ingredients in a pound loaf had increased 1.3 cents.

The bread report, Dr. Howe said, was based on a check made of 12 stores in each city, including chain stores, independents and retail bakers.

About half of the 1.3 cents rise in the cost of bread ingredients, the report continued, was due to the processing tax on wheat, the remainder to higher prices for the grain and other material used in the ordinary white bread loaf.

Total Ingredient Costs.

"Total ingredient costs on August 2," Howe said, "were estimated at 3.14 cents, of which flour made up 2.37 cents."

Dr. Howe advised the consumers to bear in mind that the weight of the bread loaf had been increased in some instances since the price rise began and decreased in others. It would be a good idea, he said, for the purchaser to ask the grocer what a loaf weighs if the weight is not indicated on the package.

A further test of the fairness of the bread price rises, the report said, was that the spread between the price the farmer got for the bushel of wheat and the price the consumer paid for the 62 loaves of bread was 2 cents less on August 2 than on August 15 and 5 cents more than last January. The spread on August 2 was estimated at $3.85.

Prices in Cities.

The price changes between February 15 and August 2 for the cities, including the price of a pound loaf of rye bread on August 2, follows:

	Aug. 2 Price cents	Feb. 15 Price cents	Rye bread Aug. 2 Price cents
Baltimore	7.3	6.6	8.3
Boston	7.2	6.5	6.3
Charleston	8.9	7.3	9.2
Chicago	7.1	6.1	7.3
Cincinnati	7.8	5.3	8.9
Cleveland	7.3	5.8	8.0
Dallas	6.5	4.9	7.0
Denver	7.2	5.9	8.4
Kansas City	7.4	6.3	8.4
Los Angeles	8.0	7.2	10.2
Memphis	8.8	6.7	8.4
Minneapolis	7.8	6.5	7.4
Mobile	9.0	7.4	10
Philadelphia	7.4	6.3	8.4
San Francisco	9.3	8.3	9.4
St. Louis	8.0	6.2	8.0

The average price of bread on August 2 in Sioux City was given as 7.6 and in El Paso at 8.8 but comparative figures for February 15 were not included.

Other Foods Included.

At the same time, figures are being assembled to show consumers whether they are paying too much for other foods.

A study of cotton textile prices, now being made, probably will be the second report in the series designed to prevent profiteering at the expense of consumers.

Some marked differences, however, which may be the subject of inquiry, included prices in Mobile and San Francisco, which showed prices on August 2 of 9 and 9.3 cents, respectively, for a pound loaf as compared to a 6.5 cent price in Dallas on the same date.

Greatest Price Spreads.

The greatest price spreads in the February 15 to August 2 period, however, were shown in Cincinnati, which had an increase estimated at 2.5 cents, and Memphis at 2.1.

Mr. Howe said that figures showing increased labor costs had not been collected and that this might account for some of the differences.

The administration acted quickly upon reports that bread prices were to be raised out of proportion to increased costs. On July 11 Secretary Wallace telegraphed mayors in 49 cities that the Government would take stern action if necessary to prevent "unwarranted increases in bread prices."

Action Up to Consumer.

But if the figures show that the price the consumer is paying is out of line, it is up to him to do something about it. Unless it can be shown that there is a concerted effort on the part of wholesalers or retailers to raise prices exorbitantly, the administration's part will be confined to gathering and making public the facts.

The one marketing agreement put into effect by the Farm Administration, that for Chicago milk, fixes the retail price at which the food can be sold. The contemplated marketing agreement for California peaches also fixes the resale price of the fruit.

If these precedents are followed in other contemplated marketing agreements, the administration will be in a position virtually to control both wholesale and retail prices for most foodstuffs.

Stop Order Is Urged Against Trust Shares

(Associated Press.)

The first stop order against the sale of stock under the new securities registration act was recommended to the Federal Trade Commission by one of its attorneys yesterday against the Speculative Investment Trust of Fort Worth, Tex.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Wool—Receipts of domestic wool at Boston for the past week were 10,477,500 pounds, as compared with 6,357,300 pounds during the previous week.

Canned Goods—The market is quiet and steady. Acceptance of the new cling peach code by California packers is expected to be followed by efforts to get buyers to accept the minimum prices contained in the code.

Chemicals—Heavy and fine chemical prices held fairly steady last week with no changes of major importance, reports the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter. The composite index for these items was unchanged from the previous week at 126.1.

Pulp and Paper—Ground wood prices are said to have shown recent improvement, while chemical pulp prices also continued to rise. Paper sales so far in August have been better than the volume in the corresponding period last year.

Wash Goods—Last week was part of the in-between season for the wash goods market and little was done. Percale prices were made on fall deliveries for manufacturers and only through August to the retail trade.

Bond Market Resumes Drop In Quiet Sales

Secondary Rails Heaviest as Sales Decline to $8,645,000.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Indifferent trading marked today's proceedings in the bond market and prices generally displayed a sagging tendency.

Sales totaled only $8,645,000, par value, slightly less than last Friday's aggregate, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans declined three-tenths of a point.

Secondary rail liens probably were the heaviest of the various groups, although some utility and industrial specialties were under pressure at one time or another. There were few news developments of particular interest to listed loans. Recessions generally were attributed largely to uncertainties surrounding the grain situation at Chicago and to sympathy with stocks.

Issues of Denver & Rio Grande were off 1 to around 4 points, those of Missouri Pacific yielded 1 to 3, and Western Pacific first 5s were heavily sold for a loss of 10¼ points. Other carrier loans off 1 to 2 included some of Alleghany Corporation, Erie, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Frisco and Southern. Moderate gains were recorded by issues of Chesapeake Corporation and Hudson & Manhattan.

Utility and industrial losers of fractions to a point or more included American & Foreign Power, Houston Oil, Murray Body, Otis Steel, Paramount Publix, Western Union, Postal Telegraph and Utah Power & Light.

United States Government securities were fairly steady and quiet. Foreign obligations moved irregularly. Some of the French, Argentines and Germans got up 1 to about 2 points. Two of the German General Electric issues dropped around 4 points each and British 5½s, the most active of the foreign group, were easier.

Stocks Decline 1 Point In Dull, Light Trading

Distillery and Gold Issues Stand Firmer Than the General List as Sales Volume Decreases to 1,222,280 Shares.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Despite a long week-end, the stock market emerged today sleepy-eyed and fatigued, barely able to drag itself along in another dull and listless session.

Interest in acquiring stocks seemed to be negligible, and the list, as a whole, dropped fractions to around 1 point. The so-called "wet" shares, as well as the gold issues, were more alert than the rest, closing steady.

With the tape inching its way along laboriously throughout the entire day, transfers totaled only 1,222,280 shares. The Associated Press-Standard statistics average for 90 selected stocks showed a net decline of 1 point.

The few stocks that did change hands today were largely among floor members of the exchange. By and large, the trading community and the general public appeared content to remain on the sidelines, with one eye on the recovery drive of the administration, and the other on developments in the grain markets.

The fact that tomorrow the Chicago Board of Trade is scheduled to remove the "pegs" which have limited fluctuations in grains doubtless accounted for much of the hesitation. All grains closed unchanged, but wheat lost 1 to 2 cents a bushel at Winnipeg. Cotton was fairly steady most of the day but closed 95 cents to $1.15 a bale lower.

A general leveling of prices apparently was indicated by reports from some of the basic trade centers. Steel production, as estimated by the magazine "Steel," remained unchanged, with new buying retarded by uncertainties surrounding the industry's code and its possible effect on future costs. The Department of Commerce in its latest report—for the week ended August 5—found business activity showing a moderate recession, although this was attributed in part to seasonal influences.

In the share market some of the gold stocks were in moderate demand as a result of the Government's ruling that gold concentrates might be exported. This means that American companies, heretofore limited to the domestic market with its fixed legal price of $20.67 per ounce, can tap the world market, at London, where refined gold is quoted around $30 an ounce. Just what price the unrefined metal will bring, after allowing for all charges, has not been authoritatively estimated.

Stocks which lost fractionally to around a point or more included American Can, Santa Fe, Brooklyn Union Gas, J. I. Case, Lima Locomotive, Illinois Central, Great Northern preferred, duPont, New York Central, Peoples Gas, U. S. Steel, and Westinghouse. Homestake Mining spurted 18 points, and Allied Chemical gained 4.

Foreign Markets.

(Associated Press.)

London—The strength in gold shares owing largely to the South African demand was the feature of the Stock Exchange today. Pressure of investment money helped gilt-edged securities, while German bonds weakened after a steady opening. Transatlantic issues, lacking a lead from Wall street over the week-end, were neglected and declined in some cases. The market closed irregular.

Berlin—Stimulated by Minister Kurt Schmitt's speech, the bourse opened cheerful with prices registering slight gains. Selling later, however, resulted in an unsettled closing.

Paris—Closed: Assumption holiday.

The Markets at a Glance

Stocks.

Dull and listless trading marked transactions and prices dropped 1 point. Wet and gold issues closed steady. The turnover dwindled to 1,222,280 shares.

Bonds.

Indifference in dealing resulted in an average loss of three-tenths of a point. Sales volume declined to $8,645,000.

Curb.

A moderate recovery in late trading reduced losses. Mining issues closed comparatively steady. Sales volume decreased to 233,000 shares.

Wheat.

Chicago's market idled under fixed price limits and trading shifted to Winnipeg. There the heaviest declines were trimmed by closing recoveries. September wheat sold at 92⅛; May, at 99⅞.

Cotton.

Easy Liverpool cables, liquidation and Southern selling caused cotton to drop 19 to 23 points. December closed at 9.31; October, 9.10.

Rubber.

Crude futures closed steady. September sold at 7.13; December at 7.70 to 7.71.

Sugar.

Raw sugar was unsettled at 3.40. Refined sold at 4.70.

Coffee.

Spot coffee was steady. Rio, No. 7, sold at 7½; Santos, No. 4, at 8¾.

Silver.

Bar silver in New York was steady. It sold ⅛ lower at 35⅜ cents per ounce.

Gold.

Bar gold sold in the United States at $20.67 per ounce; in London, at 124 shillings and 8 pence.

Dollar.

The United States dollar gained on foreign exchanges. It stood in New York, with reference to other currencies, $4.44 to the English pound; 5.25⅛ cents to the French franc, and 32.05 cents to the German mark.

Wool Market.

Boston, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—U. S. Department of Agriculture.—Scattered improvement in trade in the wool market late last week has created a fairly confident undertone. Recent sales of fleeces has included strictly combing 56s of Ohio, Michigan and bright Missouri types at 35@36 in the grease. French combing 64s and finer Ohio fleeces have moved at 39@42 in the grease.

Steel Market.

Big Apartment House Is Sold For $300,000

Longfellow Property Here Is Acquired by Investor; Opened in 1932.

By Thomas M. Cahill.

Consummation of what is said to be the largest cash real estate transaction in the city in many months was announced yesterday by the office of Henry K. Jawish, Martin McInerney and Harry S. Welch, jr. It involved the sale to a local investor of the Longfellow, large apartment building at the southeast corner of Colorado avenue and Longfellow street northwest. The sale was effected for Longfellow Apartment Co. at a reported consideration of more than $300,000.

The building, a brick and concrete structure, five stories high, has a cubic content of 660,000 feet and an area of 16,287 square feet. It contains 69 units, subdivided into 202 rooms, and three shops.

The last large apartment structure to be built in Washington, the building was started in 1931 by Webster Construction Co., builders and original owners. George T. Santmyers was its architect. It was opened for rental August 1, 1932. The foregoing offices handling the sale also announce they are taking over management of the building.

Equipment of Units.

The building is equipped with electric refrigeration. Each of its apartments has either enclosed porch or open balcony. There are parquet floors throughout the building which has automatic elevator, stoker and incinerator service, modern kitchen equipment and garage space for tenants. All of the apartments are furnished with "roll-away" beds. Its store space is occupied by beauty parlor, dress shop and restaurant. Its location, 5521 Colorado avenue northwest, is in the center of the Sixteenth Street Heights section and within a square of Rock Creek Park.

Washington Loan & Trust Co. is 44 years old today. On August 15, 1889, its charter was secured under the laws of West Virginia, as there was no provision for the establishment of trust companies in the District of Columbia. When Congress, in 1890, enacted a law authorizing the incorporation of trust companies in the District, the company promptly took advantage of that act.

First Company Officers.

The first officers of the company were Brainard H. Warner, president; John Joy Edson, vice president; W. B. Robison, secretary; William B. Gurley, treasurer and John B. Larner, general counsel. The company began business in temporary offices at 1001 F street northwest. Its ten-story building at Ninth and F streets northwest was completed in 1891. In 1911-1912 this structure was enlarged greatly and in 1927 it was extended over three adjoining properties, increasing greatly the space of various departments of the company.

In the meantime, the establishment of many Government bureaus in the western part of the city led to the opening, in 1917, of the West End branch of the company at Seventeenth and G streets northwest. This temporary office was replaced, in 1924, by a beautiful, modern structure, which is much admired by architectural authorities.

Harry G. Meem is president of the company, the history of which has been one of steady growth. It enjoys an enviable reputation for conservative and, at the same time, progressive policies. During the World War it took a leading part in the Liberty Loan "drives." The company is a member of the District of Columbia and American Bankers Associations and the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association.

Joins Federal Reserve.

On May 6, 1933, officers of the company announced it had become a member of the Federal Reserve System. At that time they recalled that this institution was the first trust company to engage in business here and the first trust company to become a full member of the local clearing house association.

Ivan E. Goodner, consulting mining engineer, with offices in the Mills Building and also at Los Angeles, has left for Colorado, Nevada, California, New Mexico and Texas, where he will examine gold mines on behalf of Consolidated Gold Fields Corporation, in which a large number of Washingtonians are interested.

He also expects to visit Quebec and Labrador to report upon newly discovered gold prospects for the Canadian Exploration, Ltd., a subsidiary of Consolidated Gold Fields.

Another subsidiary, California Gold Corporation, is studying six properties on the Mother Lode of California and two in southwestern Arizona, with a view to acquiring and equipping one or more of the mines to take advantage of the present high price of gold. Mr. Goodner states that if President Roosevelt revalues gold under congressional authority at or above $25 per ounce, it will slightly more than double the net profits to be derived from the properties controlled by the corporations which he represents.

Among Washington bankers on vacation are President Harry G. Meem, Washington Loan & Trust Co., at Atlantic City; Assistant Cashier J. K. Seyboth, Second National Bank, in the New England States, and W. W. Keck, an assistant treasurer, American Security & Trust Co.

Cashier W. W. Marlow, Second National Bank, and Nelson B. O'Neal, an assistant vice president of Riggs National Bank, have recently returned from vacations. Chairman of the Board Maurice Otterback, Anacostia Bank, is expected back from Europe August 15.

Curb Recovers After Losses In Early Sale

Mining Issues Close Steady; Trading Volume Cut to 233,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Curb Market slumped off in dull trading today for losses of fractions to around 2 points or so before staging a moderate recovery in the final hour.

Mining issues closed comparatively steady while alcohol shares after easing major fractions to more than 2 points, rallied smartly in the late trading. Schenley Distillers canceled a 1½ point loss to show an equivalent net advance.

Utilities were a trifle heavy with scattered improvement occurring late in the day. Oils closed steady to slightly lower. Commonwealth & Edison and American Hard Rubber lost 3 points each while Pan-American Airways was off nearly as much.

Other losses of a point or more were shown in Aluminum Company of America, Gulf Oil, Parker Rust Proof, and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore. Transfers approximated 233,000 shares compared with 243,000 for last Friday.

Checker Cab Plant Sold to E. L. Cord

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Control of the Checker Cab Manufacturing Co. has been acquired by E. L. Cord and associates, it was announced here today.

L. B. Manning, who is closely associated with Cord in his various motor, aviation and steamship interests, revealed that the deal had been closed, but furnished no details as to the terms of purchase. The Checker Co. is said to be the largest taxicab manufacturing company in the country. Its plant is at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Cord was elected chairman of the board and member of the executive committee, on which Manning W. H. Beal and Morris Markin will also serve. Markin will continue as president of the corporation. A new board was named, including Cord, Manning, Beal, R. S. Pruitt, R. E. Oakland and H. P. Barrand.

Winnipeg Gets Wheat Dealing In Chicago Lull

Fixed Minimum Prices Tie Up Trading; Limits to Lift Late Today.

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—As idle as a proverbial painted ship upon a painted ocean, the Chicago grain trade today nervously watched business go out of this country to Canada. Prices here became meaningless.

Owing to an emergency fixed absolute minimum grain price limit which could not be removed until after the close of trading hours tomorrow, buying power here refused to assert itself, and sellers could find no outlet except at Winnipeg.

Complicating the situation, which largely grew out of financial difficulties two weeks ago on the part of a New York trader whose holdings of grain and other commodities, as well as securities, totaled far up into millions of dollars, was the fact that Washington officials had disapproved a national code for grain exchanges.

Winnipeg Prices Drop.

Borne down by liquidating pressure from this country, Winnipeg wheat values tumbled 5¼ cents a bushel, but later recovered about half of the loss. Chicago trading both in grain and provisions was not small even to make a range of prices and was all at fixed minimum quotations identical with Saturday's finish.

Interest of grain traders centered on meetings to be held before tomorrow's removal of absolute minimum price levels would take effect. However, this removal would still leave in operation a limit preventing any market change in excess of 5 cents a bushel, up or down, during any one day.

It was generally hoped that out of the conferences scheduled would come suggestions for a solution of difficulties under which the trade was laboring.

Opinions on Decline.

A number of leading traders contended today that the recent decline of grain prices reflected no great volume of actual selling, but rather an absence of buying. Dearth of purchase orders were attributed largely to raising of margins required by commission houses of late and to lack of confidence, owing to uncertainty as to Government intentions relative to grain markets.

It was urged that in view of severe crop shortage in North America this season buyers could well afford to pay the farmer going prices or better for his output, but under existing market conditions speculators with adequate capital were wary about backing up this belief.

Some notice was taken of reports that remaining supplies of wheat in Argentina and Australia had been so reduced that weekly shipments hereafter this season from the Southern hemisphere could not well average more than 4,500,000 bushels.

Corn traders had reports of a second brood of chinch bugs in enormous numbers threatening Illinois fields, already promising hardly half a crop.

Provision dealings were at a standstill with grains.

Retail Defaults Rise During Past Week

New York, Aug. 14 (Spl.).—There were, according to the records of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., 352 business failures in the United States for the week ended August 3.

The number for the preceding week was 333, and for the same period a year ago 670.

The number of retail defaults showed an increase last week as well as those in the "other commercial" group, as compared with the figures for the week preceding.

Wholesalers and Factories.

The wholesale and manufacturing classes each showed a decline of one from the previous week's total. All trade groups were below the totals for the corresponding week of 1932.

Four geographical divisions, the Middle Atlantic, South Atlantic, Central West, and Western, were responsible for the gain last week over the figures for the week preceding. Improvement was shown in the South Central and Central Eastern States.

When compared with the figures for the corresponding week in 1932, the totals were substantially lower in all but the Central Western section.

Georgia Tobacco Gains in Past Week

Atlanta, Aug. 14 (AP).—Sales on the bright leaf tobacco auctions in South Georgia last week totaled 18,062,367 pounds at an average price of 14.30 cents per pound, as compared with sales of 7,643,246 pounds for the corresponding period last year at an average price of 9.99 cents per pound.

Official figures on last week's sales were announced today by H. K. Ramsay, statistician of the State Department of Agriculture.

The highest average price for the week was paid at Hahira, where 848,450 pounds brought an average of 15.69 cents per pound. The second highest average of 15.40 cents a pound was paid at Tifton, where the week's record sale of 2,743,510 pounds was reported. More than 2,000,000 pounds were sold on the Valdosta and Nashville markets. Over 1,000,000 pounds were sold at Douglas, Blackshear and Moultrie.

Santa Fe Carloadings Gain During Past Week

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Last week's carloadings on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co. totaled 21,410 cars, compared with 21,033 in the previous week and 24,741 in the like 1932 period.

Tire Casing Shipments Gain 21 Per Cent in June

New York, Aug. 14 (Spl.).—Shipments of pneumatic casings for the month of June amounted to 6,305,454 casings, an increase of 21.7 per cent over May, but was 37.4 per cent below June, 1932, according to statistics released by the Rubber Manufacturers Association, Inc., today.

This organization reports production of pneumatic casings for June to be 6,099,924 casings, an increase of 17.5 per cent over May and 8.1 per cent above June, 1932. Pneumatic casings in the hands of manufacturers June 30 amounted to 6,614,940 units, a decrease of 2.1 per cent as compared with May 31 stocks, but was 32.3 per cent above stocks June 30, 1932.

U. S. Cotton Supply Drops During Year

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—The New York Cotton Exchange service today reported that the indicated world supply of American cotton for the current season is about 2,000,000 bales below last season, marking the first reduction from the previous year since 1929.

The service estimates the carryover on August 1 at 24,207,000 bales, against 26,138,000 bales last season and commented that with efforts to reduce cotton production and increase consumption the next few seasons should see the carryover reduced to normal proportions of 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 bales.

"If world consumption of American cotton during the current season," it said, "should be no larger than last season the carryover at the end of this season would be reduced about 2,000,000 bales."

Story of Strife-Torn Cuba Is Mirrored in Sugar Prices

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—The story of strife-torn Cuba in world economics is mirrored in the price of sugar.

The little West Indian country that was freed by the United States from Spain at the turn of a century is dependent for its prosperity to a large degree upon the price of this staple in the world market. Eighty per cent of Cuba's production is sugar and it is the country's proud boast that it can produce one-fifth of all the sugar necessary to satisfy the world's sweet tooth.

Thirteen years ago Cuba was happy and rich beyond its dreams as the price of sugar skyrocketed. Raw sugar sold for 22½ cents a pound in New York May 19, 1920. Ten years later it had fallen to around a cent a pound and Cuba was stricken by adversity. The world market was glutted and the law of supply and demand exacted its tribute.

In the upheaval that followed, great financial interests of the United States became masters of the Cuban sugar industry. Scores of planters who had lived a placid rural life, like the aristocrats of colonial Virginia, found themselves working for wages on their plantations. Two thousand ingenios, or sugar mills, were reduced to around 200 as the new owners sought to restore prosperity.

Today it is estimated that two-thirds of the sugar industry is owned by American investors. They have a stake in excess of $1,000,000,000 in the island exclusive of holdings of government, state and municipal bonds which, at the end of 1930, were around $200,000,000.

Aided by the Chadbourne plan—sponsored by Thomas Lincoln Chadbourne, New York lawyer—and as the result of certain tariff regulations, sugar prices are coming back. Saturday sugar was worth 3½ cents a pound in New York.

U. S. Dollar Rallies On Foreign Marts

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—A further demand for American currency abroad lifted dollar rates today in foreign exchange dealings. The British pound sterling was particularly heavy, losing 4⅛ cents at a cable rate of $4.44. French francs were off 1-20 of a cent at 5.25½ cents, Dutch guilders yielded ½ cent at 54.15 cents, and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs were down .19 and .28 of a cent, respectively. German marks, the Scandinavians and Far Eastern funds were soft and Canadian dollars eased ⅛ of a cent to 94¼ cents.

While there were reports from abroad that the dollar was being "supported," bankers here said there was no evidence of this. It was pointed out that speculative activity in exchanges is at a low ebb just now in European centers and that the seasonal trend of the dollar is now upward owing principally to commercial needs.

St. Louis Pit Sales Fail First Time in 50 Years

St. Louis, Aug. 14 (AP).—For the first time in more than half a century, there was not a single transaction in the grain pit of the Merchants Exchange, although the regular session was held and traders were in the circle. All active wheat futures were offered at the "pegged" prices without takers.

Newsprint Freight Ordered Changed

(Associated Press.)

Freight rates on newsprint paper from certain Oregon and Washington points to Idaho were found unreasonable yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission and a new scale was prescribed.

The new rates, which the roads were ordered to establish on or before November 9 next, must not exceed the following;

From Oregon City, West Linn and St. Helens, Oregon, and Camas, Tumwater, Millwood and Vancouver, Washington, 39.5 cents a hundred pounds, minimum 50,000 pounds, to Weiser and Payette, Idaho; 43 cents to Nampa and Boise; 47.5 cents to Glenn's Ferry; 55.5 cents to Buhl, and 61 cents to Montpelier.

Price Parley Set In Cotton States

Atlanta, Aug. 14 (AP).—Gov. Talmadge today asked chief executives of other cotton-growing States to meet here in conference immediately to consider prevailing prices on farm products "Unless tobacco, cotton, hogs and all other staple raw products from the farm go up materially," the governor telegraphed, "the NRA will amount to nothing."

"The only possible chance for the NRA to accomplish what it intends to do is for the price of raw products to go up in proportion to the labor scale and the price of manufactured articles."

He asked that the governors reply to his suggestion for a conference by Saturday.

Goods Markets.

New York, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Inquiries today for goods were somewhat increased at the market opening. The wool goods men were open for bids at new prices and some dress goods business was being done. Cotton goods at easier prices has aroused more interest among buyers. Silk goods ruled quiet. Rayon yarns were very closely sold well into October. Burlaps held steady.

Cotton Declines $1 Per Bale on Selling Drives

December Closes at 9.31 as General Market Drops 19 to 23 Points.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—Cotton suffered renewed weakness today, losing about $1 a bale. December contracts after selling from 9.39 to 9.58 eased to 9.31 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market ending barely steady at net declines of 19 to 23 points.

Initial prices were 6 to 11 points lower with active months selling about 11 to 13 points net lower during the early trading in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, liquidation and Southern selling.

The appearance of an active demand for December at prices ranging from 9.45 to 9.50 stiffened the market later in the morning. After purchases estimated in some quarters up to about 25,000 bales the demand for that position tapered off, and the market eased during the afternoon under a renewal of liquidation and scattered selling promoted by the failure of demand to broaden on the early advance.

Late Trading Lowest.

Prices reached the lowest levels in the late trading and closed at the bottom on all active positions, with December at 9.31 showing a decline of 286 points from the high record of last month.

As was the case on Saturday, the heavy demand for December attracted a great deal of attention, and in the absence of definite information, it was again rumored that the buying might be for the account of Government agencies in connection with operations in seed loan cotton or cotton option contracts, in the working out of the agricultural adjustment program.

Exports today 30,931, making 258,136 so far this season. Port receipts, 16,167. U. S. port stocks, 2,920,921.

Clearings of Banks Slump to Low Level

New York, Aug. 14 (Spl.).—Bank clearings are again reduced, even below the unusually low records for August of last year. The total this week at all leading cities in the United States, as reported by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., of $3,889,005,000 was 4.3 per cent below that of a year ago.

At New York City clearings were $2,646,743,000, a reduction of 5.2 per cent, while the aggregate for centers outside of New York of $1,242,262,000 was 2.2 per cent lower.

Many sharp changes in recent preceding weeks have characterized the weekly report of bank clearings.

Lowest Since May.

Not since the middle of May have clearings for a full week been so low as for the current week. The present losses at New York, Boston and Chicago are in marked contrast to the heavy gains at those cities last month.

Substantially larger clearings, however, still are reported at some centers, especially at cities in the South.

The total this week was $1,009,081,000 less than that of the preceding week; a year ago the decline was $790,452,000.

Foreign Trade Joins Advance Of Other Lines

Latin-American Business Leads Upturn Under Prosperity Drive.

New York, Aug. 14 (Spl.).—Led by a notable turn for the better in Latin America, the proof of how far the recovery movement in American foreign trade has already gone is shown by the fact that in 16 countries, widely scattered over the world, American exports for the first six months of this year are better than last year.

Six of these countries, according to a statement just issued by the National Foreign Trade Council, are in Latin America—Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Venezuela, Colombia and Mexico; six are in Europe—Italy, Germany, France, Finland, Spain and Belgium, and four—Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Egypt—are more or less closely related to the British empire.

The increase in "active" lines of American exports, those which are susceptible to salesmanship, is the most encouraging feature of the present phase of American foreign trade.

Manufactured Goods.

The proportion of manufactured goods among our exports is now more than 67 per cent for the present year compared with 63 per cent for the first half of last year. Among the long list of manufactured articles which are sharing in this decided gain in exports are automobiles, accounting and calculating machines and other office equipment, iron and steel scrap, coal tar products, radio receiving sets and tubes, typesetting machines, power pumps and power driven milling machines. We have exported this year more than $3,000,000 worth of American aircraft, largely to South America, and a greatly increased number of aircraft engines.

The tide of American foreign trade has turned, after a decline extending over 46 successive months, ever since September, 1929, with a declared export total for June of $119,809,000, or 8 per cent better than June, 1932. If this rate is manitained 1933 should be a better year for exports than 1932.

In spite of the fact that, for the six-month period ended July 1 they are about 20 per cent behind the corresponding period last year in value, this is a distinct improvemnt over the year 1932, when our exports were 31 per cent below those of 1931.

Record of Imports.

Only in two months in recent years, August, 1931, and May, 1929, have our imports exceeded our exports; but June also was to this extent another indication of change for the future. Improved imports, a definite sign of the quickening of domestic business, amounted to $122,262,000, an advance of 11 per cent over last year. This balance in favor of imports may be anticipated as a steadily recurring development of our trade returns for the future, as the creditor position of the United States tends to bring into our markets an increase of imports which may at least keep pace with the new trend of expanding export shipments. Allowance should also be made for the rapid increase within the past few months of the prices of two of our principal unmanufactured exports, cotton and wheat.

Big Pictures on Way—Powell's Luck—Contest Winner Chosen—"Voltaire" at Met.

Notable Films Being Planned For Next Year

Betty Grey Wins Honors; Local Revue in Work; Showshop Chatter.

By Nelson B. Bell.

The day of the "big picture" is coming back.

By "big picture" is not meant merely vastness of settings and breadth of visual panorama but the sort of screen subject which, by the depth of its story, the skill and authenticity of its acting and the soundness of its structure, leaves an impression upon the consciousness of the spectator as deep as, say, "State Fair" or "Cavalcade."

Prompted largely by the success of these two pictures, Fox plans others for its ensuing year's program of comparable worth.

It lays stress upon the fact, however, that the new type of big picture will bring to the silver sheet an intelligent usage of the material at hand rather than an ornate and overpowering display of sets, costumes and milling crowds of people.

A "big picture" in these days means, of necessity, a costly one—but the money spent goes no less for preparation than for ultimate production.

Prominent on the list of the proposed Fox program is "The World Moves On," a sweeping story with an epic theme that spans a century of the world's progress, yet has nothing to do with the Chicago World's Fair!

Original Screen Story.

It is from an original piece of screen writing by Reginald Berkeley and will be directed by John Ford, who has been responsible for some of the most imposing film plays the Fox lot ever has released—among them "The Iron Horse." In this production a modern family is taken through the changes of the machine age and a French poilu is featured in the same manner as "Cavalcade" glorified an English commoner and "What Price Glory," an American.

"All Men Are Enemies," the best-selling novel by Richard Aldington, is another story which Fox feels can only be told on the screen by a lavish and impressive production.

In the field of musicals, "Music in the Air," the current Broadway success by Arthur Hammerstein 2d and Jerome Kern, likewise demands bigness in production, as does "My Weakness," the B. G. DeSylva production costarring Lilian Harvey and Lew Ayres.

"The Grand Canary," to feature Warner Baxter; "Hoopla," starring Clara Bow, and the Fox Movietone Follies are other examples of pictures that will require colorful presentation.

As one Fox executive phrased it, "Cavalcade" and "State Fair" broke theater attendance records and demonstrated that the public wants quality entertainment. Fox Film is making a determined effort to supply that demand.

Fox is not the only company intent upon keeping its average high by the production of a fair proportion of "big pictures" along with the average program releases.

The Warner Brothers are continuing their cycle of big musicals with "Footlight Parade"; Cecil B. De Mille is coming along with "Cleopatra," "The Power and the Glory" is not far away and numerous others are either already in production or about to be put in work. It looks like a big year.

Speaking of the Warner Brothers' "Footlight Parade," it is a high tribute to the box-office draw exercised by Dick Powell, and the esteem in which he is held by his employers, that this pretentious musical film should be remade especially to include him among the cast in the role to which he was originally assigned.

It will be recalled that after his Washington engagement in person, at the Earle, and a following week in Baltimore—which he played with a high fever and finally had to cancel, on the last day, two performances short of his contract—he hurried home to Hollywood and was immediately put to bed with a severe attack of pleural pneumonia. Since "Footlight Parade" was virtually ready then to go into production, the Warners rushed Stanley Smith to the West Coast by plane to take the Powell part—which he did.

Just about the time the film was completed, with Smith in the Powell assignment, Dick was sufficiently convalesced to be about and now has reached the point where the doctors will permit him to work four hours a day, if he does not overexert during that time.

Personal correspondence that has arrived in Washington within the last day or two, conveys the information that "Footlight Parade," although completed with Stanley Smith, is being remade in order that Dick Powell may appear opposite Ruby Keeler in furtherance of their proposed costarring partnership, as was originally planned, and so set forth in this space.

It is further reported, although not by Mr. Powell, who may not even be aware of it yet, that through the urgent suggestion of Al Jolson, Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers and First National, has wired Jack Warner, in charge of production in the West Coast studios of both companies, to raise Dick's salary $500 per week in recognition of the splendid work he has registered in "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and such rushes of "Footlight Parade" as Mr. Jolson had seen. Mammy!

Show Business.

Incidentally, and this almost sounds like one for Mr. John Hix's "Strange As It Seems" symposium of the world's wonders, Dick Powell, owing to his absence from Hollywood when it was shown there, and his illness ever since returning, has never as yet even seen "Gold Diggers of 1933" and so doesn't know how good or bad, in his own view, he may have been in it!

About "Going Native."

More imediate interest, no doubt, centers at the moment in the complete personnel to be seen in "Going Native," the all-Washington revue to be presented at Loew's Fox beginning Friday.

As has already been announced more times than Mr. Heinz has pickles or the Messrs. Ford, Sloan and Chrysler have engine knocks, Brook Johns, the Montgomery County gentleman farmer, banjo twanger and raconteur, will be master of ceremonies and specialist de luxe of the revue.

With the ample and sunburned Mr. Johns will be associated Evelyn Tyner, pianist; the Four Dots, singers and dancers; the Yates Sisters, dancers; Mary Eller, dancer; Frances Rands, dancer; William Harvey, singer; Poppy Callahan, Japanese character dancer; Joseph Bernne, blues singer; John D. Lippy, modern illusions; Almira Sessions, comediene; Clara Borjes, blues singer; the Lost City Mountaineers, radio hill-billy act; Harry Plattner, Mildred Cherot, blues singers; Jimmy Mulroe, comedian; Jay Kimmel, dancer; Marjorie Mitchell and Sock Kennedy, dancers.

Gene Ford, in complete charge of the local production, and his assistant, Ned McGurn, have the ensemble routines virtually set and from now on will be busily engaged rehearsing the principals. A dress rehearsal is tentatively scheduled for tomorrow night and it is highly probable that on Thursday night the show will be run off exactly as it will be presented to the public on Friday—costumes, lights, make-ups and all.

"Voltaire" Moves Up.

It is important to local theatergoers, too, to know that the downtown return engagement of George Arliss in "Voltaire," his latest biographical drama and one of the most effective he has done, will inaugurate its run at the Metropolitan Theater tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, instead of on Friday, as was originaly announced.

In "Voltaire," Arliss has a character worthy of the finesse and refinement of his art and is surrounded by a cast of the first water, led by Doris Kenyon, as Madame de Pompadour; Reginald Owen, as King Louis XV of France; Alan Mowbray, Margaret Lindsay, Lionel Belmore and scores of others of comparable note.

The reopening of "Voltaire" at the Metropolitan so soon after its successful week's run at the Earle, a continuation of which was rendered impossible there by the press of vaudeville and other contracts already made, reenforces the view of this department, as expressed in a recent Sabbath column, that a downtown theater of ample capacity might well be devoted exclusively to return engagements of sure-fire box-office hits.

The Metropolitan, so far, has come closest to a reasonably consistent adherence to this policy.

Contest Winner Chosen.

As this is written, your reporter has just returned to his typewriter, limp and dazed from a surplusage of pulchritude, from serving as one of the judges in the "Eight Girls in a Boat" contest instituted by Paramount Pictures to select eight girls from representative cities in the United States to appear in their forthcoming picture of that name, and locally sponsored by The Washington Post, Loew's Fox Theater and the Wilson Line steamers.

The original selection of the contestants covered a period of seven days and was limited to the choice of one girl from each of the four daily trips of the Wilson Line steamer, City of Washington, over that week. This, naturally, resulted in a total of 28 competitors, who appeared before last night's 9 o'clock audience at Loew's Fox and subsequently were further interviewed by Gene Ford, of the production department of Loew's, Inc., in Washington staging the "Going Native" revue; Bert Adler, New York exploitation expert, representing Paramount Pictures, and the writer, serving as a board of official judges.

By a process of elimination, the total enrollment of 28 contestants was first reduced to 12, then to 5, then to 3 and finally to winner and an alternate. The task, I may say, was not an easy one, since all of the young women were representative of high types of American beauty, charm and poise.

The winner, whose reward will be a trip to Hollywood and a part in Paramount's "Eight Girls in a Boat," was Miss Betty Grey, residing at 423 Addison avenue, Virginia Highlands, Va. The alternate selected was Miss Aubrey Kaiser, of 1717 Bay street southeast, Washington.

Miss Grey is a pronounced blonde, but a little too golden to be platinum; Miss Kaiser, a titian. They were introduced to the audience as the winners at the conclusion of the final show.

The judges' selections were unanimous.

It was, of course, wholly superfluous for Phil Lampkin, who announced the appearance of the contestants and introduced them from the stage, to insist upon the judges arising with shaking knees and flaming cheeks in their comparatively obscure places in the sixth row of the orchestra. There are, however, ways of getting even!

Dirty Work.

For instance, something might be done at that ball game to be played between the members of the Fox Concert Orchestra, which Mr. Lampkin conducts, and the Chevy Chase Lake Dance Orchestra, that labors under the baton of Bill Strickland, this morning down on the Ellipse back of the White House.

Were it not for the fact that the game is scheduled for 8:30—practically the middle of the night—we might go down and do a little dirty work along the sidelines.

Under the circumstances, the only way we could manage this particular bit of retributive justice would be to stop by and catch a couple of innings on our way home to bed!

Mae West's "She Done Him Wrong," which has chalked up more than 6,000 repeat dates throughout the country, is continuing its record of return engagements in the Capital. It will be shown for the third time today and tomorrow at Warners' Tivoli Theater, Fourteenth street and Park road. Warners' Colony, Georgia avenue and Farragut street, is showing the picture for the fourth time, for one day only, on Thursday.

So far, "She Done Him Wrong" has piled up in excess of 55 repeat engagements in the Washington metropolitan area, a record that has only been exceeded by David Wark Griffith's "Birth of a Nation."

If you are running a motion picture theater, go West, young man, go West!

"Eight Girls in a Boat" Contest Winners

Columbia.

"HAUNTED GOLD." A Vitagraph picturization of a story by Adele Buffington, starring John Wayne, with Sheila Terry, Harry Wood, Blue Washington and Duke, the white Arabian horse. Directed by Mack V. Wright. Reviewed Monday afternoon.

A carnival of climaxes, made eerie by sliding panels, secret passages, deserted mine tunnels and rickety old houses honeycombed with deadfalls, sliding doors and mysterious hooded figures—not to mention hand-to-hand fights in mine buckets suspended hundreds of feet in the air over rocky gorges, battles in cracky-wagons behind plunging steeds and other hair-raising melodramatic devices—conspire to make this harrowing tale of a scramble for a large horde of precious metal one of the most richly overdone Western thrillers ever to occupy a modern screen.

John Wayne, as the hero, John Mason, who owns a half interest in the old deserted mine, along with Sheila Terry, who, as Janet Carter, was swindled out of her share by Harry Wood, masquerading as a tough road agent bearing the name of Joe Ryan, performs miracles of daring and athleticism that no human being could possibly get away with in real life. But since this is merely reel life, it all makes for a harrowing blood-chilling, overwrought hour of imaginative adventure in which the best actor by all odds is Duke, the white Arabian steed, that saves his master on more than one occasion by a display of equine intelligence that does much to redeem the "acting" of his human associates.

There is a heavy vein of comedy running through the action that has its genesis at all times in the traditional terror of "spooks," graveyards and scary "ha'nted" houses entertained by the colored race. Next to Duke, probably the figure in "Haunted Gold" most productive of exciting moments is Blue Washington, in the role of Clarence, Mason's self-appointed bodyguard.

The best these earnest workers can do, however, does not quite match up with the excellence of the supplementary features of the bill. Charlie Chaplin revives memories of the remote days of his greater eminence on the screen in a revamped version of "The Pawn Shop," one of the most slapstick of his early two-reelers, in which Edna Purviance, as was customary in those days, appears as "the girl."

Commander Dyott, who hunts big game with a camera only, in his "Magic Vault" mystery series, contributes a close-up study of some magnificent Bengal tigers in their native jungle haunts in a realistic subject known as "Tiger, Tiger"—the carrion episodes in this subject, by the way, may not prove wholly charming—and the Three X Sisters offer an interval of their distinctive vocalism, in a variety of disguises, as an interpolated bit in the cartoon comedy, "Sing, Sisters, Sing."

An interesting issue of the Paramount Sound News, featuring the Cuban revolt, completes a variegated and fast-moving, if not overly credible, bill.

Druggists Ready For Code Report

District Group Will Go to Baltimore Session on Thursday Night.

District druggists and members of the profession from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will hear a report on their NRA code at a meeting in Baltimore Thursday.

The code, nearing submission, will be discussed at the Emerson Hotel at 8 p. m. Speakers will be John W. Goode, president of the National Association of Retail Druggists; James Penland, former president of the N. W. D. A.; L. E. Seiberlick, Northwestern Mutual Drug Co., and Stanley MacGiverin, Owens-Illinois Co.

Washington druggists attending in a group will leave the Washington Drug Exchange, 459 C street northwest, at 6:15 o'clock.

Architects Are Licensed.

Howard V. Yarrus, of Washington, and Kenton D. Haymaker, of Clarendon, architects, were granted Virginia State certificates today by the Virginia State Board of Architects, Engineers and Land Surveyors, meeting in Roanoke.

Two Droll Comediennes in a Fruity Comedy!

The blank and vacant Miss ZaSu Pitts seems to have arrived at a point of some confusion between the banana and the telephone receiver, which, since she has the bowl of fruit, is probably all the fault of Una Merkel, that broad "a" and charming young Kentuckian, appearing on the right in Mr. Whiteway's realistic sketch. This all happens—if at all—in "Her First Mate," the new joint starring vehicle for Miss Pitts and "Slim" Summerville, coming to RKO-Keith's on Friday.

Science Finds Mayans Gone Before Conquest of Spaniards

Manuscript Written Before 1630 Describes Great Ruin.

(Associated Press.)

The great Maya civilization of Central America, whose ruins are being reclaimed from the jungle by scientists, was lost and forgotten long before the coming of the Spaniards, it is indicated by an old manuscript just discovered by the Smithsonian Institution.

Some of the ruins are described in the manuscript, which was written before 1630 by a Spaniard named Vasques de Espinosa after a trip to the New World.

He describes "some proud buildings of time immemorial, the memory of which has been lost for ages."

Dates Back 2,000 Years.

Scientists of the Carnegie Institution have deciphered dates on monuments in one Maya city, Uaxactun, which show it was occupied at least from 68 to 639 A. D., and probably 500 years before that, or more than 1,000 years altogether.

Going on to describe the ancient buildings, De Espinosa wrote that "Among the ruins of them there are extraordinary and admirable things, among which is a beautiful room in the midst of which is a very large table, well worked in stone like alabaster.

"About it are seated many effigies, well finished, with good faces and long beards, armed with their breastplates and espaliers (epaulets) and morions (helmets), and swords in belts, and with them another figure clothed in a pontifical with a miter on his head—of work and dress very extraordinary, and altogether different from that of those realms.

Tells of Strong Pillars.

"And connected with this room there also are corridors, very well marked of stone with very large pillars, which are so strong that they are still standing.

"For over 4 and even 6 leagues around the proud edifices there is a great amount of worked stone, from which it appears that there were in these parts a people of great intelligence, industry and courage, and great cities, which long ages swallowed up or turned into what our Spaniards found when they made the discovery."

Illinois Man's Death Held "Torch Murder"

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP).—Belief that Earl Hanson, local milling machine company executive, who perished in his flaming automobile, was a "torch murder" victim was expressed tonight by Robert Nash, State's attorney.

The theory was advanced by the official after an investigation of the death, which occurred last night, and which was at first thought to have been accidental.

Arkansas Ready For Beer Action

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 14 (AP).—The Arkansas Legislature met in special session today to consider, among other things, the legalizing of beer.

One of the first acts of the House was to adopt a resolution, making a beer bill draft in advance of the session by a joint legislative committee the first order of business and ordering final action on the measure before any other matters are taken up. Action is due tomorrow.

The special session for beer legislation was sought several months ago, but did not become a certainty until a State-wide popular referendum on the repeal question showed a decided majority in favor of repeal.

Arkansas has been "bone dry" by State statute since 1916.

Irish "Fascists" In New Drive

80,000 Members Sought; Government Considers Sunday Parade Ban.

Dublin, Aug. 14 (AP).—Gen. Dwen O'Duffy's Blue Shirt "Fascist" National Guard, prevented from holding a demonstration yesterday but planning countrywide church parades next Sunday, hopes to bring its enrollment to 80,000 this week.

The organization claims to have already half that number of adherents and began today a new recruiting drive.

The government is considering banning next Sunday's parades. This would be difficult, however, since it would mean splitting up the police and military for service in every district of the Free State.

In well informed quarters, the belief was expressed that President Eamon de Valera may seek a general election to obtain wider powers in order to combat the Blue Shirts. He already has applied the public safety act, under which an emergency tribunal has the power to impose penalties ranging from small fines to death.

Foxx Drives in 9 Runs, Breaks League Mark as A's Beat Tribe, 11-5

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

Chicago, Aug. 14.

IF, perchance, one happens to be apologizing for a reason why the Nats are 5½ games out in front of the Yankees at this writing, one does not have to look farther than second base, where the trim little form of Buddy Myer is bulking larger every day in the pennant race.

They can call Joe Cronin the spark plug of the Nats, but for the past seven days, the most crucial period in the Nats' battle for the flag, Buddy Myer has been the drive shaft of the team. New York and Boston are calling him a great "money player." And with reason, for they saw him perform.

After the Nats had taken it twice on the chin from the Yanks in that Monday double-header last week, Myer it was who led them to victory in the last two games of the series with sensational hitting and fielding that beat both Allen and Gomez.

In Boston, too, Buddy was a batting demon. He had three hits in the second game and his triple won the third. In the field he had an apparently unlimited cruising radius. What he did in Washington Sunday needs no amplification.

Whenever any one mentions the Washington ball club to Manager Joe Cronin these days, Cronin mentions Myer. The Nats' young manager is exuberant over the play of the Mississippi boy, who collaborates with him in the work around second base.

McCarthy vs. Hornsby.

When the Yankees and the Browns take the field at St. Louis tomorrow Joe McCarthy and Rogers Hornsby will be glowering at each other across the breadth of the diamond from their respective dugouts. They will meet, but there will be no reunion.

Hornsby was one of McCarthy's employes three years ago when Marse Joe was manager of the Cubs in the National League. That is, Hornsby was one of McCarthy's employes until the middle of the summer, when Marse Joe learned via a telegram sent him at Boston that Hornsby would manage the club henceforth.

McCarthy charged Hornsby with undermining him in the affections of Owner Wrigley. It was boring from within. He vowed vengeance. He turned down a job to manage the Red Sox at his own figure to accept the management of the Yankees. McCarthy knew that it was Wrigley's dream to win a world series with his Cubs. He would blast that.

McCarthy got his revenge, but not in the fullest degree. The Yanks did blast the Cubs out of the world series in four straight games in 1932, but Owner Wrigley did not live to see it. And Manager Hornsby had been deposed two months before the Cubs clinched the pennant.

But the present status of the American League race puts Hornsby and his group of misfits on the Browns in a position to do the Yankees a deal of harm, while the Yankees can do nothing to injure the standing of the last-place St. Louis Club.

Runs, Hits and Errors.

Al Simmons is batting .000 in the prognostication league . . . six weeks ago he said the Yanks would outgame the Nats in the stretch rush . . . and that the White Sox would finish in third place . . . he may be right . . . but it'll come under the heading of miracles . . . the Red Sox owners, turned over to the Nats a check for the receipts of the three games in Boston that was substantially larger than the amount the Sox received for three games in Washington the week before . . . despite the fact that the Nats were playing a seventh-place town . . . the Nats are pulling for the Giants to win the National League flag . . . with the Cubs their second choice . . . and the Pirates third . . . anybody, in fact, but the Cardinals . . . or is all this premature? . . . world series reservations will be received by Griffith Stadium officials beginning September 1 . . . or is that premature? . . . Heinie Manush has not hit safely in 21 straight games . . . and has actually lost ground in his batting average in the last 21 games.

Championship Meet At Glen Echo Monday

District 220-yard free style championship races for both men and women will climax a swimming meet to be held in the Crystal pool, Glen Echo, next Monday night. In addition to the important championship affairs, there will be 60-yard free style and 180-yard medley races for both men and women as well as a 60-yard free style contest for boys 14 years of age and under.

A high-board diving contest for men will call for 3 compulsory and 3 optional dives. A similar contest for women novices will require 3 compulsory and 2 optionals.

Sarron Is 6-5 Ring Choice Tonight

Is Favored to Beat Burl at Twin City, Despite Previous Defeat.

Bowen and Reed Promise Good Semifinal; Three Other Fights.

By Lewis F. Atchison.

THE feud between Pete Sarron and Eddie Burl that had its inception two years ago in a little backwoods club down South will flare anew tonight at Laurel, where the pair square off in the 10-round feature bout of Matchmaker Charley Cornell's card. It's a return match for the two. Three weeks ago Burl stunned the fistic world, scoring a decisive victory over the heavily backed Sarron.

Despite his defeat three weeks ago, Sarron will climb through the ropes tonight a 6-to-5 favorite. It should be a close fight, but the Birmingham bruiser has everything in his favor. He will make the featherweight limit of 126 pounds at 2 o'clock, or forfeit a $25 weight guarantee. But at the ringside, Sarron will tip the scale close to 130 pounds. Burl's weight will be approximately 122 pounds and he will have a tough time boosting it that high.

Both in Good Shape.

Both boys are in good shape. Sarron finished training with four fast rounds of light bag work and rope skipping and was pronounced ready for the opening bell. Burl's final day of work virtually was the same and his condition is the same as when he knocked Sarron for a loop.

Burl plans to work on his rival's midsection, a spot in Petey's anatomy not intended to be a landing field for punches. A similar line of strategy was employed with telling effect the last time the two met. Sarron will rush in and throw leather from all angles to all parts of the body and, if the Syrian fights in true style he will win.

Ray Bowen and Jimmy Reed are matched in the six-round semifinal. Reed was belted out in his last four fights, so Bowen reigns the favorite despite the fact that Jimmy carved a decisive victory over Ray at Portner's during the winter. An equally attractive six-rounder brings Henry Irving up against Harry (K. O.) Brodie. The latter has fought only seven pro fights, and won them all by knockouts in the first round. In Irving, however, he will find a lad capable of testing his mettle.

Sammy Romano and Sammy Lucas tangle in a four, preceded by Jessie Belt and Al Parks who open the show with another four.

Four-Run Tiger Rally Beats Red Sox, 6 to 5

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP).—Detroit won the opening game of a series with the Boston Red Sox today, 6 to 5. A seventh-inning rally that netted four runs turned the trick. Pipgras was knocked out of the box in the big inning during which the Tigers collected six hits.

Belgium Beats Sweden In '34 Davis Cup Play

Stockholm, Aug. 14 (AP).—Winning one of two final singles matches, Belgium today qualified for the 1934 competition in the European zone of the Davis Cup, defeating Sweden, three matches to two.

A. LaCroix, Belgium's No. 1 ranking player, defeated Eramberg, 6—3, 6—4, 6—3, to assure his country's victory. In the final match Oestberg, of Sweden, turned back G. Van Zuylen, 6—3, 6—4, 10—8.

Legless American On Channel Swim

Dover, England, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—The legless American swimmer, Charles (Zimmy) Zibelman, began an attempt to swim the English Channel at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Zibelman, despite the loss of both legs in a street car accident, has a considerable reputation in England as a distance swimmer.

He attempted a channel crossing last year, giving up after 18 hours effort during which he swam and drifted some 30 miles.

Forest Hills May Raise an Eyebrow

HELEN JACOBS, who intends to give the tennis world something to buzz about today. She has warned officials that she will play in the national women's tournament wearing shorts. True, the trunks have been donned by other women net stars, but not at Forest Hills, thank you. Helen wants to retain her title and insists that a skirt hampers her play.

Helen Jacobs Defends Title In Tourney Today—in Shorts

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP).—While overcast skies and occasional flurries of rain precluded the scheduled start of the women's national tennis tournament today, Helen Jacobs, the champion, sat in her suite overlooking the courts of the West Side Tennis Club—nervous as a school girl about to recite at the weekly exercises.

A thing like that shouldn't cause Helen to get the fidgets. She's been playing tournament tennis for a decade, since she was 15, and the thrill long since should have passed. Even the thought of winning another title, or at least getting another shot at her old rival, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, should present no emotional strain to the California girl.

But she had a slight attack of "nerves," and admitted it.

"Do you think I'll look all right?" she asked, hopefully. "Gee, I hope so. I talked to mother by phone out on the coast a while ago and she said it was all right. Don't you think they are nice? Do you see why anybody should object?"

Helen Is Enthused.

What Helen was talking about was her planned debut in shorts. She's been wearing 'em in practice for several days and tomorrow, if the sun shines, she will begin the defense of the title in the scantiest attire ever worn by a queen of American tennis. She's enthused at the idea.

"They're really a tremendous advantage," declared Miss Jacobs. "Nothing but prejudice has prevented our wearing them for years. I know they improve my game and all the other girls say the same. I know I've lost many points through my racket catching in my skirt. Not only that, but they're cooler and enable one to get around so much faster, particularly in the latter stages of a hard match."

The champion was somewhat relieved to learn that the tennis fathers plan to raise no active objection to the promised revolt against the cumbersome costumes of another day. There was mild excitement a year ago when Henry (Bunny) Austin, of England, appeared in the men's national in shorts, but there apparently has been no move to try to tell the women stars what they may wear.

Unofficially Welcomed.

"Unofficially, of course," said one official of the club, "I rather think it will be welcomed. After all, we want the girls to be comfortable and the customers to be pleased. Unofficially, you understand."

In addition to Miss Jacobs, at least two other American stars, Alice Marble and Carolin Babcock, definitely were committed to the new regime, while Dorothy Round, Mary Heeley and Mrs. Freda James, of the British contingent, have been wearing shorts in all their matches on this side, excepting in the play for the Wightman Cup.

Coast Diamonder Weds.

Gleddale, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP).—Orville Mohler, former football star of the University of Southern California and now playing with the Mission Coast League baseball club, and Miss Bernadine Olson were married here today. The bride is the daughter of Mr. C. R. Olson, of Glendale.

Nats, Elated, Today Face Chicago

'Heirs Apparent' Ready for Stretch Drive Toward Goal.

Crowder Due to Start, Although Weaver Is Also Available.

By Shirley L. Povich (Sports Editor of The Post).

CHICAGO., Ill., Aug. 14.—All a-flutter with pennant visions beneath their outward calm, the Nats were in the West tonight, prepared for a mighty stretch drive toward the cherished goal of every flag-chasing ball club—old mathematical certainty.

The championship chances of Joe Cronin and his merry men are now touching a new high with the Yankees five and one-half games in arrears, and they are now the heirs-apparent to the American League throne. The enfeebled monarchs of 1932 are at their lowest ebb and those who have their fingers on the pulse of league developments foresee the certain enthronement of the Nats, barring quakes, tidal waves or locusts.

Chisox First Foes.

Chicago is the first outpost of the enemy in the West, and the Nats go into battle here tomorrow in the first of a four-game series. The Yanks, meanwhile, will be battling the Browns in St. Louis.

Master Joe Cronin has scheduled a meeting for the players in the clubhouse before the game tomorrow and his topic is easy to guess. Joe will give his lads a few hundred slaps on the back, tell 'em what a great ball club they are, and then light in against that old devil—overconfidence.

I was an ear-witness at the preview of tomorrow's meeting when I happened to ask Cronin by how many games he thought the Nats would win the pennant. I realized my mistake immediately.

Cronin Not Worrying.

"We gotta win tomorrow's ball game before we win the pennant," said Joe. "I don't care how many games we win it by, but the thing I care about is that we win it as soon as we can. But we're not talking pennant yet.

"All we gotta do is keep playing the same kind of ball and forget about pennants until we get today's ball game off our minds. But I'm not worrying. Our ball club isn't gonna curl up. They proved that to me a long while ago and have proved it several times since. It's just a matter of time but we're not gonna miss. We can't miss if we win every ball game from here on, that's what we're after."

Crowder Likely to Open.

For tomorrow's engagement, Cronin has both General Crowder and Monte Weaver available, with indications that the General will get the assignment. Crowder usually opens all of the Nats' series and is the work horse of the team. His inning's work on Sunday, and the fact that he pitched twice in Boston in three days do not affect his rubber arm.

The only qualms the Chisox are calculated to cause the Nats during the present series will be on the occasion that Walter Miller faces the Washington Club. This perennial jinx of the Nats, whose slow left-handed curves have turned them back three times this season, is scheduled to start either the third or fourth game of the series.

Winning Streak at Six.

To reminisce a bit, the Nats have now accumulated a winning streak of six straight after having recoiled from a double-headed defeat by the Yankees exactly a week ago. They showed rare stamina in polishing off the Yankees twice before pulling out of New York, then mopped up the Red Sox in three games in Boston, and as their farewell Eastern gesture, smacked down the Yankees in Griffith Stadium yesterday.

Pulls Simon Legree Act for Athletics

JIMMY FOXX, outdid the villain of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" yesterday. Old Simon thought he did something when he drove Eliza across the ice, but Young Jimmy went him several better. The Athletics' slugging first sacker drove in nine runs for a new American League record. His thirty-fifth homer of the season found the bases loaded.

Newport Tennis Play Delayed Until Today

Newport, R. I., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Rain today prevented opening play in the annual Newport Casino tennis tournament. The brilliant field of men players is expected to swing into action tomorrow.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, who lost his grass courts title at Rye yesterday, is slated to meet Hafold McGuffin, of New York, in the first round.

Other interesting matches bring together R. Norris Williams and H. Hunter Lott; B. K. Burnett, of England, and Francis X. Shields; Lester Stoefen and Armand Bruneau.

Stella Walsh Beaten In 2 Dashes at Meet

Brussels, Aug. 14 (AP).—Stanislawa Walasiewicz (Stella Walsh), Poland's Olympic champion, bowed yesterday in both the 100 and 200-meter dashes of Belgium's national track and field meet to Tollina Schuurman, of Poland, but raced to victory over Miss Christmas, of England, at 800 meters.

Miss Schuurman was a member of the Holland Team at Los Angeles last year, but was eliminated in the semifinals of the hundred meters.

35th Homer Is Included In 4 Hits

His Circuit Clout, With Bases Loaded, Comes in Second Frame.

Roy Mahaffey Has Easy Time; Grants Indians Only 7 Bingles.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (AP).—Slashing out a home run, triple, double and single to drive in nine runs for a new American League record, Jimmie Foxx today led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 11-to-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the Mackmen's first game of their last Western invasion.

Foxx opened his one-man attack in the first inning, hitting a triple with Roger Cramer and Mickey Cochrane camped on the bases, and then followed up that blast with his thirty-fifth home run of the season in the second with all of the sacks occupied.

Double Scores Cochrane.

On this third appearance at the plate in the fourth inning, the A's first baseman connected with a double, again sending Cochrane across the plate. A single in the sixth with Eric McNair and Cramer on the bases scored two more runs and gave Foxx his new record. He struck out the last time at bat.

The old mark of eight runs batted in was set by Topsy Hartzell, of the Yankees, in 1911 and has since been equaled by Harry Heilmann, Lou Gehrig, Carl Reynolds and Earl Averill. Foxx's performance left him still three short of the major league record of 12 made by Jim Bottomley, of the Cardinals, in 1924.

Mahaffey Is Winner.

With Foxx on a hititng rampage, Roy Mahaffey had little trouble turning in his fifth victory of the year over the Indians, who have yet to beat him. He allowed only seven hits, four of them scratches, and never was in danger as he coasted along behind a nine-run lead piled up by the A's in the first four innings.

The Athletics found Willis Hudlin and Belve Bean for 13 hits, which, in addition to Foxx's four blows, included a home run in first inning by McNair.

119 Women Enter U. S. Golf Tourney

Entry List for Chicago Event Includes All Stars Except Mrs. Vare.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP).—An entry list of 119, the largest in the history of the tournament, today was announced by the United States Golf Association for the women's national golf championship at Chicago, August 28 to September 2.

Virginia Van Wie, defending champion, heads a star American entry which includes every top-flight player except Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare. Enid Wilson, the British champion, will make her second attempt to win the United States crown.

The women's national is the first major tournament of the year to show a bigger entry list than the boom years of 1927-28-29-30.

Golfer Has Ace on Third Shot In Hole-in-One Tournament

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP).—Jack Hagen, who has been living 53 years and playing golf most of them, today pulled off that "20,000 to 1 shot" most golfers dream about—a deliberately hit hole-in-one on the fly.

Inaugurating the second annual World-Telegram hole-in-one tournament, Hagen stepped to the No. 3 tee of the Salisbury Country Club course and on his third attempt sent the ball flying 148 yards true to the grassy rim of the cup.

Theoretically, of course, every golfer is aiming for the cup when he takes his lick on the short holes, but it was the first time on record that a player had done it with a gallery looking on and in a tournament for only that purpose.

Speechless a Moment.

Hagen was so stunned by the feat—despite his boast beforehand that he was going to send the tournament away to a good start by holing his first shot—that he was speechless for a moment.

He is the general superintendent of the Salisbury club and designed the hole, called the "pulpit" because of the plateau green, on which he made his "ace."

It was not a new experience for Hagen as he has two other "aces" to his credit, his first made 25 years ago at Bernardsville, N. J., and his second in 1930, on the fifth hole at Salisbury. He used the same club today, a No. 7 iron, or spade, which he used in scoring his hole-in-one three years ago.

Only One Other Close.

More than 100 golfers, each scorer of an accredited hole-in-one, followed Hagen to the tee during the day to take their allotted five shots, but the only one to come even close to duplicating his feat was H. M. Weinberger of St. Augustine, Fla., whose ball stopped 3 feet 8 inches from the cup.

Only two players put all their 5 shots in the green, the veteran professional of Columbia, S. C., Gene McCarthy, and Walter Buchalter, a big New York policeman.

The tournament will continue tomorrow.

Boy Is Killed Hopping Freight to See Ruth

Franklin, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP).—James Jack, 16-year-old Oil City, Pa., schoolboy, died tonight of shock and injuries received while stealing a ride on a freight train to see Babe Ruth and the New York Yankees play in an exhibition baseball game in Pittsburgh.

Pilate Is Winner In One-Horse Race

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—A "one-horse race" took place here today when, after four withdrawals, Andrew Schuttinger's Pilate was the only candidate for the 7-furlong Waterboy Handicap.

Halcyon, Evening, Con Amore and Flagstone, originally slated to oppose the son of Friar Rock, declined the issue, and Pilate had to canter the 7 furlongs to earn $315, the purse having been split when the race became a walkover.

A heavy rain over the week-end made the track muddy, and caused the heavy withdrawals.

Broad Meadows in Feature One of 5 Hawthorne Winners Ridden by Westrope

Dusty Dawn's Victory Is Upset

Whitney's Tendril, 6-5 Choice, Out of Money in Coney Feature.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP).—Jockey Jack Westrope, the star apprentice rider from Montana, stole the show at Hawthorne this afternoon when he booted home five winners.

Westrope piloted Chagrin in the opening dash, Doris Jean in the second, Bitty Bit in the fourth, Broad Meadows in the fifth and Dusky Devil in the sixth. Broad Meadows' victory came in the feature race on the card.

Jockey W. D. Wright on Mad Wind, which finished second to Dusky Devil by a head, was set down for five days by the racing stewards for crowding Dusky Devil in the battle down the home stretch.

Whitney Star Fails.

Coney Island, Aug. 14 (AP).—Followers of form were dealt a severe setback here this afternoon when C. V. Whitney's Tendril, a 6-to-5 favorite, failed to get any portion of the purse in the Mansfield Purse, program feature.

The stable of L. J. Hickman supplied the winner of the 5½ furlong spin for juveniles in Dusty Dawn

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR, symbol of impregnability the world over, and soft, white blackboard chalk are composed of the same basic material—limestone. The strength of the Rock of Gibraltar is, of course, due to its military armament, which, in turn, was the result of the rock's strategical position as the "Key of the Mediterranean."

Its strength is suggested by its appearance, but at the same time its strength is largely man made—for poorly equipped with defenses the Rock of Gibraltar once fell before the British after a siege lasting only three days; but well fortified it has since then withstood the most formidable attacks.

Its present defenses and the honeycomb of tunnels which have been cut into the rock itself are known in their entirety by few men—the secrets of the rock are not known even to the soldiers that guard it.

Strange as it seems, the Rock of Gibraltar was captured and occupied by the British without the knowledge of the British government when, in 1704, Sir George Rooke, the British admiral, on his own responsibility hoisted the British flag over the surrendered Spanish posesssion and took possession in the name of Queen Anne—an act later ratified by his government.

Gibraltar is now a British crown colony where, strange as it seems, colonists are not wanted. The town itself has a suburb, La Linea de la Concepcion, across the frontier—a suburb which is three times as large as the parent city.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

Dear Al: Hawthorne, August 14.

F-I-V-E W-I-N-N-E-R-S! Oh, baby! Just can't help it, fellow. If you don't believe it, glance at these: Doris Jean, Bitty Bit, Broad Meadows, Dusky Devil, Uncommon Gold. And Don Tasker beaten a neck. Yes, sir, Jack Westrope and I had five winners. For me, it was two days in a row. But my self-starting back-slapper is breaking down. Tomorrow we shall go after price. Did I hear you say, "and then the fun will begin?" Well, it's thiswise. Mike has been hanging around the stable crap games again and believes he knows something. My horses for tomorrow are under the Mike influence. And it's not dope. BILL.

First race—Playful Martha failed to ring the bell for the Bennings interest last week by a scant margin. However, I'm going right back. Para Four and Dawn Child have made nice moves and will be ready for good races.

Second race—Drombo—and don't shoot! Yes sir, here's our old friend. I understand this one has been worked at night in an effort to keep the clockers away. Goes for all the dough tomorrow. Le-Bruyere and Victorium for the rest of it.

Third race—Reverberate gets seven pounds from Barney Sexton and I believe that difference will decide the issue here. Both are at tops and the riding may have something to do with it. Sun Teatime for the rest of the cash awards.

Fourth race—Harmanzada, the one that I woke up recently, will march to the post tomorrow a fit horse and ready, I believe, to take a field of this kind. Eskimo, despite a lot of bad races, is the one to fear. Peace Lady to take care of the others.

Fifth race—I expect Postscript to go right on winning from this brand of horseflesh. Certainly turned in a whizz of a race for Bennings last out. If trouble arises it may come from Signal Man. The clockers love him. Thomasville for the show.

Sixth race—Al Neiman appears to have the edge on anything this field offers. Now that Rock Point's true form is known, we have that one to look out for. His best would make it uncomfortable for the top one. Tela has been whispered around.

Seventh race—Helen Bab has slipped some, but with only 99 pounds aboard I'm giving her a chance to make good. Indian Boy is in excellent shape and will be right there if the mare falters. Foxland Hall for the rest.

Eighth race—Quibbler will appreciate a race of this sort. They don't come much cheaper. My old pal, Doctor Klein, may be the one to upset the bucket. Wise Lee to make a money appearance.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHAGRIN, $7.78, $4.58, $4.02; BILLY PAT, $7.22, $5.08; SNOW PLAY, $9.12.

CHAGRIN, away fast, but outrun early, gained steadily in the stretch and wore down BILLY PAT in the final strides. DR. PARKER gradually disposed of ULTRA VOTE, saved ground after reaching the stretch and, holding on gamely, just failed to last. SNOW PLAY never far back raced out of tight quarters in the final quarter and finished strongly. CHIEF GERONIMO, far out of it early, came with a rush on outside to finish strongest of all. CHARLEY BRUCE raced forwardly, but swerved when tiring badly in the final sixteenth. SMUGGLED IN suffered from lack of racing room. WHY NOT tired after racing clear at the final turn.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs (chute). Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:42½. Off at 2:44½. Winner, J. Lowenstein's b. m. (5), by Westy Hogan—Mabel G. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23 4-5. 0:47 2-5. 1:12 4-5. 1:20 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DORIS JEAN, $3.46, $2.56, $2.20; POLLY'S POLLY, $4.06, $2.64; PORTMANTEAU, $2.58.

DORIS JEAN bumped her way through soon after the start and, taking command, increased her advantage to win easily. POLLY'S POLLY, closer up than usual, but racing a trifle wide at the final turn, made a determined bid at the winner, but failed to keep with usual burst of speed. PORTMANTEAU was forced to the extreme outside entering the stretch, continued gamely when straightened, but could not threaten the leaders. SISTER MARY dropped back after three furlongs and could not improve position again

Junior Golf Tourney Will Open Aug. 30

Two Events' Programs Listed

Entries Will Close on September 19 for District Play.

By Dave Herman.

NOTICES were sent out yesterday by the District of Columbia Golf Association announcing the program to be followed for the junior and District championships.

The junior tournament, won last year by Maury Nee at the Army and Navy course, will be staged at Beaver Dam on August 30. It will be a 36-hole medal event, in which no entrance fee is required, and is open to all junior members and sons of members of member clubs, under 18 years of age.

Members of member clubs having handicaps of 14 or less are eligible for the District proper scheduled for September 21 and 22 at Indian Spring Country Club. Seventy-two holes, 36 on each of the two consecutive days, will be the ordeal. The entrance fee is $3.

Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring, is the present District title holder.

Nee Over Age Limit.

There has been a dearth of junior material around this way, and, as was the case last year, only a skeleton field is expected to compete in the junior tournament. A new champion, however, will emerge from the younger ranks, since Nee, who spread-eagled the 1932 pack, will be ineligible. He is over the age limit.

Billy Dettweiler, 15-year-old Manor ace; Harvey Johnson, of Kenwood; Billy Shea, of Congressional; Bobby and Jimmy Brownell and Willis Hurd, of Indian Spring; Frank Baggett, of Beaver Dam, and Leonard Thrasher, of Army and Navy, are among the outstanding juniors expected to vie for the Albert R. McKenzie Championship Trophy and two other prizes.

Because it would interfere with the plans of the five local qualifiers in the national amateur, the District fathers recently changed the dates of the District championship, originally scheduled for September 7-8.

Entries Close September 19.

Virtually all of Washington's top-notchers will enter the District event. Entries, closing on September 19, should be sent to Dr. W. C. Barr, secretary, at Indian Spring. The course will be open for practice rounds on September 18, 19, 20.

Entries for the junior should be filed with Dr. Barr at Beaver Dam before 6 p. m. August 28. The Beaver Dam course will be open for practice rounds on August 25, 28, 29.

George Diffenbaugh and Harold N. Graves, jr., of Indian Spring, placed third in the Middle Atlantic P. G. A. pro junior tournament yesterday at Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, scoring a 73. Diffenbaugh recorded a 39—41—80 and Graves 41—39—80.

A tie for first place resulted between the teams of Warner Mather, Woodholme, and his junior partner, Eddie Semmler, Hillendale, and Glenn Spencer and J. T. Dowling, jr., of Maryland Country Club. They had 72s.

Cliff Spencer and Frank M. Baggett, of Beaver Dam, were fifth with 76s. Carroll Hirst and T. Vaughan, of Purcellville, carded a 78. Don O'Brien, of Georgetown, teamed with Alec Taylor, of Rolling Road, to score a 74. Russell Hollabaugh, unattached, and Harvey Johnson, Kenwood, finished with 79.

Catoctin Country Club, of Hagerstown, Md., will send a sixteen-man golf team to Indian Spring this afternoon to meet the local golfers. A feature of the day will be a match between the pro-amateur team of George Diffenbaugh and Roger Peacock and Leo Colliflower and R. R. Taylor.

Slagel to Face O'Shocker On Mat

Bout Promises Action at Stadium Thursday; Four Other Bouts Listed.

SOME new faces and some only slightly used here will be shown at Griffith Stadium Thursday night in Promoter Joe Turner's rassle-fest. Listed among the grunt and groan grimace-makers making their local debut are Cowboy Jack Russell, Casey Berger and Joe Hubka, while Joe Stecher, Sol Slagel and "Doc" Karl Sarpolis have not shown here enough to give the cash customers more than a passing acquaintance with them.

George (Hotcha) Zaharias and Gino Garibaldi provide the feature bout, the postponment from last Thursday, due to rain, giving them seven days opportunity of hurling more long distance threats at each other.

The semifinal, also held over intact, should be a pretty good bout, provided Russell is as good as they say he is around New York way. He is a giant in build and has beaten some good men, but going up against Joe Stecher, old as he is, is no sinecure, the former leg-scissors king giving an inkling of this by recently holding Zaharias to a draw.

Probably the best match of the half-hour shorts will be that between Pat O'Shocker and Sol Slagel. The latter's ability as a contortionist, plus some extra joints in his arms and legs, gives him quite an advantage in the matter of breaking holds. By a simple twist of something or other, he is able to relieve the pressure from punishing holds, much to the disgust of his opponent. And, besides this, Sol is big and strong and can take it, all of which promises an interesting bout.

Hook, Line and Sinker

By Jean Monk.

THE history of the world is written around that little word "if." If a horse had not run away with a buggy, so the story goes, George Washington would not have been born. And if one of a thousand things had happened neither you nor I would have been born. So—there it is.

And if Capt. J. L. Goldsborough, Piney Point, had not hung out his sign, "Fishing Parties—Trolling and Still Fishing," the big rockfish season at that place, in all probability, would not have opened this year until about September 15, as per schedule. But—there it is again.

This boat captain has an uncanny way with these fish. He spotted them and made the first two catches July 24 and 25, taking a total of 16, trolling, the largest, according to Mr. Tolson, proprietor of the hotel, weighing 18 pounds.

Can't Make Him Bite.

You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink, and you can lead bait to a fish, but you can't make him bite. Otherwise, this human fishhawk, Goldsborough would soon empty Tall Timbers of these big fish.

There's a mound of rocks 1 mile off Tall Timbers that is about 30 yards in diameter. And there's a double rock, or a heap of them or something in the center of this mound. These big fish mill around and in and out of this mound. (They are rockfish, you know.) If a boatman anchors or trolls over this mound he catches fish (sometimes), otherwise he catches—well, something else for his patrons.

Twelve Boats Empty.

Last Saturday night this man Goldsborough, with a perfect Lindbergh aim, steered his boat to this mound and dropped his anchor into a crevice in this double rock or heap, 15 feet below the surface of the water. I was one of a party of five on the boat. The fish weren't biting. Twelve boats returned empty.

The appetite of a fish works on a schedule similar to the tides; today that appetite floods, tomorrow it ebbs. And the man doesn't live who has the slightest idea when or why that appetite will do either.

The gold shark tooth goes this week to Walter D. Haight, assistant sports editor of The Washington Post, for the best fishing story handed in last week.

Last Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Haight and their two small children were in a boat, one mile out from North Beach. They were using the last of their half-pound of limburger shrimp. They had caught three large hardhead. The last one was about a foot long, and fat, or bloated or something.

Crab Found Inside.

Haight remarked that it probably was a roe-croaker, and that it was a shame to take it out of the water. Mrs. Haight said they would have it for supper, plus the roe. So he cleaned it, then and there. And in the fish he found a whole soft crab, claws and all. Haight cut the crab into bait, and with this bait he caught three croakers larger than the one that had swallowed the crab.

Simon Peter went fishing on the Sea of Galilee, cast his hook, and took up the first fish that came up; and when he had opened the fish's mouth, he found therein a piece of money. That's the Gospel truth—see Matthew xvii:27.

If you believe the one (and you do), how can you question the other? So, you needn't page Ripley.

Welcome News.

Last week this column gave Reedville, Va., as a tip for trout fishermen. And immediately we received the following welcome news from Luther Rice, of the Reed & Rice Co., of that fishing village.

"Several good catches of blues have been made this week, chumming at Southwest Middles, three to four men catching 45 to 75 fish, weighing 3 to 4 pounds each. Good trout fishing at Smith Point and submerged Texas battleship on tight-line fishing, but mostly after sundown. Trolling has been good from Smith Point to Devil Barnyard."

And George T. Harrison, secretary, Fishermen's Guide Association, Tilghman Island, on the same date, mailed us the following welcome news:

"Quite a number of blues and trout are being caught trolling, and hardheads continue to bite only in the early evening."

Five-Cent Fare Trial Ordered On 14th Street

Experiment Will Start Monday; Success Means Cut on Other Lines.

The first street railway experiment with a 5-cent fare for short hauls was ordered yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission on the lower Fourteenth street loop, mainly to serve Federal employes.

The service, effective next Monday, includes buses as well as street cars and will not carry transfer privileges unless the regular fare is paid. Passenger counts will be made to determine whether the low fare increases patronage.

Should the experiment prove successful, it probably will be tried on other short lines in the District. People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech has long advocated a 5-cent fare for the downtown area on a zone basis. Riley E. Elgen, vice chairman of the commission, recently took a stand for the low fare.

Nickel Bus Fare Denied.

The commission's order, which simultaneously denied applications of the Alexandria-Barcroft-Washington Rapid Transit and the Arlington & Fairfax Motor Transportation Co. to do additional intra-District business with a 5-cent fare, took the street railways to task for "failure to keep abreast of the demands of the public for modern transportation service."

It suggests that "new and up-to-date equipment, faster schedules, better routings, free intercompany transfers, informative advertising and proper merchandising of the service rendered would tend to meet competition from other forms of transportation and help regain lost patronage."

How Cars Will Run.

The street railway loop, to which several cars will be added, runs up Fourteenth street from Water street, turns east on E street at Pennsylvania avenue, thence up Eleventh street, west on G street, and south on Fourteenth street. The buses, which would supplement street cars during rush periods, would run from Fourteenth and Water streets north to B street, then east to Twelfth street, north to G street, east to Tenth street, south to Constitution avenue, west to Twelfth street, south to B street, west to Fourteenth street and south to Water street.

In denying the petitions of the nearby Virginia bus lines for permission to an intra-District business, the commission explained that to grant such authority would establish a precedent which would permit all interstate bus companies to make similar applications.

London Printing School Students Visit at G. P. O.

Operation of the biggest printing establishment in the world was explained yesterday to ten London visitors by George H. Carter, head of the Government Printing Office. He was host to a group of visitors from the London School of Printing.

One of the sightseers was A. T. Greenway, who is a son of the Lord Mayor. They will spend several days in Washington.

Sailor Held for Grand Jury on Drug Charge

Pleading guilty to charges of sale and possession of narcotics, Leonard H. Beattie, 38, a sailor, was held in $2,000 bond for the action of the grand jury at a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Needham R. Turnage yesterday.

Det. Sergt. Daniel H. Jones testified he had purchased narcotics from Beattie, who was arrested Sunday.

Thieves Reject Narcotics.

Thieves who broke into the Circle Drug store at 427 Twelfth street northwest yesterday stole $10 from the cash register and keys to cupboards containing the store's narcotic supply, Roger W. Lusby, manager, reported to police. No drugs were taken.

Famed Physicist of Louvain Coming to Catholic University

Abbe Georges Lemaitre Accepts Professorship for One Year.

ABBE GEORGE LEMAITRE, professor of Astro-physics at University of Louvain, who has accepted a position as visiting professor at Catholic University.

The Abbe Georges Lemaitre, professor of astro-physics at the University of Louvain, has accepted a position as visiting professor at the Catholic University for the coming year, the Right Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the university announced yesterday.

Abbe Lemaitre will lecture on "Astronomical Applications of the Theory of Relativity" and conduct a seminar for advanced students of physics and mathematics in the graduate school of that institution.

Abbe Lemaitre is known internationally as the author of the theory of the expanding universe which Einstein called the "most satisfactory theory yet presented." He spent last year at the California Institute of Technology and the Mount Wilson Observatory engaged in astronomical study. He is the author of many important works and scientific studies.

Part of the Abbe Lamaitre's education was received at Harvard University and he holds a doctor's degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as well as from the University of Louvain.

Sunday Movie Vote Asked in Hyattsville

A petition asking for a referendum on Sunday movies in Hyattsville was presented to the town council last night.

Turned over to the council by Dr. Robert W. McCullough, attorney, the petition was claimed to have 1,254 signatures out of 1,700 voters in Hyattsville. The petition was turned over to the council election committee, which will meet tomorrow night to discuss the proposal. The council refused to rescind its recent action in ordering Hyattsville street lights turned off at 1 a. m. for economy.

NRA Is Neutral In Bakery Fight

Keeps Hands Off Union War Against New Concern Here.

The Blue Eagle will not intervene in the labor war between union and nonunion bakeries which flared into the open yesterday with accusations rife between the two factions.

Dutch Baker Boy, Inc., newly organized bakery operating as an open shop, stated through its attorneys it would appeal to the NRA to restrain other bakers and salesmen's unions from molesting its drivers and distributing literature describing the bakery as a "sweatshop."

Operating under the President's blanket code, Dutch Baker Boy, Inc., the attorneys claim, is testimony to its fairness to labor.

The attitude of the recovery administration was said to be outlined in a provision of the basic codes of fair competition which states that employes of a concern accepting the code can not be forced to join a union organization or be prohibited from membership.

Paul Hannah, of the law firm of Kix, Miller, Baer & Morris, attorneys for the shop, said its wage scale was higher than the union rate. He claimed that the unions were being made a "goat" by certain competing concerns who wished to put his clients out of business.

The operation of the new bake shop has been declared unfair to union labor by the Central Labor Union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Woman Dies, 2 Hurt in Triple Auto Collision

Mrs. Ann Datterer, 35, Is Killed; Gallinger Aid and Baltimorean Injured.

A triple automobile collision on the Washington boulevard near Baltimore yesterday brought death to a Washington woman and serious injuries to her companion and another woman resident of Baltimore.

Mrs. Ann Datterer, 35, of 1527 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was almost instantly killed. She was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Agnes' Hospital in Baltimore. She was riding in a machine driven by Miss Margaret C. Bush, 28, a medical technician at Gallinger Hospital. Miss Bush suffered a possible fracture of the pelvis and severe lacerations and bruises. St. Agnes' officials said last night that as soon as her condition permits she will be transferred to Gallinger Hospital here.

According to police at Halethorpe, Md., the car driven by Miss Bush crashed into the machine of Albert N. Abell, of Baltimore. The two machines locked together in the center of the highway and were struck by a third car driven by Oliver H. Johnson, of 6129 Broad Branch road northwest.

Miss Sue Price, 32, of Baltimore, a passenger in Abell's car, suffered a fractured left arm and head injuries. The others were unhurt.

Miss Bush, who lives at 2413 Minnesota avenue southeast, and Mrs. Datterer were returning from a visit in Pennsylvania. Police said Miss Bush apparently lost control of her car in a slippery downgrade.

D. C. Boy Crushed To Death by Truck

Police Believe Child Fell Under Wheels After Releasing Brakes.

Alphonso Graziano, 11, of 106 Quincy place, was crushed to death yesterday beneath the wheels of a Potomac Electric Power Co. tower truck. He is said to have released the truck's brakes as it was parked on First street, near Quincy place northeast, and then fell beneath the wheels.

Police could not find witnesses to the accident. Thomas A. Davison, Takoma Park, truck driver, said he left it on an incline with the brakes set.

Woman Accuses Boat-Ride Escort

Washington Man Arrested, Faces Charge of Criminal Attack.

Miss Ruth E. Bellamy, 26, of North Carolina, told police yesterday she was criminally attacked by a man whom she met on a Potomac River excursion boat Sunday.

She named Arthur W. Adams, of the Westchester Apartments. He was arrested by Lieut. Harry H. Lohman and Sergt. R. B. Carroll, of the Eighth Precinct.

Miss Bellamy told police she was attacked at a lonely spot near New Mexico avenue and Garfield street northwest, after she had consented to go riding with Adams. After being treated at Gallinger Hospital she was taken to the House of Detention.

Holy Smoke!

Parachute Flare in Test Resembles Vesuvius; Firemen Rush in.

The next time Dr. J. F. Meyers, of the Bureau of Standards, shoots off a parachute flare around the bureau, he probably will notify the Fire Department beforehand.

Last night Dr. Myers had a nice new flare to test for the Aeronautical Division of the Department of Commerce. It was a variety supposed to shed 350,000 candlepower light. Setting up his testing apparatus between the buildings, Dr. Meyers ignited his flare. The result was even more astonishing than the scientist anticipated.

To a passerby two blocks away, the diabolic glare looked like Mount Vesuvius in action right in the buildings. Frantically he ran for the nearest fire alarm. Puzzled firemen, guided by the light, found Dr. Meyers calmly checking his measuring apparatus.

"Nice light, isn't it?" he said. "It's 350,000 candlepower. But were you looking for a fire somewhere?"

District Work Money Hearing Due This Week

Commissioners to Appeal for Financial Help From Government.

The District Commissioners will be heard this week by the Public Works Administration on their proposed projects which would cost $25,000,000, Dr. Luther H. Richelderfer, chairman, announced yesterday.

The announcement followed a conference with Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, on the District public works proposals. Senator King, who has taken an active interest in the District's requests for substantial Federal grants, plans to attend the hearing.

So far the only District projects in which the Public Works Administration has shown interest publicly are for extending and improving the sewer system, to cost $1,719,500.

U. S. Must Pay All.

With the exception of 4 of the 40-odd projects, all construction costs will have to be met by the Public Works Administration rather than on a 70-30 per cent basis.

The four for which the District has partial funds are: the contagious disease ward at Gallinger Hospital, the Anacostia Junior High School, the Woodrow Wilson High School, and the Calvert Street Bridge. The District requested $960,000 to supplement appropriations to complete these projects.

Actually, the District has not obtained the Calvert Street Bridge appropriation of $575,000 as it is included in the gasoline tax surplus, held up by the Budget Bureau.

Huge Center Planned.

The largest single project proposed by the Commissioners is the Municipal Center, which would cost approximately $10,0000,000. About $500,000 of this amount is available from an old continuing appropriation.

Other proposals include a new morgue, a new jail, reclamation of Anacostia River flats, Michigan avenue viaduct, a new adult tuberculosis sanatorium, several schools and branch libraries and a National Guard armory.

Navy Yard Men In New Protest

Claim Discrimination in Favor of Officers in Five-Day-Week Plan.

Charges that the Navy Department's five-day week order in Navy yards and in the field service sharply discriminates between naval officers and civilian employes, were made last night in a statement by N. P. Alifas, president of District 44, International Association of Machinists.

Pointing out that naval officers comprise the boards which recommended economies threatening the jobs of 4,000 civilian workers, and cutting their pay one-sixth under the new five-day week order, Alifas contended that 1,000 officers stationed at navy yards will in no way be affected.

Petitions drawn by mass meetings of navy yard workers in different cities have been laid before the President, by organized labor, seeking relief from the five-day week order. Alifas said the machinists will continue to press their case, carry it to the people and even to Congress unless relief is had before it convenes.

Treasury Hunts Load Of Pencil Sharpeners

Budget balancing, war debts and high finance in general were forgotten yesterday as officials of the Treasury Department demanded that the Washington Police Department recover a wagon load of cast off pencil sharpeners stolen from the department's property yard at Four and a half street and Maryland avenue southwest.

Broken chairs and worn out rugs were part of the loot, according to the report to police, signed by Joseph Pead, chairman of the general supply committee of the United States Treasury Department.

Capital Plans Reception for Amy Mollison

Honor Will Be Paid to British Ocean Flier at 4:30 This Afternoon.

Washington will honor Mrs. Amy Mollison this afternoon at a reception in the building of the National Geographic Society.

Mrs. Mollison, at present engaged in inspecting a typical American air transportation system by flying between New York and Atlanta over Eastern Air Transport, will arrive this afternoon and proceed to the society's building on Sixteenth street, where she will be welcomed by officials of the society and members of the British Legation here.

Accompanying her will be Miss Elvy Kalep, Esthonian flier, also a guest of the airline in the inspection trip. Members of the Esthonian Legation also will attend the reception at 4:30.

As Amy Johnson, Mrs. Mollison established a name for herself in British aviation, flying from England to Australia, England to Cape Town, and in various flights about the British Isles.

With her husband, she flew the Atlantic, east to west, and crashed in a marsh near the Bridgeport (Conn.) Airport. Her husband has returned by steamer to England.

She is the first English woman to fly the Atlantic, the first woman to fly the Atlantic east to west, and the first woman to fly the Atlantic as a copilot.

NRA Provisions Told Community

Residents of Brookland and Woodridge Hear Jackson, Fries.

In the first community meeting of the District for discussion of the NRA, residents of Brookland and Woodridge gathered last night in the Sherwood Presbyterian Church Hall.

Thomas S. Jackson, of the industrial recovery board, was the principal speaker, explaining provisions and requirements of the act.

Arthur Clarendon Smith, president of the American Federation of Business Associations, urged the Brookland and Woodridge communities to enter floats in the NRA parade on August 29.

Gen. Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., retired, stressed the necessity of every one's cooperation in the recovery movement.

The meeting was sponsored by the Brookland-Woodridge Business Association. John L. Fowler, head of the organization, presided. Music was furnished between speeches by community talent.

Lower Avenue Gets New Traffic Lights

Signals to Be Erected West From First One at John Marshall Place.

A new chapter in the history of Pennsylvania avenue will be written Thursday, when the part of the famous thoroughfare traversed by inaugural parades gets its first traffic lights.

The intersection at Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues and John Marshall place will be the first to be regulated by electric signals. Installation will continue westward until all traffic policemen between John Marshall place and Fifteenth street are displaced by lights, except at the Fourteenth street intersection.

Except during the rush hours, there has been no policeman on duty at John Marshall place, although the intersection has become increasingly difficult for motorists since Constitution avenue was completed.

Grocery Robbed.

Burglars who yesterday broke in a grocery at 3513 Twelfth street northeast, stole $48 in cash and cigarettes valued at $45, the manager, Andrew S. Herring, reported to police.

Home Loans Prevent Sixty Foreclosures

Foreclosures have been prevented in 60 cases brought to attention of the District office of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, Charles A. Jones, manager of the office, reported to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board yesterday.

These cases constitute all that have been called to the attention of the office here, Jones said. The office has filed 416 loan applications. Of these, under 40 per cent are estimated to be eligible through the emergency clauses of the home loan act.

Cheaper Milk Sold for Best By Dairy Here

70,000 15-Cent Gallons Retailed at 52 Cents, Probe Shows.

Sale of 70,000 gallons of milk, purchased from dairy farmers as surplus milk, but sold to consumers as Class I milk, has been uncovered by auditors for presentation to the Senate Milk Investigating Committee, which starts its inquiry today.

The milk was obtained as surplus by a large dairy concern from the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association. Purchase of this milk started last January and continued until June.

Surplus Milk Much Cheaper.

Class I milk costs the distributor 26 cents a gallon, while Class II or surplus milk has ranged in price from 15 to 18 cents a gallon since last January. Class I milk is that sold in bottle form. Class II is used for cream-making.

The auditors discovered that the milk distributor had sold 70,000 gallons of milk in excess of the amount he had purchased for bottle sale from the Producers Association. By using the Class II milk for bottle sale an additional profit was netted by the distributor.

Sold at 52 cents.

The milk purchased at 15 to 18 cents a gallon was retailed to consumers at 52 cents a gallon, according to Elwood H. Seal, special counsel to the Senate Investigating Committee.

The committee, composed of Senators William H. King and Pat McCarran, will today hear the testimony of dairy farmers, who ship milk into Washington. Their testimony is expected to show that the profit from milk sold in the District goes to the distributors and not to the dairy farmer.

Hearings will be held in the offices of the Senate District Committee.

Dental Office Gold Stolen.

Gold for bridges and fillings valued at $25 was stolen from the office of Dr. Joseph North, dentist, of 906 G street northwest, he reported to police yesterday.
